BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

Into the byways and alleys and dark rear flats of the crowded Jewish quarters of the city 65 trained workers for the Associated Jewish Charities go out on their errands of mercy every day. They are the "mothers" of more than one thousand families in distress, and they need more money than they have in sight. And the need is increasing.

The A. family has been receiving aid at the rate of $[illegible]7 a month since last summer. This presents a common problem of the time—a father out of work, his situation complicated by a breakdown in health due to worry and under nourishment. It is presented here in some detail as an exhibit to the Good Fellows and neighbors of Chicago, who may feel sure that all their help is needed and that it is being used wisely.

Job Lost a Year Ago.

A year ago Mr. A. lost his job as a chain store salesman because of rearrangement not of his making. His wife, who had come from a family that had always lived close to the poverty line, had saved several hundred dollars, and this tided them over the winter. In the spring the neighbors saw signs of distress and helped them. An organization contributed a little, but the burden was too much, and finally the Jewish charities had to take it over. They have it now.

Calling on the family yesterday in their four stove heated rooms in the rear of a red brick tenement, the charity workers found Mr. A. despondent. There are six children, the oldest an 11 year old girl, who said she could not sleep the night before because "papa was so sick."

"I get dizzy spells," he said, as he sat on the dilapidated overstuffed davenport in the best room, holding a 6 months' old baby, who was beating his father's face and pulling at his hair in high glee.

"Are you sure you eat three good meals a day, regularly, as I told you to do?" questioned the young woman worker who has this family on her list. "Remember, Mr. A., we are investing in you, and the first thing you must do is to get your health back."

Worried Over His "Spells."

He was afraid, he said, that people might think he was drunk if he got a job again and got one of his "spells."

Miss W. told him it was just a nervous condition that he would overcome, but privately she made a note of a possible "deep seated personality disorder," which would be a job for the mental hygiene society.

Mr. A. was dressed neatly. His clothes were clean and pressed. He said he had patched them himself and that his wife had pressed them. One [illegible] look prosperous, at least, he said. He was blind, apparently, to the [illegible] appearance of his wife, who had let her home go into disorder. A heart affliction was blamed for this. The three little girls were of the fragile dreaming sort. They seemed shy. Mr. A.'s mind dwelt much in the past, when he was making record sales in the store in Halsted street. For a time after he lost his job he tried to get another like it, then came to the point where he sought anything. He thought it more important to keep up appearances and pay his rent than to eat regularly, he said.

Brokers and Wives Bandits' Victims.

George B. Crandell, broker and former vice president of Montgomery Ward & Co., his wife and two friends were held up early this morning by three bandits in the automobile driveway of the Drake Tower hotel, 179 Lake Shore drive, in the heart of the Gold Coast, and robbed of jewelry valued at $64,800. Of this amount $10,000 was lost by the friends, Ralph Gardner, a broker, and his wife of 4803 Greenwood avenue.

The bandits escaped in a large automobile after a racing pursuit by a Yellow Cab chauffeur in Lake Shore drive to Chicago avenue and east to State street, where they finally evaded him.

Party at Fashion Show.

The Crandells and Gardners had attended a fashion show at the Stevens hotel and had planned to have a midnight supper at the formers' apartment in the Drake Tower hotel. When they left the Stevens they boarded the taxicab of Frank Claussen and were driven to the hotel. The motor entrance, on which is a turntable, is just over the sidewalk of Lake Shore drive and directly across from Oak street beach. Claussen drove into the areaway, clearing the front sidewalk. Crandell and Gardner stepped out, both offering to pay the fare.

Meanwhile the three bandits stepped to the opposite side of the cab and drew revolvers.

"Don't scream or move," they cautioned Mrs. Crandell and Mrs. Gardner, who had remained seated. One of the trio stood guard while his companion stole around the cab and leveled a revolver at the men and Claussen.

Rob Women of Gems.

The gunmen then forced the men into the taxi and covered the driver with their weapons. They took two rings (one valued at $30,000), a bracelet, and a necklace from Mrs. Crandell, a $10,000 bracelet from Mrs. Gardner, and $50 from Mr. Crandell. They declined to take a wedding ring from Mrs. Gardner and a diamond ring from her husband when the Gardners pleaded they were keepsakes. The robbery completed, the gunmen leaped aboard their machine and sped east in the drive. with Claussen following a few moments later.

The Crandells and Gardners hurried to the Crandell apartment and notified the Chicago avenue police. A squad under Lieut. William Burns and Sergt. Charles Onthank responded and investigated the apartment to determine if the thieves had first tried burglary. After listing the stolen jewelry Lieut. Burns furnished the Gardners a police escort to their home.

List of Stolen Jewels.

An inventory showed that Mrs. Crandell had lost the following: One solitaire ring, valued at $30,000; one diamond bracelet, set also with carved emeralds, valued at $15,000; one ring set with a plain round 5 carat diamond and a blue sapphire, valued at $6,000, and one small diamond necklace set with 100 stones, valued at $3,800. Mrs. Gardner lost a diamond bracelet set with a 4 carat stone in the center, and other gems worth $10,000.

With the exception of the large diamond ring, all the jewelry was insured, Mr. Crandell told the police, otherwise he refused to discuss the holdup. He described himself as a broker. He resigned from Montgomery Ward & Co. less than two years ago, visited Europe with his wife, and returned last spring, when he became associated with the Hall Printing company as assistant to the vice president. He resigned there after a few months to take up other and personal pursuits.

Similar to Thompson Robbery.

The Crandell and Gardner robbery was somewhat similar to the daring holdup Oct. 7 of Mrs. William Hale Thompson, wife of the mayor, in front of her home at 3100 Sheridan road. She lost approximately $17,000 in gems. With her at the time of the robbery was Peter J. O'Malley, a police chauffeur who was disarmed and whose star was also taken from him.

Like the Yellow Cab chauffeur in the Crandell robbery, O'Malley pursued the outlaws only to lose them at a car line intersection. Following the Thompson crime, Mayor Thompson issued an ultimatum to Commissioner Alcock demanding action. A few days later Sam Battaglia, west side hoodlum, was arrested and identified by O'Malley as one of the thieves.

WALES HOBNOBS WITH FISHERMEN IN OLD YARMOUTH

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 21.—Thousands of fishergirls welcomed the prince of Wales to Yarmouth today. He went there to open the new $1,000,000 bridge spanning the Yare river.

The prince hobnobbed with seamen who had just returned with a herring catch after a night's fishing. He boarded one craft and chatted with the crew, who had just caught 50,000 fish. He then inspected the market.

Thousands of fishergirls, wearing tarpaulin aprons and rubber boots, crowded around him. Police were forced to clear them away. All business houses closed down between 10 a. m. and 4 p. m. in honor of the occasion.

131 MinersDie in Blast; 140 Still Trapped

BULLETIN.

BERLIN, Oct. 21.—(AP)—The Wolff news agency said late tonight that the known dead totaled 131 so far in the dynamite blast at the Anna mine in Alsdorf. The agency added that 35 bodies had not yet been brought to the surface, and said that 140 men still were down in the mine awaiting rescue.

AIX-LA-CHAPELLE, Germany, Oct. 21.—At least ninety-six miners are dead, 98 are in hospitals critically injured, and more than 100 are still missing as a result of the explosion of two tons of dynamite this morning in the Anna Two colliery at Alsdorf. The colliery is owned by the Eschweiler Mining union.

Late tonight rescue work was being pressed in an endeavor to reach those entombed. They are cut off by fallen roofs in a gallery beneath the scene of the explosion. Engineers succeeded in restoring ventilation in the mine shortly following the disaster, and there is hope that many may yet be rescued. The rescuers are trying to reach the trapped victims from connecting galleries.

The dynamite was stored in the mine 1,200 feet below the surface. The explosion was heard for a distance of 25 miles. It brought down the elevator shaft in the main entrance to the pit in a heap of twisted metal. Rescue work was hampered by this wreckage and the victims had to be carried out through galleries to neighboring mines.

Gasoline Tanks Explode.

All office buildings for 100 yards around the mouth of the shaft were completely destroyed. Gasoline tanks exploded and caught fire, adding to the horror. Many dead and injured were extricated from the ruins of these buildings, under which it is feared more are yet buried.

The village of Alsdorf was partly wrecked. Walls were cracked and roofs blown off, while windows were shattered for miles. The panic stricken occupants, believing it was an earthquake, rushed out shrieking and stormed the pithead, from which enormous flames and denses masses of smoke were issuing.

Fire brigades were rushed from all surrounding towns.

667 Miners in Pit.

There were 667 miners in the pit when the explosion occurred. One hour later the first of the living crawled out of a neighboring pit, which they reached through a connecting gallery. They were broken, blackened and bleeding. Their clothes were torn to shreds and they were suffering from burns and fumes.

Today's explosion was the second large German mine disaster in a period of four months. More than 150 men were killed in the previous one at Neurode, Silesia.

JERSEY LIGHTNIN' GOES SOMEWHERE TO GET HER JUST REWARD

New York, Oct. 21.—[Special.]—Jersey Lightnin' is dead. Her suicide at Fort Hancock, Sandy Hook, today ended her career as the orneriest mule in Christendom.

Jersey Lightnin' carried a wallop in any leg and used it. She maimed and crippled more coast defense men than the great war. She could kick forward and backward and bite at the same time. When she flopped her ears, heroes took to flight. She was dynamite, primed and soaked in the applejack which bears her name.

Today two sergeants and ten privates put her in the stocks and shod her. Then she tried to snap an artillery man and broke her own neck.

"That damn mule," said the top sergeant, "just would wait until we had put on four new shoes before she kicked off."

Jersey Lightnin' barely escaped her death a couple of weeks ago. The colonel found her in front of a firing squad. He had written, "the mule is to be shod at noon," and an orderly had made it "shot."

"Bugs" Moran to Face Lyle in Court Today

George (Bugs) Moran, gang leader without a gang, a public enemy, was behind the bars of the detective bureau last night awaiting an arraignment today before Judge John H. Lyle on a charge of vagrancy.

The erstwhile chief of the north side gang, which, according to the police, has been disintegrated by murder and desertions and its territory included in the stamping grounds of the forces of Al Capone, defied the efforts of Chief of Detectives Norton to question him.

Earlier Moran had been taken to the office of Pat Roche, chief investigator for State's Attorney Swanson, who with Charles F. Rathbun, special assistant state's attorney, is in charge of the investigation into the murder of Alfred Lingle.

Moran denied that he possessed the key to the mystery of Lingle's assassination.

"I knew Lingle and thought he was a regular fellow," Moran said. "I don't know why he was killed, or who killed him."

Arrested in Lake County.

The gangster was arrested early yesterday morning in the Bluff Lake resort of Mrs. Elizabeth Cassidy, a place notorious for some years as a hangout for Chicago hoodlums. Bluff Lake is near Antioch, in the Lake county lake region. Moran was captured by detectives operating under the orders of Col. A. V. Smith, state's attorney of Lake county.

Reports from reliable sources have come to the police that Moran, an outcast from Chicago gangdom since the Lingle murder, has been negotiating with Capone for a peaceful return to the racket. Moran, it was reported, was desirous of taking over control of the north side booze and gambling rackets under the rule of Capone.

Ted Newberry, one of the deserters from Moran to Capone, has been in that job, according to the reports, which have it that Newberry has proved incapable of handling the business.

Denies Trying to Make Deal.

"I am trying to make a deal with no one," Moran said when asked about this. "I've been out of the racket for four years, and I've been living the life of a respectable business man. I'm going to continue as such."

The gangster seemed anxious to gloss over his enmity with Capone. He protested that he had never, as he has been quoted, accused Capone of staging the St. Valentine's day massacre, in which seven of Moran's henchmen were killed by machine gun fire.

"I never accused Capone of that," Moran said, earnestly.

Moran was dressed, during his day of several public appearances, in hunting togs. He wore a tan cap, black leather coat, a gray flannel shirt, olive drab corduroy knickers, and high tramping boots.

Faces Two Vagrancy Charges.

He faces vagrancy charges in both Chicago and Waukegan, and in Waukegan he is also charged with possession of a concealed weapon. A .32 caliber revolver was found under the pillow on the bed he had been occupying in the Cassidy resort, from which he had been roused by the clatter of the detectives in making their entry.

Moran made light of the vagrancy charges.

"How can they make a vagrant out of me?" he queried. "I'm a business man. I am vice president of the Central Cleaners and Dyers, 2705 Fullerton avenue, and have entered actively in the business. The record-

ALCOCK BARES PLAN TO EXTORT $25,000 BRIBE

Druggist Charges Veteran Cops.

Policemen Ernest Daliege and John McCarthy, veteran members of the police department, assigned to detective duty at the Englewood station, were arrested and stripped of their stars yesterday on a charge of trying to blackmail a south side druggist for $25,000. Daleige was seized as he accepted a package supposedly containing money. His partner was taken into custody several hours later as he reported for duty at his station.

According to Joseph Mason, owner of three south side pharmacies, Daliege and McCarthy falsely accused him of plotting to have rival drug stores bombed, and demanded $25,000 to "fix the case." They later reduced their demands to $5,000, he said, to which he agreed. He then notified Acting Police Commissioner Alcock, who arranged the trap through which Daliege and McCarthy were arrested.

Alcock Tells Story.

The story of the alleged blackmail plot was told by the commissioner last night in the presence of Chief of Detectives John Norton, Deputy Commissioner James Scanlan, Deputy Detective Chief Lawrence Rafferty, and Assistant State's Attorney Harry S. Ditchburne.

Ditchburne entered the investigation at the request of Chief Norton, who described the arrest of Daliege and McCarthy as "a development more important than the capture of 'Bugs' Moran."

The story of the case as given by Commissioner Alcock follows:

Daliege and McCarthy arrested a man on Monday while off duty and took him to the Burnside station. From this man they took a $250 check, written out by Mason, and which the druggist later said was a loan. Later the detectives visited Mason in his store at 1751 West 95th street and took him to the Burnside station. On the way they mentioned the previous arrest and the check and pointed to a box in their car which they said contained a bomb. At the station Mason was locked in a cell with the man, who whispered that "it looks like a shakedown." After a while both were released, but Mason was driven back to his pharmacy.

$25,000 Asked, Alcock Says.

"Daliege and McCarthy told Mason that the other man had informed them that he had been given the $250 check to blow up several Walgreen stores in Mason's neighborhood," said Commissioner Alcock. "They told Mason he had better come clean. 'We can square this for $25,000,' they told him."

Mason denied the bombing plot accusation, Commissioner Alcock said, and protested he could not pay $25,000. Daliege and McCarthy finally reduced their demands to $5,000, which Mason agreed to pay, according to Alcock. The druggist appeared at the commissioner's office on Monday afternoon and it was arranged that the detectives were to call for the $5,000. Fifty $1 bills were wrapped in a package.

The trapping of Daliege and the arrest later of McCarthy was accomplished by Deputy Rafferty and Policemen John Meyers, Christ Horsmann, Art Katt, and Ed Waller. Rafferty, Katt, and Waller concealed themselves in the rear of the pharmacy, while Meyers and Horsmann listened in on a tapped wire leading to the drug store. After a wait of several hours Daliege, it is alleged, telephoned and asked assurance from Mason that a trap was not set, and shortly afterward Daliege and McCarthy appeared. Daliege accepted the money from Mason and walked out of the store with McCarthy. Deputy Rafferty, Waller, and Katt seized Daliege, but McCarthy escaped. He was seized later at the Englewood station.

Take Policemen's Stars.

"Daliege told me last night he had nothing to say," said Alcock. "But I did. I told him to give me his star and gun, and I also told him he was a disgrace to the department. McCarthy was also stripped of his star and gun."

The man who was in the cell with Mason has not been found and Commissioner Alcock hinted a suspicion that he might have had some part in the alleged plot to "shake down" the druggist.

Daliege lives at 3036 West 67th

Now Is a Good Time to Buy Bonds for Income

Getting rich quick is exceptional. It has been done, of course. But it isn't common. However, what some have succeeded in doing in the past, others will attempt in the future. And accustomed as we are to give advice about investment in this space Wednesdays, a word is in place to those who would sell quickly for much what they just bought for little.

Well, if that's what you are up to, don't buy bonds. Bond prices don't fluctuate enough to make it pay. The average price of forty leading bonds listed on the New York Stock Exchange has varied all year only between 86 and 90. A rare purchaser who bought all of the bonds at the lowest price of the year and sold at the highest price of the year would have made a small profit, to be sure, but far from a killing. Good bonds fluctuate within a narrow range. That's a disadvantage for some purposes. But also it's the reason why they are ideal investments for those who invest for income with safety. It's always a good time to buy good bonds for income, and the present is no exception.

street, is married and a father, and has been on the force 14 years. He was once ordered discharged for suppressing evidence against Capt. Michael Grady. He was also cited for bravery. McCarthy lives at 1240 West 73d street, has five children, and has been on the force 16 years.

Grand Jury Questions Norton.

Chief Norton was questioned by the grand jury during the afternoon in regard to the disappearance from a detective bureau desk of a list of gangsters slated for arrest. The list was discovered by Federal Agent Clarence Converse in a raid upon the Carleon hotel, 2138 South Wabash avenue, in the room of Tony Tagenti, a Capone bondsman.

"I know nothing about how the list disappeared," Norton was reported to have told the jurors. "I ordered it prepared and then the next thing I heard was that it had been found in the hotel."

Report Indictments Planned.

The investigation by the jurors of the stolen list incident gave added strength to reports that they are contemplating two indictments in the case.

The entire success of the campaign to harass gangsters as vagrants was declared to hinge upon the trial of Joseph Condi, gunman, which opened before a jury in Judge Harry M. Fisher's Criminal court yesterday. The case was declared to be so important by the court that he ordered the jury locked up during the trial.

Defense Loses Pleas.

When the trial opened yesterday morning with Condi alone in the defendant's chair, his partner, Izzy Alderman, having obtained a separate hearing. Attorneys W. W. Smith and Milton Smith had a list of motions to make including requests that the charge be quashed, the evidence suppressed, and the defendant discharged. All motions were overruled.

A jury was selected in three hours. Then Special Prosecutor James E. McShane began putting his witnesses on the stand and the method to be followed by the state in attempting to convict criminals as vagrants was disclosed for the first time.

Lieut. William P. Downey of Buffalo, N. Y., testified that Condi was arrested as Charles Morro in Buffalo in 1919, charged with burglary and sentenced to two years in prison.

Named as New York Burglar.

The second witness was Sergeant of Detectives James R. Donlin of New York City, who identified Condi as a man arrested in New York in 1921 for burglary and sentenced to serve three years and six months in prison.

Patrolman Arthur E. Wachholz of the Chicago police force told of arresting Condi in 1926 with eighteen others in a flat at 5126 Kenwood avenue. All were charged with disorderly conduct.

The state made a surprise move when it produced Sol Blitz, a tailor at 1008 Argyle street. The state believed that Blitz would be called by the defense to assert that Condi worked for him and therefore was engaged in useful labor and not a vagrant. Blitz said he thought that Condi worked for another tailor, but was not sure.

Edward [Spike] O'Donnell, "public enemy" and south side gunman, smiled yesterday as charges of vagrancy against him were continued until Nov. 6. Assistant State's Attorney James Brown told Judge Edgar A. Jonas that other vagrancy cases were more important than O'Donnell's and should be cleared up first.

"Get them all cleaned up before me if you want to," said O'Donnell with a grin.

Sammons' $35,000 Bond O. K.'d.

Arrangements were completed last night for the release from jail of James [Fur] Sammons on $35,000 bond. The bond was approved by the state's attorney's office and Judge Fisher. It scheduled property valued at $41,000 and was signed by Vincenzo Bartucci, 744 Taylor street, who signed his name with an "X," his wife, Maria; Joseph Spingola, 5529 West Van Buren street, and his wife, Caroline.

will show that I have attended directors' meetings regularly."

Asked what his income from the business was, Moran replied that he received a salary of $5,200 annually, and that his dividends amounted to $22,000 a year.

"I am a lover of the outdoors," the hoodlum said, "and I spend much of my time hunting and fishing. That is why I was up in Lake county Yesterday I got a hunting license at Antioch, and I expected a bunch of my friends up there today to go hunting with me."

Newspapermen who visited the Cassidy resort yesterday afternoon saw a limousine draw up, in which three men were riding. Upon learning that Moran had been arrested, the trio departed hastily. An investigation of the license number on the car showed it was issued to B. H. Kornick, who is president of the Central Cleaners and Dyers.

After his arrest Moran was taken to Waukegan, where Justice of the Peace Harold J. Tallett fixed his bail on the vagrancy charge at $50,000 and set the trial for Oct. 27. Later Judge Tallett, upon representations by former Judge Claire C. Edwards that the Supreme court had recently fixed $5,000 as a reasonable bail in such cases, reduced the bond to $5,000.

In Court as Gun Toter.

The charge of carrying concealed weapons was brought up before County Judge Perry L. Persons. The judge noticed that Moran's bond had been provided by Joe Oltusky, a professional bondsman in Waukegan.

"Is the state satisfied with this surety?" Judge Persons asked Col. Smith. The state's attorney indicated he was satisfied. Then the judge asked Moran whether he had paid Oltusky for the service in providing bond for him and Moran said he had.

"There is a rule in this court that when bail is offered by a professional bondsman who is given a fee by the defendant, the bond will not be approved except for definite reasons," Judge Persons said.

Former Judge Edwards, who presided over the trial of former Gov. Len Small, said that Moran had no friends in Lake county who could furnish bail for him and that it was necessary for him to pay a bondsman. The judge then approved the bond.

Brought to Chicago Bureau.

As soon as these formalities had been completed Moran was delivered to the custody of Lieut. Phil Carroll of the Chicago detective bureau, who had been sent by Chief Norton to bring Moran to Chicago.

Moran was asked concerning the whereabouts of Leo Mongoven, one of his former lieutenants. Reports have been published that Mongoven has been murdered.

"To the best of my knowledge he is dead," the gangster replied, but he smiled quizzically. In Waukegan he told officials that Mongoven was alive, but that he had not seen him recently.

GANG TRAPPED AS THEY PLOT TO SLAY AND BURN

Insurance Conspiracy Confessed by One.

Frank Ricci, 47 years old, of Dixmoor, late yesterday confessed to the burning of a building at 123d street and Vincennes avenue in an effort to kill the man who lived there so that his insurance and the building insurance might be collected. He also confessed, according to the authorities, the attempted destruction of an apartment building at 13224 South Western avenue, Blue Island.

Ricci and three other men and a woman, who are alleged to have been his accomplices, were arrested on Monday night by three investigators who posed as members of Ricci's gang for three weeks and pretended to assist him in planning the burning of buildings and the collection of fees.

Seized Preparing for Fire.

Ricci and Antonio Chiarito, 2266 Grove street, Blue Island, were placed under arrest as they started to carry four five-gallon tins of gasoline and a pound of black powder into a vacant apartment at 13224 Western avenue. Pasquale Granolla, owner of the building, was arrested after Ricci said that Granolla had paid $500 to have the structure burned and had promised to pay $600 more as soon as he collected the $6,000 insurance.

The woman in custody is Mrs. Florence Carriere, whose husband, John, owned the small residence and refreshment stand which was burned at 123d street and Vincennes avenue.

Mrs. Carriere was seized after she had paid $150 to two of the undercover men who were acting as Ricci's agents. According to the investigators, the money was paid to them to kill the woman's husband, who had escaped death when their home had been burned.

Confesses Plot to Kill.

Ricci, the investigators said, confessed that the intention had been to trap and destroy Carriere in the burning residence. Mrs. Carriere had promised to pay $50 more today and an additional $1,500 when she collected the insurance on her husband's life, according to the undercover men.

Mrs. Carriere, who is being held by the Chicago police, has been told that the murder of her husband has been carried out. Carriere, however, is still at his job as a railroad roundhouse laborer.

The fourth man in custody is Tony Sinise, who was found in the woman's home at 12804 Winchester avenue and arrested for questioning.

The undercover men who exposed the plot were supplied by Pat Roche, chief investigator for the state's attorney's office; Chief of Police Fiedler of Blue Island, and the state fire marshal's office.

Chief Fiedler revealed last night that the information which led to the captures came from a vagrant whom he had fed and sheltered in the Blue Island police station.

RAID "VETERAN" ORGANIZATION IN RACKETEER DRIVE

Four Held in Inquiry by Prosecutors.

State's attorney's detectives yesterday raided the headquarters of the Veterans of All Wars, the organization which recently petitioned W. R. Hearst, a California publisher, to become a candidate for President. The prosecutor's anti-racketeer department declared the organization's leaders were racketeers, collecting money under false titles.

"Col." Nicolas Korngold, "commander in chief," was said by Assistant State's Attorney Charles E. Lounsbury [with some doubt] to have been a private in the Spanish-American war, who said he acquired the title of colonel in Nicaragua. "Maj. J. Elroy Lundy, chief of staff," was described by Lounsbury as "just plain Solly Weinberg," one of the men who was held in connection with an advertising agency coöperating with the Veterans of All Wars.

Girls Are Questioned.

A number of girls working at the organization's headquarters at 2822 South Michigan avenue, making telephone solicitations for contributions, ostensibly for the Veterans' hospital, were taken to the state's attorney's new racket bureau at 123 West Madison street for questioning. It was then learned that the "official publication," American Veteran, had one issue last April and that another was in prospect for Armistice day.

A solicitor told Walker Whiteside, actor now playing at the Studebaker theater, of the great need of funds by the veterans and asked the actor if he could contribute. The actor told George Kingsbury, theater manager who arranged for Whiteside to put $2 in an envelope, and the collector was arrested as he walked off with it.

"They asked for $15 to $150," Prosecutor Lounsbury said, "and they wouldn't take checks. 'Our duly authorized solicitor will call,' was the reply on the telephone when it was explained that a check would be sent. 'Please give him the cash,' was the next request.

Officers Are Listed.

The list of officers of the organization, other than Korngold and "Lundy," as shown on a letterhead, are: Lieut. Walter R. Hawley, national aid de camp; Capt. Harold W. Jirka, L. L. B., judge advocate general; William F. Schaare, M. D., surgeon general; Maj. Francis P. Joyce, D. D., U. S. A., retired, chaplin general; Eli W. Segal, quartermaster general; William G. Shane, L. L. B., adjutant general; Lieut. Col. M. A Bashelier; Capt. Herbert F. Young, chief of intelligence bureau, and Sergt. Rufus K. Barnes, first corps commander.

On the advisory board were the names of Judge William J. Lindsay, Ald. Albert J. Horan, Gen. James E. Stuart, Harry K. Curtis [supposed to be the son of Vice President Curtis], Assistant State's Attorney William R. Crow, and Laurence M. Fine. Judge Lindsay said it was a reputable organization when he was invited to become a member of the advisory board, succeeding Judge Marcus Kavanagh. He said he knew nothing of its present personnel.

Jacob Karchmer, alias E. S. Harris, Thomas L. Foye and Maurice Milton of the advertising agency were held with Weinberg.

NEVER O. K.'D HOME BREWING, WOODCOCK SAYS

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 21.—(AP)—Amos W. W. Woodcock, director of prohibition enforcement, told reporters here today that recent published reports quoting him as saying it is not unlawful to manufacture beer and wine in the home for home consumption were "absurd."

"I never made such a statement," he said, "because home manufacture of any beverage containing more than one-half of one per cent of alcohol is illegal and is specifically prohibited by the national prohibition act.

"What I have been trying to do is to direct enforcement activities against commercial violators, a much simpler proposition than watching homes. I have instructed the agents to stop the traffic at its source and leave the maker of home brew to be dealt with by public opinion and education."

MURDER BY DRYS AGAIN JUSTIFIED IN HANSON CASE

Coast Guards Acquitted with Federal Aid.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

Maryland and Florida, in the Wenger and Jones cases, were forced to yield to the federal government and to find what they considered murder justified under the prohibition enforcement laws. Now, in the Hanson case, New York state was to find itself similarly helpless, although the victim was admittedly a law abiding citizen with no stain of bootlegging upon his character.

"It may be that you gentlemen do not agree with the law," said United States Attorney Richard H. Templeton in his argument to the jury in the first Hanson trial at Elmira.

"It may be that you say the law is too drastic. You have your remedy. The state of New York has its remedy. The citizens of this country have the remedy. Go to congress and have them pass another law. Repeal this particular section under which these men were acting. Repeal it!"

Coast Guard Again in Action.

In this case we find the United States coast guard again in action, but this time away from their boats and life saving stations, operating inland from Niagara Falls, under orders from Washington to guard the automobile highways from liquor running cars.

The majesty and power of the United States government was personified on the night of May 5, 1928, by Glenn Jennings, 22 years old, two or three years off the farm, a first class machinist's mate in the Fort Niagara coast guard station, who had been sent, with Chris Dew, an older guardsman, to patrol a road between Lewiston and Youngstown frequented by rum runners.

Guardsmen Go to Speakeasy.

It was a cold night and the guardsmen waited until nearly dawn before they found their victim. During the night, with other members of the guard, they had, in violation of the rules, broken the monotony of their watch by going into town where they had visited a notorious speakeasy restaurant. Whether they drank anything there but coffee or ginger ale, as they testified, has never been revealed.

On this night it happened that Jacob Hanson, 47 years old, a popular bachelor and Elks' lodge secretary at Niagara Falls, had taken Miss Margaret Dering, a Lewiston bank clerk, to a banquet and dance at North Tonawanda given by the Elks. Hanson took the girl home and started back alone over the Lewiston hill to his home. He had nothing to fear from government agents, but possibly was afraid of bandits.

The Killing of Hanson.

Jennings and Dew had taken position on the hill separated by a curve and at least 100 feet apart. The plan was for Dew, who had on his uniform coat and cap, to hail the cars, and then if they did not stop Jennings, who had on a sweater and dungarees and guard cap, was to do the shooting. It was what the state prosecutor called a trap.

Hanson came up the hill at a speed which the guardsmen said was 25 or 30 miles an hour. Dew stepped out with his flashlight and hailed him. He said that instead of stopping Hanson stepped on the gas and nearly ran him down. As Hanson passed Dew fired two or three shots into the air. Jennings then went into action. Under his instruction the driver of this car was a fugitive felon and must be stopped. Jennings fired five or six shots, directly at the car, but low. Another shot went through the windshield and entered Hanson's forehead. He was able to stop the car. The guardsmen took him to a hospital where he died a month later.

The case has a long legal history. One point has never been explained. The state brought charges of murder and then changed them to manslaughter, and the United States attorney, on petition of the guardsmen, had the case taken into the federal court for trial. In the petition it is stated that the guardsmen "as they overlooked the plain below saw the car owned by Jacob G. Hanson approach rapidly up the hill and his automobile resembled in general appearance two other cars which had escaped your petitioners, at this same spot and which cars, they were subsequently informed, were loaded with contraband."

This statement follows closely the legal requirements. Before he fired, Jennings must have had a good reason, not a mere guess, to think that Hanson was running contraband. The reason given here was forgotten at the trials. It was emphasized at the trials that this was a dark night, the darkness before the dawn. How, then, could Jennings have looked to the plain below and recognized as a bootlegger's car one that had only an hour or so before gone over the hill with a girl in it?

U. S. Defends Guardsmen.

The federal government threw all its resources into the defense of the guardsmen.

The official instructions to the guardsmen, it was shown, were that they were authorized to shoot at a car which did not stop, but the shots must be low, and they must avoid hitting any one.

What was in the mind of Jennings was the chief point in the case. There were two trials. In the first case the jury disagreed because two or three jurors would not vote guilty, believing that there was no intent to kill in Jennings' mind. In the second trial the government played a daring hand, resting the defense on one witness, a ballistics expert, who testified that the bullet which caused Hanson's death and which was taken from his head for examination was a ricochet shot.

Jurors Are Convinced.

This was sufficient for the jurors, as it proved to their satisfaction that Jennings had been firing low, as he testified. They were told by the court that if they believed this bullet had been deflected the shooting of Hanson could be regarded as an accident.

The state argued that Jennings had no right to fire any bullet in the direction of Hanson, but the revised statutes of the United States, it was shown, give the right to use "all necessary force" under such circumstances.

And that was all that New York and the Elks and the citizens that attended Hanson's funeral by the thousands could do about it.

INDIAN SUMMER IS CHASING WINTER OUT OF CHICAGO REGION

The biting northwest wind which has chilled Chicago for nearly a week will shift to the south today, according to W. P. Day, government forecaster, and there will be a slow rise in the temperature. The mercury rose to a maximum of 43 degrees here yesterday, 3 degrees above the high mark of the day before. Fair weather is predicted for today, while tomorrow is expected to be mostly cloudy and somewhat warmer.

Winter's Onslaught Ending.

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 21.—(AP)—Winter's premature onslaught was drawing to an end tonight in the middle west, its vestiges lingering in Oklahoma and Texas and in states east of the Mississippi.

The freeze which gripped the middle west over the week-end and yesterday did more good than damage in most agricultural states, in the opinion of S. D. Flora, meteorologist of Topeka, Kas. He said it tended to conserve moisture already in the ground, while the snow and sleet augmented it.

GLORIA SWANSON SUES FOR DIVORCE FROM MARQUIS

Film Star Charges Henri Abandons Her.

Hollywood, Cal., Oct. 21.—[Special.]—It will be just plain American Gloria Swanson in future instead of Madame La Marquise de la Falaise et la Coudraye. This appears certain since the film star filed a curt, one paragraph divorce suit in Superior court today, which accuses Henri, the Marquis Falaise, of desertion.

Milton Cohen, attorney for Miss Swanson, endeavored to press the case toward an early trial. This, with the marquis' announcement that he would not contest the suit, indicated that the actress' return to single life, for the third time, will be accomplished with dispatch.

Wed in Paris in 1925.

Gloria's divorce papers merely set forth that the pair wed in Paris Jan. 28, 1925, and that the marquis has now "willfully and maliciously abandoned and deserted her and persisted in said desertion and abandonment against her will."

The desertion occurred on Sept. 18, 1929, the petition alleges. It also states there is no community property and no children.

This is the third divorce action for Miss Swanson. She was first married to Wallace Beery, the film villain, when both were little known comedy actors on the old Essanay lot in Chicago. Beery won a divorce from her in 1918, two years after the marriage. Miss Swanson next married Herbert Somborn, Pasadena capitalist, but divorced him in 1921. She has two children, one adopted and one who was born during her marriage to Somborn.

Escort of Constance Bennett.

Marquis Falaise and Miss Swanson have been living apart in Hollywood for months. He has been a constant escort of Constance Bennett, film actress, who stars on the same studio grounds as Miss Swanson, but both he and Miss Swanson recently expressed themselves philosophically about their separation. Falaise said he did not know if he would remarry.

Miss Swanson attended a Mayfair club ball last week escorted by J. R. T. Ryan, a motion picture corporation official and Falaise went to the same party with Miss Bennett. Neither noticed the other.

EDITORS TOLD OF PLAN TO ADVANCE POSTAGE RATES

The proposed increase in the first class mail rate from 2 cents to 2½ or 3 cents an ounce, which will be considered by congress at the coming session, is necessary because of a deficit of $98,216,000 in the postal department for the fiscal year ended June 30, Assistant Postmaster General Frederic A. Tilton said yesterday.

Mr. Tilton addressed the Inland Daily Press association, in convention at the Morrison hotel. Much of the 1930 deficit was due to the free handling of government mail and of mail for the blind, while further losses were sustained through the carrying of air mail, he said.

JURY FOREMAN PROTESTS BAR'S REPORT ON LYLE

A protest against the declaration of the Chicago Bar association that Municipal Judge Lyle "should not be elected" was made yesterday by G. F. Slaughter, foreman of the September Cook county grand jury. He made his protest in a letter to Silas H. Strawn, former president of the association.

"I had ample opportunity to observe Judge Lyle in his court," wrote the jury foreman, "and cannot agree that he 'lacks judicial temperament.' In fact, it seems to me that if we had a few more like him in the criminal court justice would be better served.

"I grant you there may be times when he might appear from press accounts to be erratic; but I did not find him so. In fact, in many instances he seemed to use excellent judgment, was quiet and considerate in listening to the cases, and only when some hard boiled criminal was before him would he [to use a slang expression] 'sock him between the eyes.' Surely this is not objectionable when you consider that he is dealing with the worst class of criminal.

"I have no long acquaintance with the judge, but I do believe, and so does the September grand jury, that Judge Lyle should be supported in the November election, for we certainly need judges who will go after tht criminal element with hammer and tongs instead of, as in many instances, seeming almost to condone the defendant."

3,500,000 IN U. S. IDLE, ACCORDING TO PRESIDENT

Discusses Relief Plans with His Committee.

BY ARTHUR CRAWFORD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 21.—[Special.]—President Hoover's estimate of the number of unemployed in the country is 3,500,000.

The President gave this estimate today at the first meeting of his committee on unemployment headed by Secretary of Commerce Robert P. Lamont. Members of the committee, which includes five other cabinet members and Gov. Eugene Meyer of the federal reserve board, met with him at the White House.

The President's total is about 1,000,000 greater than the 2,508,151 estimate of unemployment as of April 1 which was announced by the census bureau, but is considerably below the estimate of from 5,000,000 to 6,000,000 which was recently sponsored by the Democratic national committee.

In arriving at his estimate the President used the census bureau's figures as a base and corrected it with the aid of unemployment index figures of the department of labor.

"Always a Million Idle."

The census bureau's figure has been assailed by critics of the administration on the ground that it referred to "persons out of a job, able to work and looking for a job," but failed to include others listed under classifications not yet made public, such as "persons having jobs but on lay off without pay."

According to the President's presentation of the situation to his unemployment committee there are always as many as 1,000,000 unemployed in normal times representing persons shifting from one job to another and for other reasons out of work.

The 3,500,000 unemployed does not designate that many families, according to the explanation of the President, who pointed out to his committee that census calculations show an average of 1¾ bread winners per family in the United States.

Woods to Direct Plan.

The meeting of the committee was followed by an announcement that Col. Arthur Woods, former police commissioner of New York City, has accepted an invitation of the President to take charge of the administration's unemployment activities. The Lamont committee will act in an advisory capacity. Col. Woods will arrive in Washington tomorrow. He was selected by the President because of his experience in a similar capacity under the unemployment committee which was headed by Mr. Hoover as secretary of commerce in 1922. Col. Woods previously had led a movement to place war veterans in jobs.

It was made known that the administration will ask congress to remove restrictions now applying on the expenditure of funds authorized for various public works. These restrictions include annual limitations on amounts to be expended on public buildings, river and harbor improvements, and under the federal aid road system. Amounts authorized for expenditure over a period of years are to be lumped to a greater extent in the immediate future.

May Employ "Staggering."

As part of the government's program to increase employment, it is probable that the President will modify his retrenchment policy proposed for the army and navy. The President's committee discussed the feasibility of staggering employment on public works as much as possible to give work to the maximum number.

Secretary of War P. J. Hurley, one of the members of the committee, stated that he would carry out the scheme on river and harbor work. It has already been initiated to some extent, he said, in flood control work on the Mississippi below St. Louis. He explained that under the system 2,000 men might be employed three days a week instead of 1,000 men six days a week. This plan has been followed during the business depression by many of the industries of the country at the suggestion of the administration.

New York, Oct. 21.—[Special.]—The unemployment situation in New York City, due to the general business depression, is getting worse, Edward C. Rybicki, director of the city free employment agency, said today. At present there are nearly 800,000 persons out of work here.

HAWKS SETS RECORD IN FLIGHTS BETWEEN N. Y. AND WASHINGTON

Valley Stream, N. Y., Oct. 21.—(AP)—Capt. Frank Hawks, transcontinental air speed king, shuttled between New York and Washington today in what airmen believe to be the fastest time ever made between those two points.

Leaving here at 10:39 a. m., he arrived in the capital one hour and eleven minutes later, having made an average speed of 185 miles an hour. Pointing his plane toward New York late in the afternoon, he landed at Valley Stream after a 63 minute trip, an average of 212.5 miles an hour.

Hawks made the trip to Washington to keep a luncheon conference with David S. Ingalls, assistant secretary of the navy for aeronautics, in the Mystery low wing monoplane in which he established cross country records in both directions.

JOBLESS AND ILL, FATHER DESPAIRS FOR HIS FAMILY and so he went without food all day, tramping the streets.

As a result he fell ill. He was sent to a dispensary, where the case was diagnosed as tuberculosis. Another doctor told him he did not have this disease, and still another said he did. He was finally sent to a sanitarium, but after two months he went home because of "homesickness." Then he was found to be free of all traces of tuberculosis. He tried to be an insurance salesman, but failed.

"I was not born to be a beggar," Mr. A. said. "For myself, I don't want anything. My children are my life."

When he finally had to turn to charity, he said he felt like turning on the gas, and the food choked him when he thought of its source.

He is a slightly built man, with dark dreaming eyes, the introspective, nervous type. He plays a home made violin and enjoys classical concerts. He came from Europe when a boy. His family life in the old country had been happy. His father was a well to do merchant, and there was a servant for menial tasks.

"I am crazy about him and he cares for me," said Mrs. A. "There isn't a person in the world who could say anything wrong about him."

Discouraged by His Luck.

"If there is no luck, nothing will help," is the way Mr. A. expressed his philosophy. "The only thing I have is a clear record. No one could say that I was ever lazy or could not do my work, but what good is that to me now?"

He has had training at simple bookkeeping. He reports every day at the charities employment bureau, but so far has not had an offer. A job at $25 a week would bring back his self-respect and cure all his ills.

JUDGE FRIEND APPOINTED TO APPEALS COURT

Judge Hugo M. Friend of the Criminal court was yesterday appointed to fill the vacancy on the Appellate court bench caused by the death of Judge Jesse Holdom. The Supreme court allowed Judge Joseph B. David, also of the Criminal court, to decline the appointment and named Judge Friend in his place.

Judge David refused to say why he had asked to be relieved of the appointment to the reviewing court. It was said by attachés of his court, however, that the judge felt he could be of more service at this time in the criminal division than on the Appellate bench.

MANY CHILDREN NEED HELP OF GOOD FELLOWS

300,000 Youngsters Are Facing Hunger.

There are 300,000 babies and children under the age of 16 who must rely upon charity this winter for food, clothing, shelter, and heat. They are in Chicago's 75,600 destitute homes, an average of four in a family, according to the Chicago Council of Social Agencies.

Good Fellows are rallying to save these homes. It costs between $75 and $100 a month to provide necessities for a destitute family. Volunteers are mailing coupons from THE TRIBUNE to the Good Fellow headquarters at 1 South Dearborn street.

Many Aged Persons in Need.

Besides the babies and children there is at least one woman in most of these 75,000 homes. And in a large portion of the homes there are men, infirm with age, crippled or ill.

The large established relief organizations, United Charities, Central Charity bureau [Catholic], Jewish social service bureau, and Salvation Army reported yesterday that they were unable to cope with this winter's problem. During September they cared for 7,779 homes.

Good Fellows are responding from all walks of life pledging themselves singly or in groups to adopt a family. The manager of a tearoom in a large hotel wrote that her employés will care for five families through the winter, the waitresses taking two families, the bus boys and dishwashers one family, and others in the organization two families.

Clerk Sends Gift of $8.

An anonymous gift of $8 came from a person who signed himself "a $40 a week clerk." He suggested that employés in offices and factories band themselves together and have the cashier of the company deduct 2 per cent from the pay roll to care for one or more families under the Good Fellow plan. Such an arrangement is being followed in several firms, with 1 or 2 per cent contribution.

The Good Fellows who have signed up for families are being notified of their assignments. The families selected for this aid were named by the United Charities, the Central Charity bureau, the Jewish Social Service bureau, and the Salvation Army. Their inability to care for themselves and their minimum requirements have been determined by trained social workers.

Standard Budget Is Guide.

The allowances of Good Fellow money to these families will be guided by a standard budget for dependents issued by the Chicago Council of Social Agencies. Expenses are carefully itemized. For example, $7.60 a month is allowed for food for a 2 year old child and $1.70 a month for his clothing. Food for a woman at home is listed at $10 a month, and for a man at home, $12.35 a month. Coal for a stove is set at $10.50 to $13.

The Good Fellow money is being budgeted sparingly so that it will reach as many as possible of the 75,000 destitute homes. The cost of administration is being paid by THE TRIBUNE.

DU PAGE COUNTY WOMEN'S CLUBS TO HELP NEEDY

Emergency relief for the social welfare situation in Du Page county has been taken over by the County Federation of Women's Clubs, working in conjunction with the associated charities. The federated clubs have pledged themselves to assist in various ways, at the direction of the department of public welfare.

Mrs. E. E. Miller, president of the Du Page county federation, is in charge, assisted by a large committee, which includes Mrs. William T. Bruckner, Mrs. Joy Morton, Mrs. Ralph Pierce, Mrs. E. N. Hurley Jr., and Mrs. George Strom.

The clubs are making arrangements for a football game to be played Thanksgiving day for the benefit of the needy families of the county.

"Each town in the county is to be asked to organize its own forces to help with the relief work," Mrs. Miller said yesterday. "There are 700 appeals for help on the desk of our director of social service for the county."

Sioux Falls Mayor Wins "Recall" Election

Unemployed War Veteran and Family Are Evicted

A world war veteran, his wife and two children were evicted from their flat at 119 West Ohio street yesterday for nonpayment of rent. The father is William A. Highland, who served in the navy during the war. He is a painter, but for five months he has been unable to find work of any kind.

JOBS POUR IN, BUT MANY MORE MUST STILL BE FOUND

Stories of Want Are Told by Jobless Women.

BY KATHLEEN M'LAUGHLIN.

Offers of jobs by the dozen continued to pour in yesterday at the desk of Sally Joy Brown of THE TRIBUNE. Applications for jobs by the score continued to flood the Illinois Free Employment service at 116 North Dearborn street, where this work is being distributed. Last night the gap between the work that was offered and the work that still is needed remained discouragingly wide.

Any day or half day jobs you may know of or can think up about your house or office may provide the means to bring a few badly needed dollars to some of the families now destitute. Even a temporary salary will mean a great deal to the man or woman who has been out of work for weeks or months, and whose resources are gone.

Just how much the smallest amount of money means in the lives of these unfortunate folk was set forth yesterday by the little old country Irish woman who had been living since last Friday, a reporter discovered, on a single quarter given to her by one of the girls in the employment service who had discovered she was penniless. Not so many months ago you may have seen that little old woman in the movies with Lon Chaney, where she played character parts.

"It was this way," she explained. "I bought a 9 cent can of tea and a 5 cent loaf of bread, and I got half a pound of sausage for 10 cents—you buy it just as you go over the bridge at Madison street. And I had a nickel left, so I got a 5 cent tin of milk, and you see a spoonful of that will do for a meal.

"It wasn't the way I've lived before, but it kept me going. Now I have a little place out on Madison street that I pay $3 a week for, an' you'd be surprised how nice it is. But if I could get work—I do grand cleaning and any kind of housework. I'd be happy as a lark."

Another Seeker of Work.

One of the girls at the desks looked up as a quietly dressed, aristocratic looking woman of beyond middle age came through the door and stopped inquiringly.

"Are you an employer?" she asked, hopefully. "Did you want to get a maid?"

The aristocratic looking woman smiled ruefully.

"I wish I did," she sighed. "What I want right now is work as a maid. It doesn't seem so very long ago I had two of them myself, but when my husband died it seemed we'd been living right up to everything. I've been doing housework for months, and I simply must have something soon or I can't say what will become of me."

Neither of these women, it was pointed out by the employment clerks, has any children; consequently they would be refused help at many charitable institutions which make it a rule not to take in any but mothers with children. One such childless woman, ill and destitute, was turned out of a home where she had been staying last week and spent the afternoon and evening of one day begging rides from milkmen to take her to this or that possible shelter, all of which proved to be full.' She finally spent the night in a jail, where she shared a cot with two other women.

Yesterday the Illinois Central railroad informed THE TRIBUNE that it has ten or twelve carloads of oak railroad ties available for fuel for needy families, provided it can be dumped somewhere along the I. C track and removed from there. These will make excellent fuel if some lumber or trucking company will contribute its trucks and men to saw and haul the ties to their destination, or will agree to care for even a part of it. Otherwise the offer will be of no advantage because of the difficulty of handling it.

ROBBERY SUSPECT TO JURY.

Richard Van Huisen, 23 years old, 1403 South 58th court, Cicero, was held to the grand jury in bonds of $5,000 on a charge of robbery yesterday by Justice of the Peace Paul R. Wick in the Oak Park court.

DESCRIBES PART WOMAN PLAYED IN FAKE ROBBERY

Judge Tries Mrs. Price for Conspiracy.

Mrs. Laura B. Price, wife of Edwin C. Price, wealthy packers' supply dealer, acted her part of the alleged fake robbery staged on Feb. 25, 1929, without a flaw, according to testimony given yesterday in Judge Hugo Friend's Criminal court. The witness was Joseph Baum, one of the fake robbers. Baum, who had turned state's evidence, was the main prosecution witness at the initial session of the trial yesterday.

Waives Jury Trial.

Mrs. Price, who for more than a year has dodged trial of the conspiracy charge pending against her as a result of the alleged fake robbery, decided to submit her fate to Judge Friend rather than a jury. She waived jury trial under the recent Supreme court decision giving defendants this privilege.

Assistant State's Attorneys Charles J. Mueller and John Hampton said yesterday that they would oppose any move for leniency in behalf of Mrs. Price in the event that she is found guilty. If she is convicted she is liable to imprisonment in the penitentiary up to five years or a fine of $2,000.

Maurice Barnett, a jewelry salesman, and Max Krakow, a jewelry manufacturer, have been convicted of conspiracy as a result of the robbery which occurred in front of 61 East Goethe street. Their cases are now pending on appeal.

Describes Hotel Meeting.

"We figured at the time that we would get $2,500 each," testified Baum. "I did not get my share and I went to see Mrs. Price at the Seneca hotel. I told her that I had $5,000 coming because I had invested some money in the scheme. She said she had no such arrangement as I told her had been made. She said that Barnett had told her that she was to get $17,000 from the insurance money as well as most of her jewelry back. I asked her then how we could expect to be paid?"

He said that Mrs. Price finally told him that she did not want to see him lose any money by the deal and that she made a payment to his wife.

83,500 OUT OF WORK IN DETROIT, BUT NO BREAD LINES AS YET

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 21.—(AP)—There are no bread lines or soup kitchens in this automotive center and yet there are 83,500 persons who have registered with municipal agencies as being idle. The great majority of these, records showed today, have so far been able to support themselves and families without appealing to charity. This has been possible, in the main, by falling back on resources laid away for the proverbial rainy day or by converting property into money with which to purchase food and clothing now needed.

The automobiles sold cover acres of vacant lots throughout the city and are offered for sale at prices never paralleled. Thousands of old, unsalable cars belonging to pinched families stand today in sheds and backyards, still carrying their old license tags.

While some of the registered unemployed have been idle only a few weeks, thousands of others have had practically no work for a year.

Even in "big" years the automobile worker rarely has a full twelve months' work, this circumstance serving to compensate in a measure for good wages paid those who are employed. The workmen have learned to expect such conditions, and most of them deposit in savings banks to build a reserve to tide them over.

The present situation, however, has passed beyond the limits of the cash reserve of many workers, and these men have fallen back on their other resources—automobiles, homes and furniture.

CRIMINAL COURT.

Fred Schewkel, robbery, sentenced to 1 year to life in Pontiac reformatory by Judge Joseph Sabath.

Francis Kane, robbery, sentenced to 1 to 20 years in the penitentiary by Judge Phillip Finnegan.

Francis Moline, crime against nature, sentenced to 1 year in the Bridewell; Joseph Walters, robbery, sentenced to 1 year to life in the penitentiary; James Sassano, robbery, sentenced to 1 to 20 years in the penitentiary by Judge G. Fred Rush.

MANUFACTURERS AND LEGION JOIN TO HELP JOBLESS

Offer to Co-operate with State Committee.

Two organizations, the national unemployment commission of the American Legion and the Illinois Industrial council, an auxiliary of the Illinois Manufacturers' association, enlisted yesterday with Gov. Emmerson's committee of 45 for the battle against unemployment.

James L. Donnelley, executive vice president of the manufacturers' association and secretary of the industrial council, announced he was calling a meeting of the council here on Saturday on a threefold program: First, to get definite statistics on unemployment throughout Illinois; second, to develop a practical method of stabilizing employment in industry; third, to devise a method whereby manufacturers may assist the families of laid off workers.

Mr. Donnelley said the industrial council proposes to work in full coöperation with the committee of 45. The council's membership includes the executives of local manufacturers' associations in such industrial centers as Peoria, Aurora, Moline, East St. Louis, Alton, Rockford, Waukegan, Quincy, Rock Island, and Bloomington.

Savage Offers Coöperation.

Coöperation of the American Legion's unemployment commission, which has been studying the problem since last July, was extended to Dr. Benjamin M. Squires, executive secretary of the governor's commission, in a letter from Howard P. Savage, past national commander of the Legion and chairman of the unemployment commission. Mr. Savage declared the Legion's commission needs the help of the committee of 45 and asked Mr. Squires to suggest how the commission might coöperate to best advantage.

"Ex-service men," Mr. Savage wrote, "have been harder hit by the present depression than many other classes. Disabled men, who found jobs during the boom days, were the first to be dropped from the pay rolls when production slumped."

The organization subcommittee of the committee of 45 met yesterday in the office of its chairman, George F. Getz, appointed an executive committee and a finance committee, and adjourned. The entire 45 will meet at 1 p. m. today in the Hotel La Salle to receive the report of the organizing group.

Two Bodies Appointed.

The following 21 members, representative of finance, industry, public utilities, labor and organized charities, were named on the executive committee: Victor Olander, George W. Dixon, Melvin A. Traylor, Fred W. Sargent, D. F. Kelly, Julius Rosenwald, Edward L. Ryerson, James Simpson, Thomas E. Wilson, George Woodruff, William Wrigley Jr., Samuel Insull Jr., Dr. Squires, Wayne Hummer, Loren S. Corliss, Msgr. William A. Cummings, Robert Carr, Joseph D. Zook, Clifford W. Barnes, Miss Agnes Nestor and Robert J. Fitchie.

The finance committee comprises the following: Charles F. Glore, Silas H. Strawn, E. V. R. Thayer, Arthur Reynolds, Oscar H. Haugan, Mr. Traylor, M. A. Graettinger, Mr. Wrigley, Mr. Fitchie, and Samuel Insull Jr.

A church committee was also named composed of George W. Dixon, chairman, Msgr. Cummings, Rabbi Louis L. Mann, and Dean Shailer Mathews of the University of Chicago.

Debate Cermak's Plan.

The suggestion of President Cermak of the county board for a voluntary tax toward a community chest was hailed in some quarters and in others denounced. Mr. Barnes, an executive vice president of the Association of Commerce and author of the relief plan adopted by the governor's committee, expressed approval. President Elmore of the sanitary district declared he would decline Mr. Cermak's invitation to coöperate.

"Providing the contributions are purely voluntary, I believe Mr. Cermak's idea commendable," said Mr. Barnes. "Ordinarily in times of distress big business men are called upon to bear the burden of relief. In the present instance, however, many business men are now carrying on their pay rolls hundreds of needless employés and, hence, are writing their books in the red."

"If any employé of the sanitary district wishes to contribute, that is entirely his own concern," said Mr. Elmore. "But I shall not be a party to such a scheme of taxation."

Mr. Cermak declared that Mr. Elmore had unconsciously expressed his own thought in proposing the plan.

"It was my intention that the contributions, as Mr. Elmore says, should be entirely voluntary and that each man's gift should be his own concern," said Mr. Cermack. "It struck me that, in the present dire need, public officials, such as myself, might set an example by contributing from their own salaries and that civil service employés might be glad to fall in line for the public good."

To win support in his drive to compel four railroads to start work immediately on $14,000,000 track elevation projects an an unemployment relief measure, Ald. Albert J. Horan [29th], chairman of the city council committee on track elevation, last night invited Mr. Getz and Edward L. Ryerson, chairman of the local unemployment committee of 25, to attend his committee's hearing on the track elevation program at 11 a. m. today.

Ald. John S. Clark [30th], chairman of the council finance committee, is to present at the special council meeting this afternoon a resolution asking the mayor to appoint five aldermen to analyze the unemployment situation and report at the next regular council meeting.

WATSON CANCELS ALL CAMPAIGN SPEECHES ON DOCTOR'S ORDERS

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 21. — [Special.]—James E. Watson, senior senator from Indiana and Republican leader in the senate, has canceled further speech making in the Indiana campaign this fall, it was announced tonight.

The curtailment, Republican officials said, is being made on advise of physicians, who say the senator had been under too much strain in the last eighteen months. It was denied that Watson has suffered a complete breakdown. His condition is not alarming, campaign officials insisted.

Some time ago Mr. Watson underwent an examination at the Mayo clinic. The result was not announced.

Watson will remain in Indianapolis at the party headquarters, giving advice during the campaign. It was denied he will enter a hospital.

JOHN PASSMORE KNOWS YELLS OF 7 ALMA MATERS

Nominee, Born in Cabin, Is an Ex-School Dad.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

As a sort of human link between the pioneer age and the era of jazz and hip likker, take a look at John H. Passmore, Republican candidate for reëlection as Criminal court clerk. John was born in a log cabin in Ohio and learned to read by a pine knot fire. He became a country schoolmaster at Quincy, Ill. He went to seven colleges, and thus boasts as many alma maters as Homer had homes.

These scholastic peregrinations were quite leisurely, the pursuit of knowledge through the seven halls of higher learning taking eighteen years, but most of it was time out for school teaching. Passmore is now rated as the best orator of the county candidates at present on the stump, which is supposed to be something handsome in the way of a compliment and shows that a roving stone, collegian, gathers polish if not moss.

Learns Yell and Moves.

Mr. Passmore was born a mile and a quarter west of Norwich, O., as the old crow flies, in 1875, and at the age of 14 he went to Nevada, Mo., to make his home with his sister, Mrs. J. N. Rudy. He entered the Nevada Christian university, but had hardly learned the college yell before he moved to California, Mo. At 16 John departed for Ohio Northern university at Ada, O., which he attended for three years. At this time he sat under the illustrious pedagogue, Dr. Simeon D. Fess, now chairman of the Republican National committee.

Passmore became a country teacher near Quincy, Ill., and was principal of schools at Lima, Loraine, and Mendon, Ill. In his years of teaching he took summer courses at Coe College, the University of Illinois, the state normal at Bloomington, and the University of Chicago. After saving up his money he entered the law school at the University of Michigan in 1904 and was graduated in the class of 1907. At Ann Arbor he was a member of a cup winning debating team and president of the Taft Republican club. He hung out his shingle in Chicago in 1907.

Dons the Red Bandana.

In 1912 John wound a red bandana around his neck and broke into politics as a Bull Mooser. Two years later, still singing "Onward, Christian Soldiers," he ran for the legislature as Progressive candidate in the Fifth district and lost by a couple of eyelashes, being only 700 votes behind in a total of 25,000 cast in the district.

Next year Charles H. Sergel, an old Moose pal, was elected city treasurer. He got into a row with Mayor Thompson and retained Passmore as his attorney, and at the finish Passmore was appointed assistant corporation counsel in charge of suits brought against the city for damages resulting from track elevation work. Suits aggregating three million dollars were pending, and in the two years Passmore was in the damages recovered against the city did not exceed $15,000, while suits aggregating $800,000 were disposed of in court, and one test case eliminated other suits totaling $1,475,000.

Wins Seat in Council.

In 1919 Passmore became a candidate for alderman from the old Third ward on the same primary ticket with Chief Justice Harry Olson, then running for mayor. Olson lost the Third ward by 2,500. Passmore carried it by 800. In the election he won by 2,500 votes. As an alderman he started a drive on crime, getting more judges assigned to the Criminal court.

After the death of William R. Parker, Criminal court clerk, Passmore was unanimously chosen by the Republican county committee to fill the vacancy on the ticket at the election Nov. 7, 1922. Figures recently submitted by Mr. Passmore show that in the eight years he has been Criminal court clerk, savings of $261,401 have been made in the cost of operating the office. It is an average yearly saving during his incumbency of $32,675, although in the eight years the work of the office has more than doubled.

Judge Marcus Kavanagh, dean of the judiciary, has written a testimonial that Mr. Passmore is "the most efficient occupant" of the clerk's office he has seen in 27 years' experience on the bench.

MRS. J. M. RUTHERFORD SUES FOR A DIVORCE ON CRUELTY CHARGES

West Palm Beach, Fla., Oct. 21.—(AP)—Florence Crozier Rutherford filed a bill in court today for divorce from John M. Rutherford, wealthy Palm Beach and New York clubman.

The bill charged that, since their marriage, Rutherford had "continuously and habitually tortured" Mrs. Rutherford by "twisting her wrists and otherwise brutalizing her by means of his great strength."

The couple was married in 1925, but Mrs. Rutherford has been separated from her husband since last January. She charged his conduct "permanently injured her in mind and body and that life with him had become unbearable." They have one child.

Although Rutherford has a large personal estate, the bill did not ask for support for Mrs. Rutherford, stating she could provide for herself with the aid of her father. She did ask, however, support for their 4 year old child, Edward.

Bishop's Throne of Marble Denied Free Entry to U. S.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 21.—(AP)—A bishop's throne of marble, intended for the Cathedral of the Immaculate Conception, Portland, Me., was denied free entry today by the customs bureau. The ruling rejected an appeal from the decision of the collector of customs at Boston, who had refused to classify the throne as an altar, a free entry product.

WOMEN FORESEE VICTORY IN FIGHT TO ACT ON JURIES

But They'll Continue the Battle if They Lose.

About 9 o'clock on the evening of Nov. 4, politicians are predicting, women in Illinois are going to achieve a goal for which they have battled since the nineteenth amendment was written into the national constitution, enfranchising the women of America It is forecast that election day will bring a victory for the proposal to let women serve on juries in Illinois, which will be submitted to the voters in a referendum.

Confident as they are that the battle already has been won as far as public opinion is concerned, the women who have been foremost in the campaign through ten long years still have their fingers crossed. If the voters disappoint them at the polls, they will merely call it one more postponement of the inevitable, and start in all over again.

Tells of Long Battle.

"It's been a long, discouraging fight," was the comment yesterday of Miss Genevieve Corkell at the headquarters of the Cook County Women on Juries campaign at 203 North Wabash avenue. "But it's cheering to think that there isn't any organized opposition. We have here the headquarters, too, of the Illinois Committee for Women on Juries, headed by Miss Esther Dunshee, and we're busy as bees with speeches and distributing literature.

"Thomas Hare, Roger Little, and later, Mrs. Rena Elrod were the proponents of the women on juries legislation introduced into the state legislature. They always passed the senate, but were defeated in the house until this last measure presented by Mrs. Elrod in 1929, when the house finally agreed to put it up to the people through a referendum.

Serving in Other States.

"Many states have had women serving on juries ever since the nineteenth amendment was passed. Some state constitutions, though, were interpreted by the Supreme courts of those states to refer only to men in the jury laws, so laws permitting women to serve had to be enacted. In the states where they have served they have won acclaim from jurists and governors, with one exception—one governor refused to indorse them.

"Here in Illinois a test was made of the jury summons of Mrs. Elizabeth Fife of Oak Park, who was called for service as 'E. Fife,' and rejected when they found it was a woman. Elizabeth Perry was counsel for Mrs. Fife before Judge Philip Sullivan, who decided in her favor, but the Supreme court reversed his decision. Then it became necessary to change our laws. On Nov. 5, I believe we will have managed it."

MRS. McCORMICK CHIDES LEWIS ON HIS FARM ERRORS

Defends Her Record of Votes in Congress.

BY PARKE BROWN.

In her speeches to Chicago audiences last night Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick charged that statements of James Hamilton Lewis, her Democratic opponent for the United States senatorship, in reference to her voting record in Washington "are either inaccurate or simply untrue."

The Republican nominee spoke at three meetings, the first at 756 Milwaukee avenue in the 31st ward, the second, a Louis Nettelhorst celebration, at the Parkway hotel, and third at the Logan Square Masonic temple. She also made an early evening radio talk.

Lewis Here Tonight.

Former Senator Lewis, who opens his Chicago campaign at the Stadium tonight, was downstate for the day, his pricipal speech being at the Elgin National Watch company plant at Elgin. There he spoke chiefly on the liquor question.

"The Democratic candidate," said Mrs. McCormick, "has made a very poor job of explaining my views on the farm problem. I do not accuse him of intentionally trying to mislead my farmer friends with relation to my record on farm legislation. It is certain, however, that he has made many assertions which are either inaccurate or simply are untrue.

"Mr. Lewis is a Chicago lawyer and I am an Ogle county farmer. That being so, I can understand that it may have been difficult or even impossible for him to follow the course of farm legislation.

Points Out Errors.

"After reading one of his farm speeches we are reminded of Lincoln's comment on an opponent's free and easy discussion of the issues. Lincoln said his rival talked around the subject until horse chestnuts became chestnut horses. Let us be charitable then, and assume that he simply is honestly mistaken when he tells the farmers of Illinois that I voted in congress for a high tax on lumber, cement and shingles—commodities which must be bought in large quantities by the farmer.

"I voted, not to give lumber and shingles a high tariff tax but to keep them on the free list and they are on the free list now. I voted to reduce a proposed high rate on cement.

"How did Mr. Lewis get so far away on these tariff items? He says I voted on the equalization fee plan in the farm bill, although almost everybody knows that the equalization fee has not come up for a vote since I have been in congress. Perhaps my opponent is confused by the fact that, with Gov. Lowden and other farm leaders, I was an early and enthusiastic advocate of the equalization fee plan."

Preceding Mrs. McCormick's radio speech, Gen. Frank S. Dickson read an indorsement of her candidacy by Frank O. Lowden, former governor.

"She is peculiarly qualified for the office of senator," it read. "She has had intimate contact with many of the greatest statesmen of the last three decades and has profited from that contact. She is an earnest student of public questions and a forceful exponent of her views."

At the Democratic roundup in the Stadium tonight, former Senator Lewis will be introduced by Bruce Campbell of East St. Louis, whom many downstaters wanted as the organization candidate in the primary last spring.

DE PRIEST TAKES STUMP TO BACK MRS. M'CORMICK

East St. Louis, Ill., Oct. 21.—(AP)—Oscar de Priest, Negro congressman from Chicago, addressed a Republican rally at City hall here tonight, denouncing James Hamilton Lewis, Democratic nominee for senator, and indorsing the candidacy of Ruth Hanna McCormick. The gathering was composed largely of Negroes. De Priest told them that if they voted the Democratic ticket they would lose the franchise in the north, "as they have in some sections of the south."

PINCHOT GIVES SELF A BOOST IN HOOVER'S NAME

But White House Fails to Echo Him.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 21.—[Special.]—If President Hoover desires the election of Gifford Pinchot as governor of Pennsylvania he apparently has no intention of emphasizing it.

Mr. Pinchot declared in a radio speech at Washington, Pa., today that the President stands for the election of the entire Republican ticket in Pennsylvania.

Although the President himself made no comment it was made clear at the White House that the President has taken no hand in the Pennsylvania political situation and intends to take none.

Washington observers held the view that Mr. Hoover would be particularly loath to interfere now, after the defections from Mr. Pinchot which have split the Republicans in Pennsylvania.

Mr. Pinchot in his radio talk said: "President Hoover has sent word by Secretary James J. Davis, one of his cabinet officers, that he stands for and desires the election of the whole Republican ticket in Pennsylvania. And no one who has the slighest knowledge of national affairs can doubt that the election of the whole Republican ticket in Pennsylvania is most necessary."

Davis Denies Saying It.

Secretary of Labor James J. Davis, the Republican senatorial nominee, whom Mr. Pinchot referred to in his remarks, promptly denied today that he had said anything of the sort.

"In a speech at Uniontown, Pa., last night" said the secretary," I said the President could not inject himself into such matters. I would have no business saying what the President would do."

There were rumors that the President was embarrassed and indignant over the Pinchot assertion. While the President, as leader of his party, is presumed to favor the election of all party nominees, he has refrained from any active participation in the campaign. It is known that he has not been on particularly good terms with Mr. Pinchot, whose home in this city has been a meeting place at which senate radicals have planned their attacks upon adminstration policies.

A Threat Against Hoover.

Inasmuch as the election of Mr. Pinchot as governor is likely to mean that he will receive radical support as a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination against Mr. Hoover, some of the leading administration supporters will shed no tears if the Democrat, John M. Hemphill, wins.

Secretary Davis is himself supporting Mr. Pinchot, although most of the Vare leaders who were Mr. Davis' original backers in the primaries have bolted Pinchot in favor of Hemphill. Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon, a power in Pennsylvania politics, has remained silent, but has been regarded as regular.

President Hoover indicated his approval of the nomination of Dwight W. Morrow for senator in New Jersey immediately following the primaries and also sent a letter approving the stand of Representative B. C. Reece [Rep., Tenn.] on Muscle Shoals to aid his primary fight.

POLITICAL NOTES

Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick and other Republican state candidates will be guests of the Hamilton club at luncheon today.

Headquarters of Howard P. Savage, Republican nominee for county treasurer, announced yesterday that he has been indorsed by the Norwegian-American Republican club, the Chicago Goodfellowship club, the Cook County Wage Earners' league, the 131st Veterans' association, and the Illinois Republican Service Men's club.

A nonpartisan meeting in support of Miss Amelia Sears' candidacy for county commissioner will be held at 8 o'clock tomorrow evening at the Bellevue-Stratford hotel.

Francis X. Busch, former corporation counsel, issued a statement yesterday commending Probate Judge Henry Horner for continuing the functions of the court without interruption during the campaign.

Ruth Hanna McCormick day will be celebrated at the Citizens' Republican committee headquarters, 134 North La Salle street, Friday afternoon.

Under the direction of its chairman, Gen. Milton J. Foreman, a citizens' campaign committee supporting Carlos Ames, Republican, for sheriff, has begun a campaign to circulate 100,000 pledge cards, each containing spaces for ten names.

Ald. Joseph B. McDonough, Democratic nominee for county treasurer, will be the guest of the Stockyards Business and Civic association at the Stockyards inn this evening.

ARGUE MOTION TO FORCE ROADS TO ELECTRIFY

Attorneys Fight Tribune Move Before I. C. Board.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 21.—[Special.] —The Illinois commerce commission today took under advisement the motion of The Tribune company demanding that the thirty-one railroads in Chicago be required to file within thirty days all general plans for the enlargement of terminals and for electrification in the city area.

The motion, made in the action of The Tribune company in behalf of the public to force electrification of passenger lines within a 50 mile radius of Chicago and the creation of adequate terminals, was vigorously contested by attorneys representing the railroads.

Attorney Luther M. Walter, appearing for The Tribune company, presented the order to the commission. Chairman Charles W. Hadley and Commissioners J. Paul Kuhn, G. Gale Gilbert, and Phil W. Collins attended the hearing. Attorney John L. Flanigan represented a group of 21 railroads and Attorney R. N. Van Dorn, the Chicago and North Western railroad.

Report of Engineers.

Mr. Walter asked that the commission order the railroads to transmit the report of its engineers and other departments all plans for the enlargement of passenger terminal facilities and for electrification in Chicago.

The motion asked that those railroads not using the Union and Northwestern stations file detailed reports on the sums of money necessary to modernize existing stations or construct new stations and that amount necessary to electrify passenger terminals through suburban zones to within 50 miles of Chicago. It also demanded a report on arrangements consummated or under consideration on the construction of new terminals.

The action was brought by The Tribune company last Aug. 8. The complaint charged that the present service is improper, inadequate and insufficent. The railroads have filed general denials. In its complaint The Tribune company asked the commission to exercise its administrative power and to proceed with an inquiry rather than to sit as judges between litigants. The complaint stated that the company was appearing in the interests of the public.

Proof from Plaintiff.

"The action is brought in the interests of public service," Attorney Walter declared. "The motion is brought to speed the hearing. I expect to get the burden of the proof from the plaintiff's witnesses and can do so more expeditiously with such an order than through wearisome cross examination.

"We have information that the Chicago and Northwestern railroad has prepared plans for electrification which were approved by the president but voted down by the board of directors who are more interested in eastern affairs. We are also told that the Illinois Central is ready to proceed with the construction of a new terminal except for difficulties in negotiations with other carriers. If we get the information from an order the commission can end the bickering and jockeying to the benefit of every man, woman and child in Chicago and the Chicago community."

Attorney Van Doren interrupted to state that the directors of the Chicago and Northwestern never have considered a plan of electrification. He as general counsel for the road is a member of the board.

"This suit is aimed to compel us to do that which we don't intend to do," he declared.

"The evidence which the complainant asks is not competent. We have made a study of electrification, but the plans are out of date.

"Attorney Walter proposes to have us produce these plans so that he can knock them down as obsolete and provide The Chicago Tribune with columns of good reading. We will be the victims of interested publicity."

Attorney Flannigan objected to the procedure of the case. He stated that since the railroads had entered their answers the next move was for the complainant to offer proof.

Mr. Walter announced that he proposed to file a copy of the complaint before the interstate commerce commission. He suggested that the commission hear the evidence jointly to avoid unnecessary delay.

"It is evident that attorneys for the defense intend to fight every inch of the way and place every obstruction in our path," Mr. Walter said. "I do not ask that they prepare plans. I merely ask that if they have plans let them produce them, if they say they have not I will be satisfied."

In for Long Legal War.

"This is a contest," Attorney Van Doren said. "The North Western is not going to electrify unless compelled to do so. The railroad is not trying to tell The Tribune how to run its paper."

Mr. Flannigan concurred, stating that the litigants are in for a long war. He asked that he be given opportunity to confer with his several clients.

Commissioner Gilbert predicted that the complaint might not be settled within the life of the present commission, but stated that the commission had a duty to begin the action correctly. Chairman Hadley asked the torneys to have lunch together and settle their conflicts with cigars after a full meal.

After luncheon Attorney Walter announced that no agreement had been reached.

Not in Terminal Phase.

"We are not included in the terminal phase of the complaint," said Attorney Van Doren.

"However, we must refuse to agree to turning over what plans we have compiled on electrification to commission and throw them open to avenues of publicity. The press might take the chaff and built it into the sensational. Our problem is a difficult one. We have three roads out of Chicago. We may have decided against a third rail plan without considering trolleys."

Mr. Walter said that the information was necessary to him to prove his case. He stated that The Tribune need not go to the present expense to obtain news and that the action was conceived solely in the interest of the Chicago community.

Chairman Hadley continued the hearing which had been set for Oct. 28 to Dec. 9. He announced that the commission will make a decision on the motion before Nov. 10.

Your Charm and BEAUTY

Soon Fade

—if You Don't Control Your "NERVES"

Leading beauty experts agree that "NERVES" do more to bring lines of age to the face than any other cause.

There is no greater foe to beauty than high-tension "NERVES." Blue—irritable—nervous spells soon rob you of attractiveness. Jumpy, twitchy "NERVES" hasten the lines of age in the face. Nervousness affects the digestive organs—often causing complexion troubles. Then strive as you may with powders, creams and facials, your beauty and charm soon fade.

Don't neglect your "NERVES" if you want to keep that youthful look. Whenever you feel nervous—try this pleasing, harmless Effervescent Drink. Just drop a Dr. Miles' Effervescent NERVINE Tablet into a glass of water. Watch it bubble up like sparkling spring water—then drink it. You will like the way this pleasing Effervescent drink quiets your "NERVES." You will welcome the relaxation and relief.

Miss Geraldine Stickle says:—

"I have been taking Effervescent NERVINE Tablets since last November and certainly have improved a lot. I have not had a nervous spell since I started to take them."

TAX AMENDMENT IS A DECEPTION, OPPONENT SAYS

Official of Manufacturers Attacks Plan.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

"The boldest piece of political deception in the history of the state," was the way in which James L. Donnelly, executive vice president of the Illinois Manufacturers' association, characterized the manner in which the proposed tax amendment is described on the ballot. This amendment, adopted by the special session of the legislature, is to be submitted to the voters on Nov. 4. The form of the amendment as it will appear on the ballot is as follows:

TAX RELIEF AMENDMENT TO THE CONSTITUTION OF ILLINOIS.

PURPOSE OF THE AMENDMENT.

This amendment, if adopted, will give the general assembly the opportunity to redistribute the tax load, to reduce taxes on homes, real estate, and farm land, to classify personal property, and place a tax on intangibles which will not be unjust, as at the present time, but reasonable and fair to all.

YES		For the proposed amendment to sections 1, 2, 9, and 10 or article IX. of the constitution.
NO

Statement Attacks Amendment.

Commenting on the ballot form, Mr. Donnelly said in his statement:

"Although opposed by manufacturers, farmers, retailers, wholesalers, and practically every other group of importance, the principal proponets of the amendment in their efforts to impose their views on the voters have resorted to a cheap device unworthy of ward politics. Probably never before has a misleading, illegal sales argument been incorporated on the ballot itself. They have gone too far. All citizens, whether for or against the amendment, will resent this effort to amend the fundamental law of the state by misrepresentation.

"It is to be hoped that the voters will not be fooled into loading themselves with a new state income tax on their wages, earnings, and business profits, and with other new and additional forms of taxation, by voting for this amendment.

"Large sums of money, a substantial portion of which has come from the taxpayers, have been expended in circularizing the voters by mail, and newspapers are being flooded with propaganda designed to fool the voters into voting for this tax amendment.

Criticizes Governor's Stand.

"During the last week Gov. Emmerson, by three articles in THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, purports to answer the critics of the proposed amendment."

Then Mr. Donnelly replied to the governor, as follows:

"In the Oct. 19 article he dwells upon a false issue, namely: the inequalities of assessment under the general property tax system.

"Does not the governor know that regardless of constitutional provisions and regardless of state income tax laws, or any other additional kind of taxation, the same general property tax system that we have in Illinois is the principal and only major source of revenue in every single state in the United States today?

"More power to tax in legislatures and the addition of new and additional kinds of taxes has not in any other states, nor will it, nor can it in Illinois cure the inequalities of assessment of the general property tax. The evil of inequalities of assessment in the general property tax can only be removed by the correction of the administration of the assessment machinery, a reform that can be accomplished under our present constitution just as well, if not better than, under any amendment to the present constitution.

Forecasts Income Tax.

"In the Oct. 17 article there is an attempt to give the impression that the proposed tax amendment does not involve a state income tax. Every one who was at Springfield during the special session of the general assembly, at which this tax amendment was prepared, knows that the principal moving force behind this tax amendment was that the first thing that is expected to follow its adoption is a state income tax on wages, salaries, and other income of persons and business concerns in Illinois.

"Any one who votes for this tax amendment can be sure that he is voting for a state income tax in Illinois.

"The only other change that has been suggested to come from the adoption of this tax amendment is to give intangibles—stocks, bonds, credits, etc.—a lower rate of taxation than that to be applied to real estate and tangible personal property.

Discusses Kentucky Tax.

"In the Oct. 18th article a comparison is made between the assessed value of intangibles in Kentucky in 1917 under the general property tax law with the assessed value of intangibles in 1930 under the law giving intangibles a lower rate than other property. In that comparison there is left out of consideration the fact that in the 13 years since 1917 the wealth of Kentucky has increased tremendously; and the fact that during the 14 years Kentucky has had its low rate tax on intangibles, only in the last four of those years has it produced as much actual tax revenue from intangibles as did the general property tax back in 1917 when the wealth of Kentucky was so much less than in these later years.

"Nor did the article point out that in Iowa, Montana, Nebraska, Kansas and Vermont, the Iowa rate tax for intangibles has not produced as much tax revenue from intangibles as did the old general property tax, and that in only one state has the low rate tax for intangibles in any year produced a material, if any greater, amount of tax revenue over what the general property tax would have produced from intangibles, and that in every one of those states it has let off stocks, bonds, etc., at a lower rate of taxes than is paid by real estate or other types of property."

DU PONTS BOLT IN DELAWARE TO WET DEMOCRAT

Family Is Divided

Wilmington, Del., Oct. 21.—(AP)—Lammot Du Pont, president of the E. I. Du Pont de Nemours & Co. in a letter today informed United State Senator Daniel O. Hastings, Republican senatorial candidate, that he would support him in the present campaign, although he did not agree with him on the prohibition question. Senator Hastings is being supported by the drys.

Pierre S. Du Pont, chairman of the Du Pont board, and Irenee Du Pont, vice chairman, are supporting former Senator Thomas F. Bayard, the Democratic candidate for senator. Bayard favors the repeal of the eighteenth amendment.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Wilmington, Del., Oct. 21.—[Special.]—Although the business depression hangs like a millstone around the necks of Republican candidates in this as in most other states this year, prohibition repeal is the major theme of campaign oratory in the congressional election in Delaware.

This tiny state is, in fact, a cockpit of the struggle between prohibitionists and anti-prohibitionists over the stake of two votes in congress, one in the senate and one in the house, Delaware having only one congressman. In the fracas party lines are being greatly shattered.

The baronial Du Pont family constituting the most powerful single influence in the state, and its business and political ally, John J. Raskob, chairman of the Democratic national committee, are putting forth a supreme and exceedingly well financed effort to carry Delaware for former Senator Thomas F. Bayard, Democratic nominee for senator.

Du Pont Following Goes Too.

The numerous and rich Du Ponts, who, like Mr. Raskob, are pillars of the Association Against Prohibition have bolted the Republican party again, as they did in 1928, and are taking with them a large following of wet Republicans.

The issue is sharply drawn between Mr. Bayard, standing on the Democratic platform advocating repeal of the eighteenth amendment, and his Republican opponent, Senator Daniel O. Hastings who is bidding for retention in the senate on the dry platform adopted by his party.

Mr. Raskob, who retains a residence in Delaware where he made his fortune, gave his personal attention to the selection of the Democratic candidate. It was Mr. Raskob who entered Mr. Bayard in the contest for the nomination at the eleventh hour when it was supposed that Josiah Marvel, president of the American Bar association, was going to be chosen, virtually without opposition. Neither Mr. Raskob nor the Du Ponts were satisfied with Mr. Marvel and decided to put over Mr. Bayard who assayed the requisite degree of wetness and moreover is one of the family, having married a Du Pont.

Raskob Watches Balloting.

When the Democratic state convention was held Mr. Raskob was on hand, sitting on the platform, and when a secret ballot was taken on the nomination of a candidate for senator it was under Mr. Raskob's watchful eye that the delegates dropped their ballots in the hat. Mr. Bayard won by a comparatively narrow margin and within two months Mr. Marvel died—of a broken heart, his friends said.

Wilmington, the only city of any size in the state, is wet and presumably will be carried by Mr. Bayard. The rural districts from which the famous Delaware applejack is still obtainable are politically dry and are being relied upon by Senator Hastings to pull him through. The Protestant churches, the Anti-Saloon league, and the Ku Klux Klan are working hard to save Mr. Hastings from defeat.

For the benefit of wet Republicans who hesitate to vote the Democratic ticket the Association Against Prohibition organized the Liberal Republican party which nominated Mr. Bayard. The dry Democrats are supporting Senator Hastings directly.

Nye Watching Expenditures.

Rumors are rife that Mr. Raskob and the Du Ponts have a barrel of money for use in the election and Senator Nye, after holding hearings here recently, left one of his principal investigators on the scene to watch proceedings. The Nye committee found that about $40,000 had been expended for Mr. Bayard in the Democratic primary in which 23,000 votes were cast, an expenditure per voter several times greater than Mrs. McCormick's in Illinois, which Senator Nye professed to find so shocking.

The vote of Senator Hastings to confirm the appointment of Judge Parker of North Carolina to the Supreme court is costing him the support of a good many Negroes, a considerable item in a state which is one-sixth of that race. In his speech for Judge Parker in the senate Mr. Hastings stated that he realized he might be sacrificing his political future, but he could not compromise with principle.

In an effort to counteract the loss of Negro voters the Republican managers are distributing literature calling attention to the votes of Mr. Bayard, when in the senate, against provision of a Washington bathing beach for Negroes and against a government loan to the Negro republic of Liberia.

Enlarges on Platform Stand.

Mr. Bayard in his speeches on the prohibition issue enlarges upon the position taken by the Democrats in their platform, which declared:

"Ten years of dearly bought experience has amply proved to every calm thinking person in this country that the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead laws do not and cannot accomplish their expressed intent and purpose. They have utterly failed to do so. On the other hand, there has come into existence solely by reason of the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead laws an attack upon our social, civic, and legal life which bids fair to undermine the stability of our form of government.

"No one class of our people is immune from this assault; it includes all classes and all ages, with a particularly vicious attack upon the very young of both sexes. At a vast cost to the taxpayer nearly every branch of the government has been enlisted in the enforcement of these laws, but conditions continue to grow worse and not better. The experiment of the states surrendering their police powers to the federal government on the subject of sumptuary laws has proved to be a grave mistake and one laden with only evil consequences to the country and all its citizens. This is a condition and not a theory that confronts us. We advocate the repeal of the eighteenth amendment and the return to the several states of the powers surrendered thereunder, believing that the true solution of the problem can and will be worked out by the states themselves. We are absolutely opposed to the return of the saloon in any form."

Cites Difficulty in Amending.

Senator Hasting says he "is not prepared to say that it is impossible to find some better method to control a bad situation than the existence of the eighteenth amendment and the laws now on the statute books," but declares repeal of national prohibition impossible until the forces that enacted the eighteenth amendment are convinced it should be changed.

"It will be remembered," he said, "that thirteen states can prevent the ratification of an amendment. It is possible to select thirteen states that have less than five per cent of the population of the country. Theoretically, at least, all the people in the other thirty-five states, constituting ninety-five per cent, may want the constitution amended but cannot get it done.

"People may think and say what they will about the narrow view that the Christian churches of this country take upon certain important subjects, but I think a careful study of the history of the amendments that have been adopted will convince all thoughtful people that no controversial amendment to the federal constitution has yet been adopted that did not have back of it the great masses of the Christian people of the nation. You may talk as much as you like about disrespect for the law undermining the foundation of the country, but the advocates of this cause will not be able to convince millions of religious people of the country that that kind of patriotism is as important to them as their kind of religion.

"I am using this amendment merely as an illustration in my effort to point out how difficult it is to amend the constitution, and how nearly impossible it is to amend it in any way affecting a moral question unless and until the moral forces of the nation are practically united upon the subject."

SUE TO DETERMINE WHO IS ENTITLED TO HOBO HOW'S $300,000

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 21.—(AP)—Suit to determine who is entitled to the $300,000 trust estate created for the benefit of the late James Eads How, "millionaire hobo," was filed in St. Louis Circuit court today by Frank B. Coleman as attorney for former Judge Jesse McDonald and the St. Louis Union Trust company.

The suit is directed against How's brother, Louis How of New York, and Holger Sorenson How, 13, of Los Angeles, Cal., reputed to be an adopted son of James Eads How, who died at Staunton, Va., last July.

The trustees aver they are wholly impartial and disinterested as to whether either claimant is entitled to the trust estate and are only concerned in doing their duty as trustee under the will of the late Mrs. Eliza How, mother of James and Louis, who created the trust. The family was a famous one of St. Louis in ante-bellum days, and How's maternal grandfather, James B. Eads, constructed Eads bridge across the Mississippi river here.

NURSES' FINGERS PRESSED TO VEIN SAVE GIRL'S LIFE

Belleville, Ill., Oct. 21.—(AP)—Nurses at St. Elizabeth's hospital, in two hour relays with finger pressed tightly against the external jugular vein of Josephine Jarvis, 9, of Lebanon, Ill., probably have saved the little girl's life.

Flying glass from the smashed windshield of the Jarvis car severed the vein and a branch of the facial artery yesterday morning. The flow of blood from the jugular wound could be stopped only by pressing a finger against it and nurses did this from the time the girl was rushed to the hospital until 6 p. m. yesterday evening. Doctors today said she probably would recover.

CONSUMPTION OF ALCOHOL DROPS 50% IN GERMANY

BERLIN, Oct. 21.—(AP)—The German government's worry over a fifty per cent reduction in the consumption of alcohol in Germany since last year was disclosed today by a report in the official Reichsanzeiger.

The report shows that the government's alcohol monopoly closed the year with a large deficit, leaving the government puzzled over what to do with the surplus spirits on hand.

The government's balance sheets show that 356,000 hectoliters [slightly less than 84,000,000 gallons] were consumed between Oct. 1, 1929, and Sept. 30, 1930, as compared with 624,000 hectoliters in the same period of the previous year.

MAKING HEADWAY AGAINST GANGLAND.

George Barker, criminal and racketeer, who has crashed through law and avoided punishment for years, has been returned to Pontiac to serve out a sentence from which he had escaped. The methods of escape must have confirmed gangland in its opinion of the negligibility of justice and the weakness of jails.

Until a few months ago Barker was entrenched in his strange liberty and his license to make criminality a gainful pursuit without interference by public authority. The forms and processes of law had been turned against it, but Judge McGoorty found the loose ends of the web which had been thrown over punitive justice, and Barker, suddenly losing his immunity, was returned to prison. The record of the transactions by which he exchanged his position from one of an imprisoned felon to one of security in evildoing is being examined, and as a result there may be a public understanding of the reasons for the success of crime and the failure of law. This case presents one instance of advantage gained in the efforts now being made to free the city from its blight of criminality.

There is other progress to be noted. Danny Stanton, with his driver, Edgar Smith, implicated in the murder of the gangster and pander, Zuta, in Wisconsin, has lost various stages of his fight to avoid trial for murder in Wisconsin. Papers for his extradition to the neighboring state have been granted by Illinois, and his attorneys are in their last line of defense. Bugs Moran, one of the most conspicuous figures in gangland, has been arrested in Lake county by State's Attorney Smith on the vagrancy charge used by Judge Lyle to deal with characters who have wealth without honest means of acquiring it. Many of the best known personages of the criminal world have been treated to this procedure, and although it does not bring them to account for their real crimes it treats them as their demonstrable position in the community justifies.

The city has become an uncomfortable and, in fact or in prospect, a dangerous place for solvent ruffians who hitherto had found it a safe one. Many are hiding out, probably with the idea that presently it will not be too hot for them to return. The forces which have obtained some marked advantages thus far must not permit that to happen.

There are episodes which will repay thorough examination as revealing the methods and connections of criminality. One is the disappearance of the list of criminals from a desk in police headquarters. What connection was there? Another is the transfer of two notorious thieves from jail to the Oak Forest infirmary, where they could not be locked up. They walked away. Pickpockets, the vermin of criminality, prey upon people who can ill afford to lose the money stolen from them. They frequently are women of small means and wage earners. Real deprivation and unhappiness is caused by the depredations of organized thieves who have incredible protections from the law. It is a protected racket. What connection does this Oak Forest infirmary incident show?

Continued interest and continued application of methods thus far tried out with considerable success are needed. With the vagrancy law, the gun law, which, as Judge David pointed out, can be used for penitentiary sentences when the offender has a convict's record; the honest administration of bail laws, and with no letup in the determination to break the connection between politics and crime, government and gangs, gangland may be definitely stamped with the public will for its extermination.

AN OUTER DRIVE TO EVANSTON.

The north shore park board has shown commendable foresight in planning an extension of the outer drive and park northward from Devon avenue to Evanston. The jurisdiction of the Lincoln park board ends at Devon avenue. Thus far all the lake front park on the north side has been built by the Lincoln park commissioners. Their work in this connection is approaching completion. Each year finds the dredges at work closer to Devon avenue.

In the interest of motorists and of the growing population in Rogers Park it is of the utmost importance that the park be extended to the city limits. A tentative plan with this object in view has been prepared by Mr. Joshua D'Esposito as consulting engineer for the north park district. He proposes the creation of a park 1,000 feet wide, amply provided with beaches, playgrounds, and driveways, extending a mile and a half along the shore. Subways would be built under the drives to promote safety and arrangements would be made to avoid traffic delays.

In its fundamentals the plan is sound and should be adopted. We suggest, however, that the park board give thought to the question of the width of the park area. A thousand feet is less than a fifth of a mile. One of the principal items of cost in reclaiming land from the lake is the driving of a barrier of piles inside which sand is pumped. The area of the park could be doubled at nothing like double the cost by driving the piles twice as far out as is contemplated.

The interest shown by the north park commissioners is significant. Thus far the work of reclaiming the lake front has been done entirely by the south park and Lincoln park boards, but the time is fast approaching when other municipal corporations must carry it on. Eventually we may expect to see a parkway extending all the way to Milwaukee. The ready acceptance of the general plan by the officials who will have to carry it on is promising for the future.

LEGAL FURY UNDER VOLSTEAD.

Just as the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead act have bred violence among criminals who profit by violating the law, they have also bred violence among zealots who try to enforce it. The fury of enforcement has fallen chiefly upon obscurities not engaged in the major criminality produced by the law. The chief actors in crime have gathered wealth in security. They have murdered their competitors in business and have corrupted agencies of law, making winter homes for themselves in Florida and summer homes on the northern lakes. Prohibition has satisfied itself by turning excesses of punishment upon obscure persons whose offenses were trivial and in whose interest no influence was engaged.

Thus the country has had the spectacle of great criminals engaged in many felonies and living in great public display and obvious security, while law enforcement whipped itself into a fury in treating almost negligible offenders with strange and unusual punishments. The Jones 5 and 10 law is a national example of this, expressing as it does the ungovernable exasperation of the fanatics and their desire to see some one suffer for opposition to their will.

This example was given also in the life term law of Michigan, under which a number of petty offenders, in no way connected with the great Michigan international and interstate rum trade, were sent to prison for the rest of their days as habitual criminals when habitual murderers were killing each other in Detroit over liquor shipments from Canada.

The furious fanaticism was satisfied with this situation, pulling wretches out of the alleys for life imprisonment and remaining indifferent to the red-handed criminality which was making sport of the laws of the state. This same fanaticism applauded every killing reported by the enforcement agents when some petty bootlegger, home brewer, or still watcher attempted to scramble out of his predicament and was brought down by the quick trigger shooters who seldom missed a little violator and never found a big one.

The truculent and swaggering mood of prohibition not only regarded such instances as justified sacrifices to sumptuary law but was unmoved when the same quick triggers made victims of innocent and reputable citizens. There never was any regret expressed, and in the lack of it there was evidence that fanaticism regarded the incidents as trivial and to be disregarded in the progress of a noble experiment.

The American people have seen their communities filled with crime and their prisons filled with persons whose punishment made no impression upon the disorders of society because it seldom touched a major offender. This scene gives them their present political issue definitely raised in campaigns in New York, New Jersey, Illinois, and many other states. The cause of the excesses of both lawlessness and law is the eighteenth amendment and its offspring, the Volstead act.

THE THREAT OF ARMAMENT.

A statement of American policy in the President's recent address before the American Legion is susceptible of an interpretation which it will be given by opponents of preparedness. It seems, on casual reading, at any rate, to indorse the fallacy popular with pacifists and other opponents of preparedness—namely: that the measure of aggressiveness or belligerency of a nation is proportionate to its organized force. The President said: "The maintenance of respect" [for our nation and its interests] "requires that we sustain a preparedness for defense that is impregnable, yet that contains no threat of aggression."

Now, the might of an armanent is one thing, and the policy and spirit which controls it is another. It is impossible to maintain preparedness for the defense of a huge continent, the richest and one of the most numerous nations on earth, without maintaining an organized force which contains potentially a threat of aggressiveness from the viewpoint of other nations. It may be used aggressively at any moment. It is our policy, our national disposition toward the use of force, which will determine whether it is really a threat or not.

The pacifist assumption is that the possession of armament is so great a temptation to use it aggressively or unjustly that we cannot resist it. No account is taken of the ingrained character of the American people, which is militant under provocation or threat, but profoundly pacific and nonmilitary. No account is taken of the fact that other nations are heavily armed and sometimes aggressive in policy. The pacifist assumption is invariably that we cannot afford to trust ourselves with arms and will contribute to international peace by being unable to use force in any circumstances.

The President obviously does not hold to these theories and favors what in his judgment would be a preparedness that would make us impregnable. But the fear lest an adequate army and navy may be interpreted elsewhere, as it frequently is and always will be, as evidence of a will to aggressiveness ought not to be permitted to obstruct the building up and maintenance at all times of a system of defense commensurate with our needs and worldwide interests.

WE HAVE NEW NATIONAL PARK.

[Bloomington (Ill.) Pantagraph.]

Great Smoky Mountains National park is at last formally in existence, title to the land donated by North Carolina and Tennessee having been accepted by the federal government. With this acceptance, a new and magnificent playground for the people of the United States is available.

This whole national park idea, when you stop to think of it, is one of the finest things our government has done. Year after year, tourists by the thousands travel across the country to visit these great stretches of unspoiled natural beauty. The Great Smoky region fully deserves its inclusion in the list, and because of its proximity to the great eastern centers of population can be counted on to draw enormous crowds during the next few years.

TYPHOID FEVER.

A SEARCH of the medical literature, as indexed in the index volumes of the Journal of the American Medical Association, the Quarterly Cumulative Index, and the Index Medicus extending as far back as 1910, has failed to disclose any typhoid fever proved to be caused by bottled beverages, or even by bottled waters not classed as beverages. It has happened that a bottled water supply has been condemned because of its bacterial count, or because of the presence of colon group bacilli, but not even these specimens have been proved to have caused typhoid fever.

In the latter years condemnations on bacterial counts and colon bacillus in even bottled waters are becoming rare. A review of the annual reports of typhoid fever in American cities, published by the Journal of the American Medical Association, and the editorials, comments, and articles relating thereto for the same period, does not show bottled waters or bottled beverages as a cause of typhoid fever. These reports are collected from official reports, some in reply to correspondence and some as published. Several of these reports include discussion of the causes of the disease in the respective cities. In no review is there reference to bottled beverages or waters.

It is interesting to note the great decline of water and milk as etiological factors, and the increase in importance of carriers, of vacations, and of oysters. Bottled waters escape notice.

The weakness of this argument lies in the fact that in from 32 to 60 per cent of the cases of typhoid fever, in some half dozen large cities with the best developed health departments, the cause of the disease is not discovered.

TREATING TANTRUMS.

W. D. writes: Is there anything you can suggest for tantrums? My sister, who works every day, at times makes our lives unlivable. We have tried everything in the line of talking, ignoring, and correcting, but it has no effect. Those spells are becoming worse and when anything displeases her she simply goes wild, having no regard for the family, callers, or any one who may be within hearing. I might add that she is the youngest of a large family and has not been through the hardships that we older children have. Just as soon as she has relieved herself by saying whatever may enter her mind she is the most pleasing person in the world and expects to enter into conversation and entertain, etc., when the family is too horrified or even disgusted to even talk.

REPLY.

Have your sister examined for her sanity. The probability is that hers is a personality disturbance rather than an insanity. Tantrums is related to hysteria and explosive anger. It is akin to that emotion which makes a new born baby yell when his arms are held against his body, or when his leg work is restrained. The only cure is training.

FAT AND SWIMMING.

A. L. writes: In regard to a recent letter from Mrs. K. W. T., I am going to write you of my experience with fat and swimming. Although I am only seventeen, about three months ago I weighed 170 ponds. I became interested in life saving, passed the tests for junior and senior and when finished discovered, much to my joy, that I had lost twenty pounds. Also, I have entered three or four swims. I agree with you that most fat athletes are the swimmers.

BATHING AFTER MEALS.

Miss H. F. writes: Is it harmful in any way to take a warm or hot bath immediately after eating? I realize the danger of swimming shortly after meals, especially in cold water, but I cannot see how a bath would be harmful, but I have been told that it is. If it is, why is it?

REPLY.

Bathing soon after eating is not advised. This might not apply to a very light meal. The rule applies to warm bathing also.

Chicago, Oct. 18.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—If during a raid by federal agents in search of narcotics both narcotics and stolen goods are found, 1. What claim, if any, have the rightful owners to the stolen goods?

2. If the owners have a claim to such goods, what legal steps should be taken to recover same? H. E. M.

FURNISH DOWNSPOUT.

Chicago, Oct. 20.—[Friend of the People.]—A neighbor next to my property has a rain pipe that is not properly connected. When it rains all the water runs into my basement, causing my tenant to move. Is there no law to force the neighbor to repair his gutters? T. W.

An inspector was assigned to make a thorough investigation, which resulted in the following notice being served on the owner: "Provide downspout properly connected with gutter and sewer for north side of building." This matter will be followed up until compliance with the foregoing order has been obtained. ARNOLD H. KEGEL, Commissioner of Health.

WHEN BANK IS BANKRUPT.

Chicago, Oct. 19.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—An Illinois state bank goes into the hands of a receiver. 1. Are payments to all depositors made on the same basis?. 2. Do checking accounts receive preference over savings accounts? If so, in what proportion? A. H. M.

1. Yes.
2. No. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

NOT INCOME.

Chicago, Oct. 18.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Mr. A is an owner of a six apartment building and has rents coming in from five flats. A lives in the other flat. When A files his income tax does he have to figure the rent of his flat or just the income of the five flats? B claims he does have to figure his rent in. S. N.

The rent on his own apartment is not regarded as income.

LITTLE ROLLO UP TO DATE.

See that man in the vacant lot teaching his son to hammer hard with an ax at a poor, unoffending object?

The child is also being taught to kick the unoffending object and hate it with a terrible hate.

What is said unoffending object? And who are the two people we are now observing?

Ah, the two people we see before us are little Rollo and his papa. The object of their wrath is a brand new toy bank that Aunt Laura gave little Rollo for a birthday present.

"Kill the darned thing," says Rollo's papa, pleasantly. "People who save are keeping money out of circulation and making these hard times and causing all the unemployment we have today. Soak 'er again."

"But," says little Rollo, "I had thirty-eight bright red pennies saved up which I was going to put into the little bank, and then when I was a grown man I could take that money with the compound interest which had accrued in that time and buy a fine farm, on which my parents and myself could live happily ever after."

"It's the hooey!" says Rollo's papa. "Take your thirty-eight cents and buy a pair of socks, or a bunch of hot dogs, or ice cream, or soda water. Anything at all; just so you spend it and get it in circulation."

"But," says little Rollo, "my Aunt Laura says that a penny saved is a penny earned——"

"Applesauce," says Rollo's papa, "likewise boloney; a penny saved is a penny kept away from the merchant and causes him to lay off two clerks, both of whom are the sole support of their families."

"And I've often been told," says little Rollo, "to take care of the dimes and the dollars will take care of themselves."

"Prune juice!" says Rollo's papa, "likewise old stuff."

"And, furthermore," quothes little Rollo, "I have been often adjured by my kind teacher in Sunday school that if we waste what we have then some day we'll wish we had the crust which once we threw away."

"Forget it," says Rollo's papa, "everything's different now. Bring out the money you've been hiding in the tin can under the kitchen stove. Put it in circulation and then Prosperity will leap from behind that corner and give three rousing cheers."

"But," says little Rollo, "it seems to me, fond parent, that what you say is against the wisdom of the ages and is not founded on sound economic principles. I shall still insist on putting my thirty-eight pennies in what is left of the battered bank."

"Likell!" says Rollo's papa. "If you will not obey me and buy yourself three lollypops, two ice cream cones, and a pair of 5 & 10 cent store ice skates I shall put it in circulation at the nearest speakeasy for as much of a drink as it will buy. Father knows best!"

Whereupon Rollo's papa, clutching tightly the thirty-eight cents, vaulted the fence and sped lightly away.

FEAR.

Fear is furtive,
Small and thin
When it first comes Creeping in.

Frail and gentle,
Weak and slow—
We can kill it
With a blow.

If we let it
Sneak its way,
It will gain more
Every day

'Til it takes each
Inch of space
With its dark and Leering face.

R. H. L.: Whatever you may do to this offspring of mine I shall still maintain that you, Will Rogers, and Henry Ford should run this great democracy because of your superior mental powers. You are entirely welcome, and if you do read this or if only some of your lesser minions read it I send you previous thanks. GRACE GOLDEN.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

OCTOBER 22, 1914.

LONDON.—Warships from the British fleet are taking a large part in the operations of the allies in the district along the Belgian and French coasts. Reports brought to London by arrivals from Calais said that the warships had bombarded the city of Ostend and that their fire had caused the Germans, who had taken the city, to abandon it. The war news bureau refuses to confirm the reports but permitted their publication. Meanwhile the great battle on land goes on without definite gains for either side. The French official report admits that the Germans are still taking the offensive on the line of Nieuport, Dixmude, and La Basse. It is declared, however, that all their attacks have been repulsed.

WASHINGTON.—The Belgian legation issued a statement in defense of Belgium's denial of agreement to aid the allies. The statement says: "There has never existed any military agreement between Belgium and England, either defensive or offensive, such as the German government asserts to have been in existence since 1906."

LONDON.—After diplomatic negotiations extending over several weeks, in which Walter Hines Page, American ambassador, acted as intermediary between Belgium, England, and Germany, an agreement has been reached by which the starving Belgians will be fed by an American commission composed of American residents in London and Brussels and headed by Herbert C. Hoover of California.

CHICAGO.—Wilbur Glenn Voliva, overseer of Zion City, where there are ten or a dozen cases of smallpox, made this announcement: "If the state authorities come up and try to vaccinate us, we'll take shotguns and blow 'em to hell." So far as could be learned not a person in the town has been vaccinated.

OCTOBER 22, 1900.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Former Secretary of State John Sherman of Ohio died early this morning. At the close of a life of 77 years he left a career of statescraft which had entered into all phases of public service. At the age of 19 he was a rodman on the Ohio canal; at 32 he was a member of congress; at 35 he was the Republican leader of congress; at 38 he was a United States senator; at 54 he was secretary of the treasury; at 58 he again was a United States senator; and at 74 he was secretary of state. He retired from the cabinet in the spring of 1898. As his brother, William Tecumseh Sherman, shared with Grant and Sheridan the highest place among the military men of the passing generation so John Sherman stood in civic life with Seward, Sumner, Evarts, and Blaine.

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Württemberg.—Another trial of Count Zeppelin's airship was made today, resulting in a series of successful evolutions. The airship, with Count Zeppelin aboard, ascended to an altitude of five-eighths of a mile.

OCTOBER 22, 1880.

CLEVELAND, O.—Gen. Garfield, in an interview with the Cleveland Herald, pronounces the so-called letter from himself to H. L. Morey, in which he is made to indorse cheap Chinese labor, a forgery pure and simple. He declared he never knew such a man as Morey, and the whole tenor of the forged letter is contrary to every sentiment Gen. Garfield has ever expressed. About 1,200 veterans, mostly from this county, visited the Republican candidate at his home in Mentor today.

BOSTON, Mass.—Diligent inquiry in Lynn, Mass., supposed home of H. L. Morey, to whom Gen. Garfield is reported to have written, reveals that no such man is known in that city.

ATHENS.—The king of the Hellenes, in his speech at the opening of the chamber, caused great excitement and enthusiasm by his utterances as to the determination of Greece to effect a revision of her frontiers. The speech is regarded as a distinct declaration of war against Turkey. The secret of King George's boldness is rightly ascribed to the British support which he has recently received. Public faith here in Mr. Gladstone and his eastern policy is unabated.

REFLECTIONS.

Chicago, Oct. 19.—It seems to me that any corporation whose profits run into the millions of dollars which cannot bear its share of sacrifice in times of depression, but must needs destroy human beings and human homes rather than face the loss of a few miserable dollars, has no justification for existence and should be boycotted by all decent and right thinking people.

Further, I am sure many will agree with me that after a man or woman has spent years of faithful service in the employ of any individual or corporation, in many cases to the extent that age or lack of training in any other line would preclude the possibility of their obtaining employment elsewhere, that individual or corporation owes just as much obligation to that employé to see that he or she continues in gainful employment as the employé ever owed in loyalty to them. And it should be made unlawful in a case of that kind, where no drastic necessity exists, to discharge such an employé; and old age pensions should be made compulsory. W. C.

MILITARY TRAINING FOR THE JOBLESS.

Chicago, Oct. 20.—Pacifists notwithstanding, why couldn't a very large portion of the unemployed be taken into the military and naval service for six months or so and receive a course of instruction similar to that conducted each summer by our C. M. T. C. camps or each year by certain universities' R. O. T. C. units? S.

FOR THE DOLE.

Oak Park, Ill., Oct. 19.—With all respect and appreciation of THE TRIBUNE's present good work in trying to relieve unemployment by an extension of the usual charity methods, it will not do. It is, and will be, pitifully inadequate. It puts the burden of giving, that should be borne by all, upon the willing few; and it puts upon those temporarily relieved the greater stigma of receiving personal charity.

In our accident insurance laws we recognize the principle that the victim should not bear the entire burden, and the innocent victims of this great economic disaster cannot be left to bear all the suffering. Give it whatever name you like, but government relief, equitably distributed, is needed now and is the only solution of our immediate problem. J. W. FARR.

CHURCHES FOR THE HOMELESS.

Wilmette, Ill., Oct. 20.—While going over in my mind the problem of caring for the destitute unemployed, a thought came to me which I am now passing on. Why not open the downtown churches of the various denominations for a place of shelter each night? The churches could be properly equipped with caretakers, made snugly warm, and what comfort it would bring to those poor fellows who have been sleeping outdoors! Incidentally what better use could be made of our churches than bringing comfort to our fellow men? Let these beautiful edifices protect the homeless and shivering ones from the icy blasts and the God for whose honor and worship they were erected will be indeed glorified.

Also what an opportunity to impress upon the minds and hearts of those thus sheltered that Christianity is real, practical, and ever ready to open wide its doors to suffering humanity. L. W. L.

TO RAISE MONEY.

Elmhurst, Ill., Oct. 20.—As an addition to the employment relief fund, may I suggest that the operators of loop office buildings who flood the outside of their buildings with lights every night keep their buildings dark one night each wee. and turn over to charity the amount of money which the "juice" for that night would cost? CHARLEY STOCKER.

THE SALOON.

Urbana, Ill., Oct. 14.—Gov. Roosevelt and ex-Gov. Smith have said repeatedly that the saloon must not be allowed to return. Such a statement implies that the saloon has been a vicious social phenomenon in American life and that all good citizens should unite in an endeavor to suppress it. It also implies that the eighteenth amendment has been effective in suppressing the saloon. To avoid such a conclusion a well known opponent of the amendment has written me:

"The saloon has in no wise been suppressed by the eighteenth amendment save in name. That name has been changed from saloon to speakeasy, and the institution itself has been multiplied manyfold."

What is there to prevent any state from passing laws for the suppression of the speakeasy? Is any one so naive as to believe that the states would do this effectively if the right to control the manufacture and sale of alcohol were returned to them? W. A. NOTES.

CALDWELL PRESERVE.

Edgebrook, Ill., Oct. 13.—I would like to know how and why the name of the Caldwell forest preserve was changed to that of John F. Smulski. All this preserve in Edgebrook was given to Billy Caldwell by the government for his services to the government during the Indian trouble. The name Caldwell has historical connections with it and should remain the name of the preserve, while that of Smulski has no connection whatsoever with it. The people in Edgebrook and the territory surrounding the preserve knew nothing of this change, and I with them. GEORGE D. STEINER.

OPEN BRIDGES.

Chicago, Oct. 9.—This morning at 7:45 o'clock, when our elevated train reached the Canal street bridge we had to wait in order to allow the boat (Gilbert) to pass through.

What I would like to know is this: Are the bridges supposed to open at that early hour for the boats? If they are not, what is the penalty for those who violate a city council rule and who pays it, the bridge tender or boat owner? LUCILE ERICKSEN.

ONE MAN BUSES.

Chicago, Oct. 9.—It is a mystery to me why the bus riding public does not protest against the one man buses. Aside from the fact that the innovation works considerable hardships on the patrons, it also deprives some chap of a job when jobs are all too scarce. Why should the bus company, whose business goes on regardless of whether we have prosperity or not, economize at the expense of its workmen and the public? BUS RIDER.

FOUR SUBWAY ISSUES DECIDED, SAYS FAHERTY

Public Hearing Is Set for November 3.

Certain essential features of subway design have been decided, after a fashion, and President Faherty of the board of local improvements announced his intention yesterday to hold a public hearing for the State street subway on Nov. 3 and have an ordinance in the city council on Nov. 5.

In the meantime, the necessary resolution must be passed by the board. This must describe the subway, estimate its cost, and give other information.

The advisory engineers on subways reported orally to the board yesterday their decisions on four basic points. On the grade of the south decline of the subway under the river the advisory engineers were unanimous. Other decisions were by a vote of three to two, George M. Wisner, chairman, David A. Wallace, and Edward J. Noonan being in the majority and R. F. Kelker and George C. Lenth in the minority.

Differ on Platform Width.

By that process they recommended subway platforms 24 feet wide. Robert Ridgway, chief consulting engineer—who is in charge of New York subway design—said that he thought 20 feet would be enough and that 22 feet would be ample. Faherty said they would proceed on the theory that the width would be 22 feet unless Messrs. Wisner, Wallace, and Noonan can justify 24 feet by Nov. 3.

By the same 3 to 2 vote the engineers decided that certain sections of the subway shall be built by tunneling. The preliminary plans prepared by Maj. Kelker assumed that construction would be by open cut. Mr. Ridgway did not express his opinion because of lack of time since advisory engineers had reached their decision. Faherty said: "We will proceed on the open cut theory at present in preparing the resolution.

Favor Harrison Connection.

The majority decided that the State street connection with the west side subway shall be in Harrison street, while the minority favored Polk street. Faherty suggested that the design be left optional, but Attorney George Mason insisted it must be settled. Faherty left the connection in Harrison street.

Mr. Noonan, who is engineer for the railway terminal committee, said that he does not believe there will be any new south side railway terminal stations built in the next 10 years.

Albert J. Schafmayer, chief engineer of the board of local improvements, said that no estimate of the cost of the subway had been made. He explained: "We have not had sufficient information on which to make an estimate. Some of the important decisions have just been made."

Mr. Faherty had a resolution ready. Attorneys Mason and Joseph Sullivan insisted that they had not had time to examine it. Both suggested that it lacks the description of property to be taken for the subway, and therefore fatally defective.

ENVOYS OF INDIA ACCUSE BRITISH OF BEING "COOL"

'Treated as Inferiors,' They Complain.

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 21.—One of the most important things to Indians is "izzat," which is the equivalent to the Chinese "face," and Indian delegates who have arrived in London for the round table conference which will open Nov. 12 are already complaining that they have lost "izzat" by being treated as inferior to the delegates to the imperial conference now being held here.

The first trouble arose at Dover, where they were subjected to severe customs examinations. Then, on their arrival at Victoria station in London, they were received only by the private secretary of Wedgwood Benn, secretary of state for India. They believe Prime Minister MacDonald and the secretary of state should have come to meet them personally.

Hindus Enter Complaint.

The government explanation is that they were treated exactly as members of the Indian government who are not guests of the nation but who, if distinguished, would have been received by a representative of the secretary of state and given assistance in finding quarters.

The Hindus are also complaining that the princes and Moslems, with the assistance of the British government, are trying to have the constitution of the provincial governments settled before the central government of India is discussed.

The Hindus see in this a British plot to minimize the importance of the central government by giving all the powers to the provincial governments, leaving the central government a mere shadow without any power. The Hindus, as the most vocal and compromising of the active revolutionary elements, are likely to take the lead in the conference discussions, although they represent a minority in all India.

About tweed topcoats . . . things you never knew

Some of our topcoats are made of Harris Tweeds. The wool is hand-clipped from hand-washed sheep that roam the moors of Harris and Lewis Islands in Scotland.

In tiny cottages lovely girls and grim grandmothers spin the wool on foot-worked wheels. The dyes they use are not all the synthetic concoctions of chemists. For their browns they gather the Wall Lichen with its yellow flowers. Green they find in the Iris or heather growing in shady places and pulled just before flowering time. Even the soot from their peat fire chimneys is part of their yellow dye.

Hand looms weave the cloth. Its characteristic nap is felted by a tedious hand process augmented by the stamping and kicking of the bare feet of young girls as they keep time to a song . . .

No machine ever invented can produce this cloth with its hand-born wear and weather qualities that are perfect for topcoats. Come and see these and our full line of topcoats in Raglan and other styles.

6 HOUR DAY FOR RAILROAD MEN TO BE AGITATED

Cleveland, O., Oct. 21.—(AP)—A movement to bring about a six hour working day in American rail transportation industry will be inaugurated in Chicago Nov. 12, when 700 representatives of seven labor organizations will meet to consider unemployment relief.

Representatives of all railroad labor groups in the United States and Canada will attend the conference.

The six hour day campaign is to follow the movement by which the eight hour day came into effect, it was understood. The latter movement was climaxed in 1916 by passage by congress of the Adamson bill just before a threatened strike of the "Big Four" brotherhood was scheduled to go into effect.

Establishment of the eight hour day in the railroad industry by congressional action in 1916, was followed by its general adoption. The likelihood was seen that the railroad unions were now leading the way toward possible general adoption of the six hour day.

Calling of the Chicago conference was announced by David B. Robertson, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen. He said that it would also include the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, Order of Railroad Conductors, the Switchmen's Union of North America, American Train Dispatchers' union, and order of railroad telegraphers.

Other matters of interest to railroad employés and the industry as a whole will be taken up, Robertson said.

Urge U. S. to Ease Passport Rules for Jewish Widows

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Oct. 21. — New passport regulations making it easier for Jewish widows to enter the United States to perform the ancient Hebrew rite known as chalitza are being urged by both American and French Jewish leaders, it is learned here.

Congressman Hamilton Fish Jr. recently made a request to the state department asking easier immigration facilities for Jewish widows wishing to remarry, but who, under the orthodox law, must first offer themselves to their late husband's oldest brother, even if they must cross the ocean to find him. It is understood that Mr. Fish acted upon the request of a delegation of American rabbis.

Many Seeking Passports.

At the present time there are a great number of Jewish widows with brothers-in-law in America, whom they are compelled to meet before remarrying, if they do not want to transgress the orthodox law.

The state department has instructed consuls to use their own judgment in cases of this kind to determine whether a request for a passport is bona fide or merely a trick to escape immigration regulations. This leaves consular officials in somewhat of a quandary.

It has been suggested to consular officials in Paris that they use the old orthodox test of asking the widow to expose her head, as some orthodox Jewesses still adhere to the ancient custom of having their hair clipped upon marrying.

"The custom of cutting a bride's hair is dying out," Rabbi Abraham Bak, professor of theology at the Rabbinical college in Paris, said; "and I suppose even in eastern Europe very few girls are doing it."

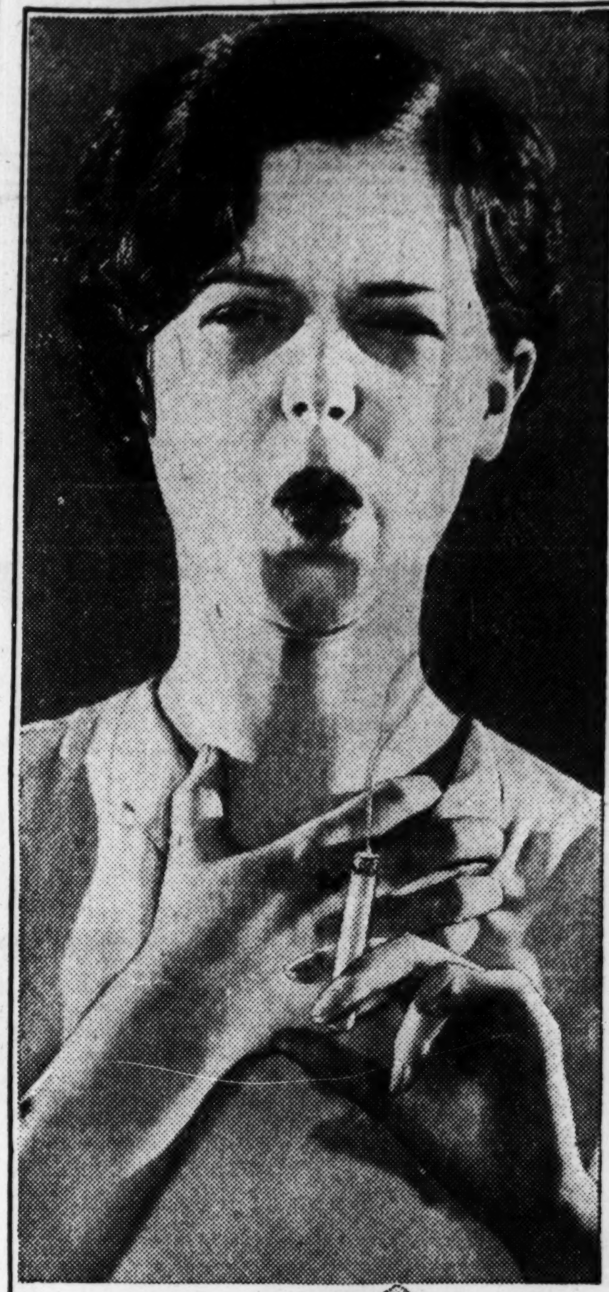
OPINIONS HERE DIFFER.

Rabbi Elazer Reuven Muskin of the Beth Hamedrosh Hagodel synagogue, the first orthodox Jewish church in Chicago, founded 69 years ago, last night confirmed the dispatch that American rabbis are attempting to ease immigration regulations for widows attempting to reach the United States for the rite of chalitza.

"According to the orthodox law," he explained, "a widow must be freed from bondage by the eldest brother of her late husband, even if he lives in another land, but the Jewish code does not permit a widow to marry her brother-in-law. Wives still shave their heads if they wish to in Jewish colonies in Poland, Lithuania, Latvia, Austria, and Hungary. It has never been obligatory."

Dr. Louis L. Mann of the Chicago Sinai congregation declared that in the rite of chalitza it is not necessary for a widow to cross the ocean.

"She only presents herself to her brother-in-law when proximity affords it," he said.



She isn't making faces just to be funny,

BRITISH POLICY IN PALESTINE STIRS STORM OF ANGER

Jews and Arabs Join in Protest.

BY HARRY LEVIN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

JERUSALEM, Oct. 21.—The British government's statement yesterday of its policy in Palestine has caused consternation among the Palestine Jews. The streets today resembled a period of panic. Newsboys and newspaper offices were besieged by persons demanding copies of extra editions. The executives of the Jewish agency have called a special meeting to consider what course to follow.

The Arabs were far less excited. The Arab executives refused to make any statement until the full text of the British document is available, but they made no attempt to conceal their dissatisfaction. They point out that the Arabs had been led to understand that immigration and land sales would be stopped for ten years.

Lord Melchett Resigns.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 21.—Protesting against the terms of the British government's Palestine policy as announced yesterday, Lord Melchett (Alfred Mond), noted British industrialist and leader of British Jews, today resigned as chairman of the Jewish agency for Palestine and the Zionist organization. His action follows the resignation yesterday of Dr. Chaim Weizmann, president of the two organizations.

In a letter to Dr. Weizmann announcing his resignation Lord Melchett tonight declares that the government's policy constitutes "an act almost unparalleled in ingratitude and treachery toward a credulous and harassed people, who believed they had found a haven under the broad aegis of the British flag and the guaranteed word of British statesmen."

Propose Home in Syria.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Oct. 21.—A threat to boycott British goods in Palestine and to launch a campaign of passive resistance like Mahatma Gandhi's in India until Great Britain is forced to rescind her decision stopping Jewish immigration was voiced by Zionist leaders here tonight.

Hillel Zlatopolski, vice president of the French Zionist committee and one of the founders of the movement to establish a Jewish home in Palestine, tonight compared the British action to the former kaiser's action in calling the treaty guaranteeing Belgian neutrality a "scrap of paper." He called Jews all over the world to fight Great Britain with every means available.

"If Palestine is closed to us," he said, "we will establish a home under the French flag in Syria. France is traditionally an asylum for exiles and outcasts for all races and has already given proof of a generous and far sighted policy with regard to Jewish immigrants in Syria. For us Syria has almost as many racial and sentimental associations as Palestine."

Warburg Calls it "Betrayal."

New York, Oct. 21.—(AP)—The Jewish Telegraph agency tonight made public a statement by Felix M. Warburg, banker, denouncing the British declaration of policy in Palestine as a "cruel and unfair betrayal," and announcing his resignation as chairman of the administrative committee of the Jewish agency for Palestine.

MISS MASON MAY NOT APPEAR IN OPERA THIS YEAR

Further indication that Miss Edith Mason may not appear with the Chicago Civic Opera company this season appeared yesterday in a report to some of her friends here that Miss Mason will remain in Europe through the winter.

It is recalled that when the list of singers for this season was given out through the official channels of the opera company early in September it did not contain the name of Miss Mason. At the time this occasioned some comment in view of the fact that she has been considered a leading star of the company for several years.

The list as given out does contain the name of Georgio Polacco, conductor for the company and formerly the husband of Miss Mason. The report yesterday was that Miss Mason will not appear this season was accompanied with the report that Mr. Polacco may not appear either.

Polacco and Miss Mason were divorced more than a year ago, Miss Mason subsequently being married to Dr. Maurice A. Bernstein. It was later reported that Miss Mason and Dr. Bernstein were living apart.

Sticks Head in Gas Range; Dies.

Danville, Ill., Oct. 21.—(AP)—Head and shoulders in the oven of a gas range, the body of Mrs. Grace Rawlings, 30 was found today. Her face and the upper part of her body were severely burned. Jets of the range were open.

Authorities expressed belief that Mrs. Rawlings had turned on two of the jets while a third was lighted and that an explosion caused the burns. They could not determine whether death was accidental or self-inflicted.

U. S. SCIENTISTS GET 41 PICTURES OF SUN IN ECLIPSE

Radio Sets Howl as Moon Blots It Out.

NIUAFOU ISLAND, Oct. 22 [Wednesday].—(AP)—Weeks of patient waiting and construction by American astronomers on this little island in the South Pacific were rewarded today when 41 photographs of a total eclipse of the sun were taken successfully. The eclipse and weather were excellent.

The eclipse began at 7:55 a. m. [1:38 p. m., Tuesday, Chicago standard time], became total at 9:09 a. m. [2:52 p. m., Tuesday, Chicago tmie], and ended at 10:31 a. m. [4:14 p. m., Tuesday, Chicago time].

The New Zealand expedition announced its observations of the eclipse also were entirely successful.

Take Coronal Photographs.

The New Zealand expedition confined itself principally to spectographic work, while the American expedition's work ranged from coronal phtography with cameras of various sizes to spectographic and photometric observations.

This island, commonly known as "Tin Can island," because the monthly mail is delivered to its inhabitants in sealed tin cans dropped overboard by passing steamers, was one of the two land spots in the world where the spectacle was visible. No observations of the eclipse were made from the other spot, Nurakita, another lonely south Pacific isle.

Radios Roar and Grind.

San Francisco, Oct. 21.—(AP)—An eclipse of the sun interfered with radio communication over the Pacific ocean today and hours after the phenomenon was to have been observed at Niuafou island in the South Pacific ocean no word had come from American and New Zealand scientists there.

Shortly before 11:38 a. m. Pacific standard time [1:38 p. m. Chicago standard time] when the moon was to pass between the earth and sun, casting a lunar shadow upon isolated Niuafou, radio receiving sets at Honolulu began to roar and grind. Signals which were to have been received from Tutuila, American Samoa, relaying messages from the scientists on Niuafou, were broken and distorted.

The interference continued throughout the period of eclipse and was still strong after the veiling of the sun ended at 2:14 p. m. Pacific time [4:14 p. m. Chicago time].

Radio Experts Puzzled.

New York, Oct. 21.—(AP)—The effect of eclipses of the sun on radio communication is one of the scientific mysteries that awaits solution.

Radio engineers, apprised of the fact that receiving sets at Honolulu acted strangely today, distorting messages about the eclipse, said tonight the effect of eclipses is a puzzle that radio experts have struggled in vain to solve.

START TRIAL OF REALTY MAN AS SLAYER OF GIRL

Washington Agog Over Murder Case.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 21.—[Special.]—The murder trial of Herbert M. Campbell, real estate dealer, charged with raping and slaying Mary Baker, pretty navy department clerk, last April 12 started in District court today with the dismissal of 65 prospective jurors.

During nearly three hours consumed in attempting to qualify jurors a constant procession of men and women filed in and out of the jury box.

The body of Miss Baker, daughter of an Episcopalian minister of Oak Grove, Va., was found beside a culvert on a lonely road near Arlington cemetery. She had been ravished and shot three times, once in the neck and twice in the back.

Five men were successively accused of the murder and all released except Campbell, who became involved when he brought to the authorities a revolver which is alleged to have fired the fatal shots. Previously, one of the other suspects confessed that he and another man spent a night in a Baltimore hotel with Miss Baker and a companion.

Campbell originally asserted that the gun was stolen from him by "a man with a wart on his nose," and returned. Later he admitted this was fabricated. His attorneys now contend that his gun was not used in the shooting, although it has been positively identified by Maj. Calvin Goddard, Chicago ballistics expert. Albert H. Hamilton, Auburn, N. Y., criminologist, has been retained by the defense to testify to the contrary.

Nearly all of the talesmen excused were released because they had scruples against the death penalty or because they had fixed opinions in the case.

NAVY BOARD HAS NEW BUILDING PROGRAM READY

Costs 100 Million a Year as Submitted.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 21.—[Special.]—A new naval construction program calling for the building of sufficient warships to bring the United States up to maximum tonnage levels set by the London naval treaty has been completed by the navy general board and transmitted to Secretary of the Navy Adams, it was learned today.

While secrecy surrounds the exact figures prepared by the board during three months of study of American naval needs, it was learned that the program if adopted would necessitate an annual expenditure of 100 million dollars on new warship construction so long as the London pact remains the guiding factor of this country's naval policy. The expenditure for new warship construction during the last three years has averaged under $50,000,000 annually.

Covers Fourteen Years.

As prepared the revised construction program includes all new construction and all new replacements necessary during the next fourteen years, to the end of 1945, in event the navy is to be built up to the treaty tonnage limits and maintained at that level in up to date ships. Statistics disclose that during that period all American ships, with the exception of two aircraft carriers, the Lexington and Saratoga, 13,000 tons of submarines, and the 8 inch gun cruiser tonnage, built, building, and authorized, will have to be replaced for age.

The board, however, it is understood, does not recommend that this entire program should be included in the new naval authorization bill this fall. It does recommend that at least the first year of such a program should be authorized at once and appropriations provided so that the United States fleet can be started on the road to a treaty navy.

Scope of Full Program.

In event the full fourteen year program were adopted by the President and congress it would contemplate the passage of an authorization bill carrying approximately 850,000 tons of ships, which would cost in the neighborhood of one billion 250 millions. This would be in addition to thirteen 8 inch gun cruisers, one aircraft carrier, and two submarines, now authorized, which will cost about 170 millions to complete.

BRAZIL MASSES MORE TROOPS TO BATTLE REBELS

Revolt Leaders Claim Further Advances.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Oct. 21.—(AP)—With the military situation along the Parana-Sao Paulo frontire inactive because of heavy rains, President Washington Luis is devoting particular attention to the organization of combat forces to take the field soon as possible.

The aviation service has been particularly active during the past week conducting many reconnaisances and bombing insurgent forces whenever possible. The particular purpose of these activities has been to keep the rebel forces disorganized and prevent them from gathering in large numbers.

The state of Minas Geraes was reported quiet, as was the Parana-Sao Paulo frontier and federal patrols said they were unable to make contact with the enemy.

Insurgents Invade Sao Paulo.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, Oct. 21.—Despatches received from Porto Alegre and other sources indicate that the Brazilian revolutionists have succeeded in breaking through the border of the state of Sao Paulo at three separate points.

Travelers who have arrived in Uruguay from Sao Paulo are skeptical of the public's alleged sympathy with the revolutionary cause. Observers say the rebels have a heavy task ahead if the Sao Paulo people, as well as the Sao Paulo troops are antagonistic.

Rebels Claim New State.

PORTO ALEGRE, Brazil, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Brazilian insurgent leaders tonight claimed the large state of Matto Grosso had joined the revolution and a governmental junta had been formed at Cuyaba. Anibal Toledo, the former governor, was said to have been deposed.

The revolutionary military staff has addressed a message to the federal army and people warning them that rebel airplanes soon will cross the Sao Paulo border, but telling them not to be afraid, since the planes "belong to the army of liberation and are solely for military purposes, not intended to strike at defenseless cities."

U. S. Flyer a Prisoner.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Evansville, Ind., Oct. 21.—William Cluthe, 33, son of Dr. and Mrs. Charles F. Cluthe of this city, pilot for the Pan-American Airways, Inc., is a prisoner in Rio de Janeiro, according to a cablegram received by the family today. According to information, he was made a prisoner when he landed his plane in the federal capital Oct. 6 from Porto Rico. No reason is given for his detention.

BANQUET OPENS DINING HALLS OF MART BUILDING

Gov. Harry G. Leslie of Indiana, Rome C. Stephenson, South Bend banker and president of the American Bankers' association, and James Simpson, chairman of Marshall Field & Co., were principal speakers last night at the dedication of the Merchandise Mart restaurants. The banquet was held at the Mart.

Tribute was paid during the evening to Andrew C. Weisburg of South Bend, hotel owner and president of the restaurant concern. The banquet concluded a day of ceremony, marked by a pageant in a wooden cabin built in the lobby of the Mart and modeled after the Wolf Tavern which occupied almost the same spot in 1830. Characters dressed to represent Mark Beaubien, the innkeeper; Mrs. John Kinzie, early Chicago woman, and Indians and trappers.

Last night's banquet was held in the governor's room, one of the five dining halls operated by the restaurant company. In these quarters the company says it can feed 15,000 persons per day, thus claiming the title of the "world's biggest restaurant" in the "world's biggest building."

You Can Save 20%
on Your Automobile Insurance

Automobile insurance is one of the benefits available to members of the Chicago Motor Club. Every year this department returns a cash saving to subscribers.

Last year this return amounted to $711,332.11. Many members save enough to pay their annual tire bills. The Inter-Insurance Exchange always has returned 20% of the amount paid the "exchange" for insurance coverage.

In addition to the cash saving to subscribers, other features will appeal to you. For example, most insurance policies exclude coverage on tires and accessories; yet it is far more likely that a thief will steal your spare tire than that your car will be stolen. The "exchange" does cover accessories and at no additional cost.

The "valued form" policy is still another feature that accounts for the growth of the "exchange." In the event of total loss, you are paid the face value of your policy, the amount upon which you have paid insurance.

The "exchange" settles claims quickly and satisfactorily. Claims are not referred to a distant "higher up." Home office service, and other features explain why insurance sales in 1929 amounted to approximately four million dollars.

A few of the services available to members are:

Free mechanical first aid and towing service at any hour of the day or night.

Travel service, which provides you with maps, logs and the most complete and up to the minute advice on road conditions.

Bail bond service, which guarantees your appearance in traffic violation cases, where a bond not in excess of $100 is demanded.

Accident prevention work, which seeks to cut accidents, especially among school children, by means of safety posters and by fostering school boy patrols.

Home district service, which attends to special conditions around your home, such as seeing to it that refuse is promptly removed.

AGUA CALIENTE MAN THREATENS TO BUY GARDEN

But It's Not Likely Carey Will Sell It.

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 21.—James N. Crofton, secretary and general manager of the gambling, racing and drinking resort at Agua Caliente, Mexico, has come to New York to try to buy the controlling interest in Madison Square Garden. Mr. Crofton is one of three boys who, in the course of one season, built up the greatest gambling business in the world, excluding stock and grain gambling, with an annual turnover and profit exceeding that of the Greeks at Monte Carlo.

At Monte Carlo the dealing is conducted in francs which sell at about thirty for a dollar, retail, and, furthermore, the Agua Caliente syndicate grinds the customers almost all year around.

Made Rickard's Idea Reality.

The other two boys associated with Mr. Crofton are Wirt G. Bowman and Baron Long. All three have been around and about for some years and though there was widespread skepticism when they first announced what they were going to do at Agua Caliente, there is no more doubt now that they have actually built and put into profitable operation the kind of resort that Tex Rickard had in mind for Miami Beach, Fla., where he died abruptly.

At Agua Caliente they run hundreds of slot machines to drain off the small money which the customers receive in change over the bars and faro and roulette tables for the masculine money, as well as birdcages and county fair wheels for the enticement of the lady money, ladies being unusually susceptible to such insidious high percentage speculations.

Conducted Race Lottery.

Last year they conducted a lottery or sweep on the order of the Calcutta sweep in connection with the Agua Caliente handicap, and I am advised that the profit thereon was about $700,000, which is interesting, if accurate, because it is my recollection that the capital prize, won by a Montana miner, was about $85,000. Large numbers of tickets were sold in the United States contrary to the statutes and I have no doubt that the police are investigating and that it will go hard with the culprits if and when they are caught.

It is my advice, also, that a number of moving picture magnates and some performers own stock in Agua Caliente, unknown to Elder Will Hays, who doubtless would discipline them severely for conduct contrary to the high moral tone of the moving picture industry if he should happen to hear about it.

The manner of Mr. Crofton's approach in attempting to buy the controlling interest in the Garden corporation has been such as to suggest that he may not be altogether sincere, but, possibly, tricking the press to obtain publicity preparatory to some other enterprise or perhaps merely to publicize Agua Caliente.

Wrote to Bruen.

Wishing to obtain control of a property commonly and carelessly estimated at $6,000,000, Mr. Bowman wrote a letter to Frank Bruen, the general manager of the firm, a salaried employé and by no means the owner of the house, stating his business and requesting an interview.

This letter, oddly enough if not more so, found its way to the press and, while it is very straightforward, it strikes me as odd that Mr. Crofton did not hop into 35 cents worth of popular priced taxicab, roll up to the Garden, take the elevator to the sixth floor and put the matter up to Mr. Will Carey, the president and one of the controlling stockholders, personally.

Easy to See Carey.

Mr. Carey is as easy to see as the fish in the New York aquarium and keeps longer hours, so naturally a party wonders why one so enterprising as Mr. Crofton should have been so bashful in his approach. Perhaps it is just that he is a country boy from out west, unaccustomed to dealing with New York millionaires, but it does seem peculiar, even so.

Mr. Carey, on his part, is unwilling to sell out at this time, although the Garden stock is now quoted at about seven, and it seems unlikely that the big store will pass to other ownership until he has made some further effort to invigorate the prizefighting industry. However, it is the impression of many persons having to do with the industry that Mr. Carey is temperamentally unsuited for his task, as he is of a trusting disposition and strictly honest, two traits which properly should be held against any candidate for the job he holds.

Should Trick 'Em Back.

When the pugilists trick Mr. Carey he is shocked and annoyed and breaks off relations with them, whereas the only successful way to do is to trick them back. His firm has produced three important heavyweight matches since last Christmas, if it be conceded for the moment that any prize fight can be important, but the two which showed profits were presented in the name of charity, leaving the Garden firm in undisputed possession of the loss on the third one.

A well known financier of the industry points out that the heavyweight prize fighters alone of the entire American business community have refused to revise their prices downward, hav-

Mr. Ringfan Is Told About Simon Pure Amateur Boxing

BY ARCH WARD.

Mr. Julius H. Ringfan, who claims THE TRIBUNE is his sport bible, wants to know if we can't do something about the amateur boxing situation in Chicago. He urges a return to pure amateurism by abolishing all neighborhood clubs which present professionals masquerading as simon pures.

AVERY BRUNDAGE.

We wish we could do something to assist Mr. Ringfan. So does Avery Brundage, president of the Amateur Athletic union. So do Messrs. Clinnin, Getz, and Gardner, who make up the Illinois athletic commission.

While these gentlemen may be reluctant to admit it, they are practically powerless to enforce amateurism as it pertains to boxing. They are in much the same position as the college leader who suspects that all is not on the up and up at a rival school.

In other words, the burden of responsibility is on the athletic commission. They have to prove that the boxer has violated the amateur code. There are so many ways a fighter can conceal these irregularities that it becomes next to impossible to obtain a conviction.

Mr. Ringfan suggests that amateur boxing be abolished except for tournaments in which a great number compete. He contends that adoption of this system automatically would eliminate the evils and abuses which are rooted in the financial phase of the sport.

Maybe the idea is sound. Avery Brundage doesn't think it is. It is his opinion that the calendar would be crowded with tournaments. There would be nothing to prevent a promoter from holding a tournament every two or three weeks. Frequent meets of this kind might work a hardship on the contestants, requiring, as it would, their appearance three or four times within a few days.

The A. A. U. is a great restraining influence in the conduct of amateur boxing. Mr. Brundage is making a sincere effort to elevate the sport. There are at present 50 boxers ineligible to compete in amateur bouts for violations of one kind or another.

The A. A. U. provides an inspector and physician at every amateur show. A record is kept of every fighter's bout. He is not permitted to compete unless he holds an A. A. U. card. To obtain this card he is required to make out an affidavit that he is an amateur. There are those even in boxing who hesitate about taking a false oath.

Brundage is not so much concerned with the amateur boxers as he is with the promoters of amateur shows. He holds that the only persons interested in amateur boxing for the sport's sake are members of organizations like THE TRIBUNE A. A., the Chicago A. A., and the Illinois A. C. Boxing is not operated for profit under their supervision.

If too many neighborhood clubs are granted memberships in the A. A. U. there eventually will be a complete breakdown of amateur control, he fears. The promoters who use amateur boxers for profit then would have enough voting strength to block every move advanced for the elevation of the game.

If promoters would coöperate with the Illinois athletic commission and the A. A. U. there would be no trouble in operating amateur boxing. There aren't enough policemen in either organization to insure enforcement of the rules.

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

The night before the Notre Dame-Southern Methodist game Knute Rockne said there was nothing ordinary about his 1930 football team.

We began to believe it after the Navy battle, when we saw a picture of a lad named Shekitski running 200 or 300 yards around end. Then up bounces our old friend Vlk.

There certainly is nothing ordinary about names like those—Shekitski and Vlk. The telegraph operators refuse to believe that Vlk is Vlk. They usually make it Elk whereupon the linotype operator makes it Volk.

But, after all, what's in a name?

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The name of Charley Grimm, Der Kaptink of the Cubs, persists in bobbing up in the rumors covering the possible happenings in affairs of the north side club this coming winter. It seems, according to the usual unofficial information which frequently develops into official, that Grimm has lost some of his one time popularity with the Cub business office. Grimm also has slowed up more than a bit, particularly as a timely hitter.

Grimm isn't going to be given away or anything like that, but a trade by which the Cubs receive some needed talent in return wouldn't be surprising. Der Kaptink might wind up either in St. Louis or Cincinnati in a process of juggling that would give the Cubs another pitcher and possibly another first sacker. One other present Cub athlete would be included with Grimm if such a deal should come to pass.

Here's one that probably will surprise Knute Rockne, the Norwegian football coach at Notre Dame. For years Knute has regretted the absence of his countrymen from the "Fighting Irish" grid squads. Last week he made the startling discovery that two of them—Johnson and Michaelson—were members of the freshman squad. He knew immediately that he would find places for the two Norwegian youths on next fall's varsity squad.

If Rockne will take another look at the present freshmen crop he will discover a youth named Harold Stone. The youthful Stone is a Norwegian and, what's more, his family is only two generations removed from Voss, Norway, which is the same town in which Rockne's birth was recorded. Stone is a lineman from Woodstock, Ill. He played center on the St. Mary's High eleven there.

According to Ernest S. Barnard, the American league president, his motion to abolish the sacrifice fly is assured of success when he introduces it at the meeting of the baseball rules committee in December. Barnard has already canvassed the committee members and discovered that almost all of them are in favor of the change. The intention is to do away with the sacrifice fly in all forms. Thus, in the future batters will not escape being charged a time at bat when they explode a fly ball on which a runner scores from third.

Rogers Hornsby, the Cub pilot, who now is vacationing to get himself in shape for an active winter here, has in mind a half dozen possible candidates for the coaching job made vacant when Jim Burke jumped to the Yankees. Announcement probably will not be made until some time in December.

Gives T. S. Jordan Win Over My Dandy.

BY FRENCH LANE.

They staged a real horse race at Hawthorne yesterday when it came time to run the Strike Up the Band handicap. Three noted sprinters came up to the winning post noses apart. Stuyvesant Peabody's T. S. Jordan's long nose was showing in front, My Dandy's nose was second, and a nose back came the famous old campaigner Golden Prince.

They ran in this order, fighting for that inch or two of advantage over the last eighth of a mile, and T. S. Jordan and My Dandy were only inches apart for a greater part of the six furlong journey. It was the gamest race T. S. Jordan, now 9 years old, has run this season, and few races were ever run anywhere that provided more thrilling finishes.

After a delay at the post of eight minutes, caused by the bad actor Taddywawa, Morrisey got them away in good order. Jockey Landolt took My Dandy right to the front, and for the first half furlong he was showing the way by a length. Then T. S. Jordan moved up on even terms, getting through on the inside.

Golden Prince Moves Up.

As they whirled around the lower bend T. S. Jordan stuck his nose in the lead, and, while he didn't have a much wider margin at any part of the struggle, he kept that long nose sticking out in front. My Dandy battled it out with him right up to the line of finish.

With less than half a furlong to go Golden Prince moved up from the rear guard and took a place right along side of the two leaders. Then came their exciting finish. Everybody in the crowd was standing and cheering, for most of the spectators had wagered on one of the three thoroughbreds which were charging so desperately down the stretch.

Jockey Richard Injured.

T. S. Jordan ran his six furlongs in 1:12, which was one of the fastest races of the fall season here. He had his backers in the crowd despite the popularity of My Dandy and in the betting paid $8.20 to win, $3.68 to place and $3.06 to show. My Dandy paid $3.50 to place and $3.08 to show. Golden Prince was at $5.26 to show.

When seven selling platers lined up in the starting gate for the McCullough purse, which came fifth on the program, Lieut. Russell lunged against Hold On and Jockey A. Richard was tossed out of the saddle on Hold On. He landed on the edge of the stall gate and was so severely injured Jockey J. W. Frye had to substitute for him.

Ladrone got a nose decision over Royal Son after running the mile and seventy yards in 1:43 2-5.

OWNER REFUSES $125,000 FOR TWENTY GRAND

New York, Oct. 21.—[Special.]—Mrs. Payne Whitney refused $125,000 for her 2 year old colt Twenty Grand today. Thomas W. Murphy, trainer who developed the young thoroughbred, made the offer. Mrs. Whitney said the colt was not for sale; that she had spent many years trying to get a real good colt, and that no amount of money could make her part with him.

Murphy wanted Twenty Grand to campaign in his own silks next year. He will quit Mrs. Whitney's Greentree stable at the end of the year and, though he has no definite plans for next season, he is considering training and racing horses in his own name.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Why have Northwestern and Notre Dame executed their forward pass plays this year more consistently than other teams?

Contrary to general belief it is not because Northwestern and Notre Dame have superior passers, or super receivers. The answer is that each of these teams possesses a better than average line.

Northwestern and Notre Dame have strong running and plunging attacks because the linemen can clear the way by superior charging and blocking. What is the result? The defensive backs must stop plays their own forwards cannot. Consequently the backs are lured out of position by what apparently is another run or plunge. Then a receiver dashes into open territory and grabs a pass.

If Northwestern and Notre Dame had mediocre forwards, their opponents could prepare first to break up passes and, second, to help stop plunges and runs.

Stagg's Flanker Beat Princeton.

The best illustration is the University of Chicago. Last year Stagg's flanker formation defeated Princeton and the University of Washington. But last year Weaver and Bunge in the Maroon line were able to open holes for plunges and block for runs where this year's linemen have not the necessary ability and weight to make opponents fear plunges and runs. Consequently opponents have played to meet passes and Chicago has had only ordinary success with the flanker formation.

For example, when Wisconsin met Chicago in the opening conference game, Thistlethwaite planned a defense for the flanker which had six men covering for passes and only five men charging to stop runs or to hurry the passer. This, in the long run, caused the passes to be intercepted or knocked down.

Line Helps Cover Passes.

Against Illinois Saturday Northwestern had sufficient defensive strength to permit the line to help the backs cover on passes and, while Illinois completed several, the drive could not be maintained consistently. Notre Dame also follows the same defensive plan. Against Southern Methodist, on occasion Rockne had seven players covering for passes, forward and lateral, and only four men charging the ball.

CHICAGO FLANKER FORMATION

Half back No. 4 is stationed laterally about 15 to 20 yards beyond the right end. He is eligible to receive a pass and, of course, forces a defensive player to go wide to cover him. A plunging back, No. 2, is in position to take a short pass from center or to block for a run or pass. The other back, No. 3, receives the pass from center and can run to the right or start such a run and then pass.

Badgers Didn't Fear Plunge.

No. 1 is the key to the play. He starts before the ball is passed and when he is midway between Chicago's right end and the flanker the ball is snapped. In case No. 3 runs, No. 1 leads the interference. If a pass is elected, No. 1 along with No. 4, the right end and, of course, the left end, sprints into designated territory to receive a pass.

Since Wisconsin did not fear a plunge by No. 2 because of the weakness of Chicago's line, it could place enough men in position to stop a run or pass from the flanker.

If this reasoning is carried to the logical conclusion, no formation can be consistently successful by any team which does not have a line at least nearly equal in strength to the opponents'.

George Lott to Become Broker in Philadelphia

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 21.—(AP)—George Lott Jr. of Chicago, a member of the United States Davis cup tennis team last season, will enter the brokerage business in this city.

Lott and his bride, the former Abigail Allen, returned to the home of Mrs. Lott's parents at Abingdon yesterday for the first time since their elopement to Elkton, Md., on Oct. 14. Parental forgiveness had been extended while they were honeymooning at White Sulphur Springs.

Hoover Cancels Trip to Princeton-Navy Game

SHAMROCKS TO START WORK ON ICE NEXT WEEK

A score of hockey players will report to Manager Johnny Farquahar of the Chicago Shamrocks at Minneapolis early next week and will start work on the ice immediately, according to announcement last night by Tom Shaughnessy, president of Chicago's American Hockey league club. Manager Farquahar and Trainer Tom Dyer are expected to leave for Minneapolis Friday or Saturday of this week.

Although the American league schedule has not been announced, the Shamrocks will open their home season at Chicago Stadium on Thanksgiving night.

Shaughnessy yesterday announced the acquisition of the following players:

Shaughnessy has particularly bright expectations for Burns, who formerly played with Duluth, Minneapolis, and the Chicago Black Hawks. Bobby was with the Hawks when that club was managed by Shaughnessy.

PITTSBURGH GETS NIAGARA.

TORONTO, Ont., Oct. 21.—(AP)—The International Hockey league will be predominately American in complexion when the teams start the 1930-'31 season.

At the league's annual meeting today, authority was granted for the transfer of the Niagara Falls, Ont., team to Pittsburgh and the Hamilton, Ont., team to Syracuse, N. Y. The Toronto millionaires will be disbanded for the season leaving seven teams in the circuit. Of these five will be in the United States at Cleveland, Buffalo, Detroit, Pittsburgh, and Syracuse. The two Canadian representatives will be London and Windsor.

F. G. [Teddy] Oke, owner of the Niagara Fall and Toronto franchises, decided not to operate the Millionaires this winter after he learned he could not obtain permission of Arena gardens to play his home games at the downtown home of the Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey league. The Millionaires suffered big financial losses last season when they played to slim crowds at the Ravinia rink in the northwest part of the city.

Oke will retain the territorial rights of his Toronto franchise which will remain in suspension this season. He will send his Toronto and Niagara Falls players to Pittsburgh, which has transferred its National Hockey league franchise to Philadelphia.

WOLVERINE LINE WEAKENED BY THREE INJURIES

Frosh Slip Through for Long Gains.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 21.—[Special.]—Michigan and Illinois will renew their ancient football rivalry here next Saturday before a crowd which is expected to number 86,000. This contest is generally regarded as the high spot on the schedules of both schools. Each team has won at home every year since 1926.

An assortment of cross bucks, triple passes, and wide end runs, mixed with short forward passes, kept the Michigan eleven guessing in today's workout in Yost fieldhouse. The Illini plays, checked by George Veenker, were run off in rapid fire order by the freshmen, and had the drill been on a practice field would have been good for several touchdowns.

Injuries Weaken Team.

The defensive drill took place after Coach Kipke and his staff had sent the whole squad through a hard blocking and tackling rehearsal.

Indications are that Cox and Daniels may both be available Saturday, but their injuries are of a nature that require careful handling. Auer's ear infection is clearing up more slowly than was anticipated, with the result that he is still in the hospital. It is doubtful whether he will be ready to play Saturday.

ILLINI SHIFT BERRY

Champaign, Ill., Oct. 21.—[Special.]—Gilbert Berry, sophomore half back on the University of Illinois football team, was shifted to quarter back in practice today and Hunter Russell, another sophomore who has been at end all season was moved into Berry's former position.

Coach Zuppke said today that he saw the necessity of added strength in the secondary defense and he believed that this move would aid the offense as well. Russell has proved his ability as a defensive player in the line and since he always played in the back field until this year, he should have little difficulty in adjusting himself.

Berry proved that he was a fine runner in nonconference games, but against Northwestern the Illinois line was not effective enough on offense to give him a chance. At quarter back he will handle punts, and have a chance to break away in an open field. Whether or not he will call signals is a problem. He was tried today. Capt. Robinson may give the signals from his full back position.

C. E. Bowen, Illinois ticket manager, announced today that reports from Ann Arbor state that 86,000 people will see the game Saturday.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 21.—As an excuse for going out of his division to fight heavyweights, Maxie Rosenbloom will defend his world's light heavyweight title against a comparatively unknown fighter, Abie Bain, for fifteen rounds or less, tomorrow night at Madison Square Garden.

A few months ago, when Maxie sought permission of the New York commission to mingle with the bigger boys, the commission told him that if he defended his title first he would be free to do as he pleased. Somebody dug up Bain and the fight tomorrow night is the result.

Nobody knows much about Bain except that he was knocked out by a couple of middleweights a few years ago and since has redeemed himself to some extent by beating a lot of third rate light heavyweights.

Gagnon Earns Bout with Stribling; Outslugs O'Kelly

TIMELY DEFEATS LARGE FIELD IN JAMAICA STAKE

Five Horses Are Bunched in Stretch.

New York, Oct. 21.—[Special.]—Timely, the filly that forced the pace against the smart colt Vanderpool last Saturday in the Remsen handicap, was best among a dozen of her own sex which raced today at Jamaica in the Hiawatha handicap. The daughter of High Time and Griselda had to show gameness as well as speed to take down the $3,975 prize in the Hiawatha, for the finish was a fighting affair in which the first five horses came down the line closely locked. In the last few strides Timely, responding to Harold Thurber's drive, dashed forward to win by a length and a half.

Mrs. Payne Whitney's Robin's Egg was second, a head in front of Harry Payne Whitney's Thais. A head behind Thais was Straying, and another head away finished the Rancocas stable's Lanada.

Timely was a popular winner. She and Straying were backed into favoritism at 9 to 5.

Ed Stackler Returns to Maroon Squad

Ed Stackler, a likely looking sophomore half back, who has been out of activity since the Ripon game, returned to the University of Chicago football squad yesterday. That fact partly compensated for the loss of Joe Temple, veteran full back, who sprained his ankle in the Florida game and will not be available until the Princeton contest on Nov. 1.

The loss of Temple on top of Capt. Errett Van Nice's inability to play again this season put Coach Stagg up against it for backs, his one source of strength. The line has functioned poorly in the early games, allowing opposing forwards to break through and rush the passer, thereby robbing the flank attack of its effectiveness. Likewise they have failed to open holes for a running attack with the net result that the Maroons have been helpless on offense.

In an attempt to remedy this situation for the Mississippi game on Saturday, Coach Stagg shifted Brislen back to his old post at guard and inserted Parsons into the lineup as center. Parsons, a sophomore, played a steady, consistent game while he was in against Florida and should fill the post satisfactorily.

ing enough funds to live in luxury until business revives, and that the Garden firm has not been creating new drawing cards to underbid the wealthy 200 pounders.

They Will Protect Selves.

Eventually, I believe, the prize fight industry will revert to financiers of the type of the Messrs. Crofton, Bowman, and Long, who are not unlike Mr. Rickard and better able to protect themselves in their dealings with the athletes. The millionaires of the so-called society type ventured into it originally as a bit of a lark in response to the flattery of Mr. Rickard, who told them they were an exclusive and superior company of leaders.

Not only is money less loose today than it was when they became condescending patrons of a sport which is by tradition and nature the sport of the lower classes, but they have all aged a few years since then and the pleasure of their exclusiveness doubtless diminishes as the common customers lose interest. Half the fun of sitting in a ringside seat at a Garden production is the envy of those sitting in the seats off to the rear or upstairs, and if this be snobbery it is quite so, nevertheless.

It will be interesting to see what the Messrs. Crofton, Bowman, Long, and the Agua Caliente syndicate are up to. Perhaps they would inaugurate a policy of free admission to the heavyweight championships and get theirs through a system of slot machines affixed to the backs of the seats.

ODIE CLEGHORN REFUSES DETROIT HOCKEY OFFER

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 21.—(AP)—Odie Cleghorn of Montreal today definitely turned down an offer to succeed Frank Foyston as manager of the Olympics, Detroit entry in the International Hockey league. Here Monday for a final conference with officials of the Detroit Hockey club, he explained that he had decided to accept an offer to manage a Montreal golf club, terms of which were such that he could not pilot the Olympics during the winter season.

Von Porat Meets Renault on Stadium Card.

King Levinsky of the Chicago west side will get his chance against Jimmy Slattery, Buffalo light heavyweight, in a ten round bout at the Stadium Nov. 6. They were matched some time ago, but Slattery was granted additional time in which to train for the hard hitting Levinsky.

The other half of the double windup on the card approved by the Illinois athletic commission yesterday will bring together Otto Von Porat and Jack Renault.

Von Porat returned to a Chicago ring recently after a long vacation. Matched against Angus Snyder, Otto didn't hear the bell ring for the end of the first round and kept on punching, with the result that the bout was awarded to his opponent on a foul.

Renault, Von Porat's foe, has been enjoying considerable success of late, winning five straight fights. His last three victims were Ad Warren, Babe Hunt, and Salvatore Ruggirello.

The semi-windup will feature Barney Ross and Harry Dublinsky, both favorites with Chicago fans.

Boxers scheduled to appear at the Coliseum show Friday night continued training yesterday. Two men new to Chicago will take part in the double windup. One of the strangers is George Neron, Greek heavyweight, who takes on Tuffy Griffith, while the other is Nattie Brown of San Francisco, who meets Larry Johnson. Four other bouts are on the card.

LOYOLA SHIFTS PLAYERS FOR GAME WITH COE

Several changes have been made in the lineup of the Loyola university football team in an effort to strengthen the defense for the game with Coe college Friday night. Frank Lutzenkirchen, Harold Fors and Jerry Gottschalk, tackles, have been shifted to the second team while John Henry and Tom Walsh, sophomores, have taken their places.

The varsity and shock troops, with their defense changed considerably to meet the Warner wing back system of attack as employed by Pittsburgh, will have scrimmage tomorrow.

PITT HAS SCRIMMAGE.

HAWKEYES BATTLE FROSH.

Iowa City, Ia., Oct. 21.—[Special.]—The University of Iowa varsity today began the two week preparation for its game with the University of Detroit.

HOOSIERS FEAR PASSES.

Bloomington, Ind., Oct. 21.—[Special.]—Fearing the open field passing attack of Southern Methodist, Coach Pat Page sent the Indiana squad through a stiff scrimmage today. Realizing that the reserve strength of the Hoosiers will have a big part to play in the game, the Indiana coach is driving the reserves through heavy workouts. Koenig, who has just recovered from a leg injury, showed brilliant flashes of speed in today's drill.

GOPHERS SEEK GENERAL.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 21.—[Special.]—Coach Fritz Crisler today started intensive skull practice in hopes of finding a good field general.

"Our offense hasn't had a fair test," Crisler said today, "because our men haven't used all of the tools they have to work with. We are conducting a thorough examination of the backs this week in hopes of finding the man who will fill the signal calling bill."

All the other regulars were back at work this afternoon.

CHANGE SIGNAL CALLER.

Columbus, O., Oct. 21.—[Special.]—Wesley Fesler or Martin Varner, both half backs, will call Ohio State signals from the huddle in future games in place of Lew Hinchman.

Coach Willaman said today that these changes were made because Hinchman did not follow instructions in the Northwestern and Michigan games. Hinchman will remain in the lineup in his regular position as ball carrier and safety man on the defense.

The decision to use Fesler in the back field again came after his brilliant exhibition of punting in the Michigan game. He repeatedly outkicked Simrall, Michigan's star kicker and one of the best in the conference.

The secondary teams were sent through a scrimmage tonight with the varsity going through a brief signal drill. According to team physicians, Embrich, Hinchman and Fesler will be able to play against Wisconsin but the status of Nasman and Selby was in doubt.

2 STRONG NEGRO TEAMS TO MEET HERE SATURDAY

Two of the strongest Negro football teams in the country will meet on Saturday when Tuskegee institute and Wilberforce university clash in their annual game at Soldiers' field. Tuskegee, by virtue of its 6 to 0 victory of last year, is the favorite, as its team is practically the same as that of 1929.

The southern eleven is headed by Big Ben Stevenson, a triple threat man, who is regarded as the greatest Negro player in the country. It was his efforts which defeated Wilberforce last year and his touchdown in the 1928 game held the Ohioans to a 6 to 6 tie. While Stevenson is the outstanding offensive player on the Tuskegee eleven, he is playing this year behind a strong line and has a fine set of blocking backs to mow a path for him through the opposition.

The Wilberforce team, coached by Harry Graves, former back on the Michigan State team, has a fast, shifty eleven, making up in deception what it lacks in weight and power, and is expected to rely largely on forward passing in its encounter with Tuskegee.

Vaccine Puts Five Wildcats on Side Lines

First evidence that the vaccine with which Northwestern's Wildcats were inoculated against smallpox a week ago contained more than water was forthcoming yesterday when five members of the squad were confined to the university infirmary.

Lefty Leach, who started at quarter back in the Ohio State and Illinois games, and Will Lewis, Harry Pritchard, reserve backs, together with Paul Engebritsen and Bob Gonya, tackles, were temporarily shelved with swollen arms and internal effects, but all five should be ready for the Dads' day battle with Centre college Saturday.

Builds Running Attack.

Coach Dick Hanley went to work to remedy the most generally recognized weakness of the Wildcats last night when he began to drill the reserves on their running attack. After two days of rest the varsity will don their suits again this afternoon and enter into the same program.

The line attack is not yet working in a consistent manner. The Wildcats have shown a formidable passing game, but have been inclined to rely too heavily upon it when within the scoring zone.

Hanley is convinced that the running attack will have to show more polish in the next Big Ten clash with Minnesota a week from Saturday. Scouts have brought word that the Gopher pass defense is stronger than any the Wildcats have faced yet.

The reserves brushed up on reverses and other line plays last night, each man being coached upon his individual responsibility in the plays. The reserve guards—Dilley, Erlandson, Kinder and La Roque—were given particular attention.

Bruder Trains at Hospital.

Three other Purple backs who have been temporarily on the bench for one reason or another will be ready to play against the "Praying Colonels" from Kentucky Saturday. Reb Russell, the 200 pound quarter back or full back, becomes eligible once more Saturday morning. He returned to practice last night. Bill Griffin and Sid Burnstein will also be ready to go at half back once more.

Saturday's game will be the big item in an all day program which has been arranged in honor of the Purple dads. Several thousand Boy Scouts from Chicagoland will be guests of the Northwestern athletic department at the game.

CENTRE STARS RECUPERATE.

Danville, Ky., Oct. 21.—[Special.]—The Centre college eleven engaged in a light workout in preparation for the game with Northwestern university next Saturday. Coach Kubale indicated that a hard scrimmage will be held tomorrow.

For the first time since their opening game the Colonels will be able to present a team that is not marred by injuries. Ches Shearer, all-state quarter back and star punter, will be returned to the lineup after an absence of two weeks due to an injured knee. Lefty Arnicar, tackle, has been suffering from illness and although he is still in a weakened condition, it is expected that he will be able to make the trip to Northwestern.

Work on a few new plays, on pass defense, and blocking and tackling drew the greatest attention today. Herman Clark, back field coach at Centre college, witnessed the game between Northwestern and Illinois last Saturday and is busy today preparing the members of the freshman team to use the plays against the varsity.

Hundreds of Danville and Centre fans will leave here with the team next Thursday afternon to witness the game. A luncheon has been arranged for alumni who live in Chicago and for those who accompany the team. Robert L. Myers, former Centre coach and director of athletics at Centre in 1921, is making arrangements for the luncheon.

FOOTBALL "BREAKS."

BALL hawks, players who follow the ball closely, are more in demand than ever in conference football this fall. That is because power football, so called, has been subordinated to the open game. With double and triple passes behind the line of scrimmage, with the lateral pass developing, fumbles are more frequent from the intricate formations. Fumbles will become less frequent as the season progresses, but almost any game any time may be decided by one of those breaks which reward alertness.

Northwestern, Michigan, Wisconsin, have recorded their victories—Michigan in particular—by taking advantage of their opportunities and by their opponents' mistakes as much as by their own strength. This must be construed as praise, not criticism. This is the day of alertness and intelligence on the gridiron.

Anent our previous remarks contrasting power and open football, a reader wrote: "Any high school coach knows you must have power and a running attack to make his passes go." Of course, a team which only can pass permits its opposition to spread its defense against passes. But any high school coach also knows that a power attack the length of the field is a slow, laborious process which usually strikes a snag with loss of the ball on downs or by a forced punt somewhere along the route.

Yet in the open attack, running or passing, a strong line is essential to give time for delayed formations or to give a passer time in making his throw to receivers getting out into the open. Without a good line, opposing forwards break through and spill the formations before they are under way.

Yost's policy was to smash quick and hard. Breaking up plays before they started or hurrying the passer he regarded as the soundest defense. Plays thus harried at their source are more productive of fumbles. That's where ball hawks are invaluable.

Football Attendance.

Dear Harve: May I have an inch of space? I want to tell your press brother, Eddie Burns, not to bother calling on the chairs of commerce to learn how to fill empty seats at football games. We, not in the "in," are fed up on getting tickets behind the goal posts after ordering them in April or May. It's easier to listen to the radio with a bottle of "giggle water" beside you, while friends of the university are freezing in their good seats. Judy.

DE PAUL U. ADDS RED MAHER TO COACHING STAFF

Red Maher, Notre Dame half back from 1921 to 1923, has been added to the De Paul university football coaching staff as an assistant to Coach Eddie Anderson. Announcement of the appointment was made last night by Athletic Director Kelly. Maher will coach the backs.

Because of a recent injury Ernie Butcher will be unable to play for some time. Red Harrington will be used in his place, along with Frank Hartman.

HEYDLER THINKS SCORING RULES NEED CLARIFYING

New York, Oct. 21.—(AP)—There are far more important revisions needed in the baseball rules than the elimination of the sacrifice fly, in the opinion of John A. Heydler of the National league.

Although refusing to comment on the suggestion of President E. S. Barnard of the American league that the sacrifice fly be banned, President Heydler predicted there would be a thorough revision of the rules at the December meeting of the two major leagues.

"Scoring rules in particular need clarifying," said the National league head, "so that the average fan can tell a hit from an error."

Claim Purdue Sent 3 Scouts to Badger Tilt

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 21.—(AP)—It was reported here today that Purdue, allegedly violating a conference rule which says that no school shall have more than one scout at a game, sent three to watch Wisconsin in the Penn game last Saturday.

They were, according to a newspaper story, Earl Martineau, Christy Flanagan, and Bill Mathei, all assistant coaches.

Play at Lafayette Saturday.

The Boilermakers are to play Wisconsin this Saturday at Lafayette, Ind., and the game is regarded as one of the most difficult on the Badger schedule.

The story said:

"Martineau, the accredited scout, had no trouble getting into the press box, and Flanagan also managed to wiggle in. Mathei, however, couldn't get by the ushers, and when he protested a near fight followed. He was finally given a seat elsewhere in the stadium.

"A letter to Athletic Director Kellogg of Purdue, calling attention to the violation, was written by George Little, Wisconsin director, on Monday."

CALLS IT MISUNDERSTANDING.

Lafayette, Ind., Oct. 21.—(AP)—N. A. Kellogg, director of athletics at Purdue university, said tonight an "evident misunderstanding" caused publication in a Milwaukee newspaper of reports that Purdue had three scouts at the Wisconsin-Penn game last Saturday.

Martineau did the only scouting for Purdue at the game, Kellogg said, explaining that Flanagan scouted Pennsylvania for Notre Dame at the request of Knute Rockne, Irish coach. The "Bill Mathei" mentioned, Kellogg said, probably is Guy Mackey, a Purdue freshman coach, who attended the game unofficially, "as did any other person in the crowd, merely through a desire to see the game."

Kellogg said he had received no word of the matter from George Little, Wisconsin athletic director.

CHICAGO BEARS TO PLAY TODAY AT PORTSMOUTH

The Chicago Bears professional football team, fresh from a 32-6 victory over the Cardinals last Sunday, will meet the Portsmouth, O., Spartans this afternoon at Portsmouth.

Following the game the Bears will return to Chicago to await the invasion of the Frankford Yellow Jackets, who play at Wrigley field Sunday.

Retriever Is Big Help in Picking Up Crippled Ducks

BY BOB BECKER.

This year when conservation organizations are calling attention to the fact that our sharpshooting ancestors rarely wasted a shot, invariably bringing down their game when they went boom with their old long barreled guns, whereas most of us modern hunters are wasteful with ammunition and game, it's a good time for waterfowl hunters to emphasize the slogan, "Don't waste a duck; get all the cripples." There is sound logic in this slogan, first, because our waterfowl population is none too large this fall, and secondly, far too many birds nicked by shot pellets are not followed up and retrieved.

Of course, there always will be situations around a duck blind that involve crippled birds making a getaway. Last fall when we were pass shooting on Wyasung lake above Regina, Saskatchewan, we had a Labrador, an Irish water spaniel, and Jack, our springer, doing their stuff on retrieving. Sometimes all three were swimming the lake picking up canvasbacks, bluebills, teal, or ruddy ducks. Yet, even with this trio of beautifully trained retrievers, canvasbacks would be hit by just a couple of shot pellets and keep going for a half mile before zooming down to the water. We had one of the boys out in a boat circling around on the lake trying to find these ducks which we didn't want to lose.

But it was a hard job and sometimes it was impossible to find them. However, many a swimming cripple was retrieved by the dogs, which often swam long distances to get their birds. Jack, our springer, twice dove under water to get his bird, which kept popping below the surface. It was pretty work, and made us thankful that we had retrievers to collect these waterfowl.

Thus, the duck hunter who uses a retriever is enabled to do a cleaner cut job in his sport than is the gunner without a dog. There isn't any doubt but what a well trained Labrador, Irish water spaniel, Chesapeake bay retriever, or springer spaniel gets birds which otherwise might be lost. Therefore, a duck retriever more than earns his keep during the course of a fall shooting season, if you want to put it on a dollars and cents basis. And while putting on a fine show for his master he also is helping to conserve game by bagging the birds which would escape the hunter without a dog.

LUSBY TO TOSS BADGER PASSES AGAINST PURDUE

Freshmen Fail to Pierce Wisconsin Line.

Madison, Wis., Oct. 21.—[Special.]—Ernie Lusby is back in the Badger backfield for the Purdue game on Saturday. His fine punting and accurate passing is badly needed, and the little fellow worked with the first eleven throughout today's hard session.

After a lengthy session of blocking, punting, and tackling, the varsity went on the attack against freshmen players. The strongest yearling squad found the Wisconsin forward wall tough at all times, but met with better success through the air.

PURDUE TRIES NEW BACKS

Lafayette, Ind., Oct. 21.—[Special.]—Purdue may present a new back field when the Badgers bring their title hopes into the Ross Ade stadium here Saturday. The Pope-Purvis-Yunevich-White combination may be replaced with a new foursome that specializes in a hard driving, running attack.

In this afternoon's workout the coaches spent a lot of time working with Roy Horstman, sophomore full back, and Ed Risk and Howard Kissell, half backs. With Yunevich still on the side lines as the result of his shoulder dislocation, Horstman seems almost certain to draw the starting full back assignment, while either Risk or Kissell may displace Purvis, who is still bothered with a slight leg hitch.

Risk averaged 11 yards per attempt from scrimmage against Iowa, while Horstman averaged better than 5 yards. Kissell's particular forte is hard blocking, although he is effective as a ball carrier.

Saturday's game will determine whether the Boilermakers' hopes of retaining their 1929 title are to be definitely wiped out.

Dispute Over Pianist Is Cause of Walkout.

The radio show in the Coliseum was without radio musicians last night as the result of a strike called by James C. Petrillo, president of the Chicago Federation of Musicians. The strike, which prevents radio stations from presenting their stars at the show, was called because a piano player hired to perform there had been dismissed.

The walkout was called late in the afternoon just as several stations were preparing to put their performers in a glass inclosed studio where the crowds at the show could watch them. As fast as the programs started the musicians were called out and the broadcasting soon ceased.

Appeal to City Hall.

G. Clayton Irwin, general manager of the show, then made a trip to the city hall and shortly thereafterward Petrillo was called on the telephone and informed that "a committee from Mayor Thompson" was on its way to see him.

Twenty minutes later Judge John Sbarbaro and Mr. Irwin arrived at the federation offices with several other men.

"This piano player, Herbert Mintz, was hired by some one who had no authority to do so," explained Irwin. "We already have one man, Art Kahn, and we don't need another. We really didn't hire Mintz."

"But," retorted Petrillo, "here is your program with Mintz's name on it. He was booked for the show and you won't have any radio musicians down there unless you come across with the one hundred and fifty cocoanuts you promised to pay him for a week's appearances. It can't be done."

There was some more argument but Mr. Petrillo was not to be moved and the "mayor's committee" retired.

Petrillo Announces Ban.

Unless radio programs are picked up from the air at the show there will be no broadcast music there until the difficulty is settled, Petrillo said. "And if they try to put 'canned music' out we'll put them on the 'unfair' list," he added. "Furthermore, they can't hold their show any place in the country with union musicians any time in the future unless this man has been paid."

This affair was the only incident to mar the second day of the exposition. The management reported good crowds and announced that this afternoon two British radio engineers, Dr. James Robinson, former member of the radio research board, and Dr. Percy W. Harris, chief engineer of the British Radiostat corporation, would display an entirely new system of radio reception at the Stevens hotel. The demonstration, it was announced, is to demonstrate the fallacy that a 10 kilocycle separation is necessary between radio station wave bands.

Gen. Summerall Will Be Feted in Chicago Today

Summerall, retiring chief of staff of the army, will be the principal guest today at a luncheon in the Stevens hotel sponsored by a number of military and civil organizations, including the regular army, the Association of Commerce, the Century of Progress exposition and the G. Summerall is to arrive at 10 a. m. and will review a parade of army planes over Grant Park before the luncheon. The planes will come from Selfridge and Scott fields.

GHOST TALKS AS WELL AS WALKS IN MOVIES NOW

So Stars Can "Speak" Any Language.

BY TOM PETTEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 21.—[Special.]—The Society of Motion Picture Engineers, the technical men of the talkies, are in convention here and today they talked about everything from "ghosting" to foreign competition.

"Ghosting," in the language of the studios, means doubling in voice for a star, and the practice, according to the engineers, is used only in making foreign language talkies. There is no intention of faking on the part of the producers, it was declared, the doubling being done to meet the foreign demand for recognized stars speaking the language of the country in which the picture is shown.

These engineers are the fellows who are responsible for the apparently multi-lingual talent of some of our American stars. When a popular movie heroine speaks in German, French, English, and Spanish, with never a mistake in word or accent, some one is doubling for her.

The secret, according to G. Lewin of the Paramount-Publix corporation, lies in the practice of synchronizing another's voice with the lip movement of the screen actor.

The amateur scenarists were carted away to oblivion this afternoon at the convention. The talkies marked the end of the inexpert in the movie business, according to the engineers, who produced a statistical report showing that 80 per cent of the horde of amateur scenario writers of the silent days have dropped out as contributors.

The best method of meeting an ever growing foreign competition was one of the most serious questions before the convention.

SPAIN'S ELECTION POSTPONED UNTIL EARLY NEXT YEAR

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MADRID, Oct. 21.—The date for the general elections in Spain was postponed until January at a meeting of the cabinet tonight. Last week the tentative date of Dec. 21 was fixed, but it was found that the electoral lists of certain outlying districts could not be completed in time. It is expected that the elections will take place on Jan. 11 to 18.

It is reported that the government is negotiating with the Dutch Shell Oil company to take over the oil monopoly in Spain for one million pesetas, the price reported to be asked by the government.

JUDGE WARNS U. S. TO PAY FOR LAND FOR LEVEE

Cape Girardeau, Mo., Oct. 21.—(AP)—A threat he might be forced to enjoin the federal government from proceeding further with construction of the setback levee from Birds' point to new Madrid, Mo., unless money for judgments to property owners is paid immediately, was made by Judge Charles B. Faris in federal court today.

Pointing out he has authority to halt the construction work unless orders of the court are complied with, Judge Faris said he would delay matters only until the end of the present term of court this week.

A telegram from Lieut. Col. F. B. Wilby, district engineer, with headquarters at Memphis, was read, stating the matter of payment had been delayed, but was being expedited.

CONSIDERS PLEA FOR CLEARING OF OLD P. O. SITE

Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Ferry K. Heath announced in Washington yesterday that he had taken steps to learn what can be done to clear the old postoffice site at Harrison, Canal, Clinton, and Polk streets, which has become a dumping site and a hangout for hoboes. On Monday, Collector of Customs Anthony Czarnecki asked Mr. Heath for permission to convert the block into a park for workers on the near west side.

The property has been abandoned as a postoffice site in favor of the air rights site over tracks entering the Union station, and the government is faced with the problem of finding a buyer for the old property. Mr. Heath said that unless the government is able to dispose of the property soon, consideration will be given to the demands that the block be made less of an eyesore.

EXPLOSION ON BLIMP HURLS THREE MEN IN ITS CREW TO GROUND

Toms River, N. J., Oct. 21.—[Special.]—An explosion which wrecked the motor and gondola of Capt. Anton Heinen's family air yacht, but did not injure the bag of the tiny dirigible, tossed three men 40 feet to the ground today. The ship was tied to a temporary mooring mast at the time and the motor was being started in preparation for a flight.

Capt. Heinen, a famous dirigible designer and pilot, was standing on the ground at the time and was not hurt. The ship was built by Capt. Heinen as the first of a proposed fleet of small, easily handled dirigibles for family use. It has made many successful flights since its completion several weeks ago.

The family air yacht is 150 feet long, propelled by single motor, and equipped with wheels, much like an airplane, so she can be landed by a single pilot. She has a capacity of six passengers.

Capt. Heinen guided the dirigible Los Angeles from Germany to the United States when it was delivered by its builders.

LOSES BATTLE ON WAUKEGAN AUTO TAX ACT

Reuben Harry Stripe, Waukegan business man, met a reversal yesterday in his fight against the Waukegan motor wheel tax law. A jury before Justice of the Peace Tallett found him guilty of failure to pay his wheel tax, and fined him $5. Stripe is president of the Waukegan Taxpayers association.

He is fighting the assessment on the ground that it is for the same ends as the state gasoline tax, and therefore double taxation, and refused to purchase a city license. More than 400 citizens followed his action.

Recently the case was tried in the Lake County Circuit court, but ended in a disagreement. A new charge was brought by Special Assistant Corporation Counsel Okel Fuqua, and tried yesterday. Mr. Stripe announced he would appeal.

BY O. A. MATHER.

Occasionally for the last six months or more several of my acquaintances have asked my opinion as to the purchase of stocks. My invariable reply has been, "There isn't any hurry." But today I made a suggestion to one of these friends and got this reply: "I think it's good; why don't you write it?"

The suggestion was that a prospective investor at this time might take pencil and paper and make a list of six or ten of the basic industries of this country. These industries should be arranged in the order in which he believes most important, with reference to their development in the past and their future prospects.

Under the various headings the investor might set down the dominating corporation, or, in some cases, the two major companies. Naturally, other companies may be considered, especially if the investor has particular knowledge of them. However, each concern so considered should be weighed as to its past history, its present and prospective position in its field, quality of management, etc.

Weigh Factors.

Then, let the investor decide what amount he can comfortably afford to invest and distribute it over his list. Naturally he will not wish to buy equal numbers of shares in all concerns and will weigh such factors as price, yield, earnings, prospective growth, etc. But if he makes up about the kind of list that is suggested he will have a diversified investment of good stocks, representing ownership in the dominant companies in basic American industries.

Such a composite investment probably would afford a yield of between 5 and 6 per cent at present market prices for the stocks concerned. Furthermore, it is my belief the investment would show a handsome appreciation over a reasonable term of years. That is the lesson of the past.

Two items coming to hand yesterday treat this subject in somewhat similar manner. A statement issued by the investment research committee of the Financial Advertisers' asso-

BY SCRUTATOR.

Any one who would predict that the population of the Chicago metropolitan district would remain stationary for any term of years, or even for a year would be a rash pessimist. Within the next ten years it is not only possible but probable that another 750,000 to a million will be added.

To care for them there will have to be a large expansion of industry. Nearly all of the new poppulation will come here with the expectation of making a living as salaried or wage earning employés of Chicago companies.

Plans for expansion by the existing industries are, in a number of cases, well planned out ahead. There is a steel concern which has secured a site on the Indiana shores of Lake Michigan for a forty milion dollar plant. One or two of the steel mills in the Chicago limits are reported to have added considerable capacity to what they had during the period of depression following the flush times of early 1929.

Logical Location.

Yet there is an ever present danger that the influx of working men and women into Chicago, even in normal times—there is little to be said about expansion or industrial incomings at this time—may be larger than the capacity to absorb them comfortably unless considerable effort is expended to prove to important capitalists that that this is the logical location for them.

This is not quite true of the biggest corporations. Those which invest millions at a time weigh all factors closely and can make their decisions with the utmost confidence on evidence gathered by high priced engineers. But the smaller or medium sized companies, in the aggregate as important as the colossi, need the fullest advice and persuasion that they may be compelled to see the advantages of this area for manufacturing or distributing.

Neglects None.

The Chicago Association of Commerce, although it makes contacts with the billion dollar corporations, has not neglected the smaller concerns which are contemplating moving or establishing branches. It has stressed the local advantages of raw materials, of labor, of construction costs, power, selling costs and shipping facilities.

Efficiency of labor is perhaps the strongest of these talking points. Although wage levels are higher than in smaller centers, the Chicago manufacturer can pay out $1 in wages and get back an average of $6.11 worth of finished goods. In the country as a whole he gets back goods salable at $5.84. A dollar's worth of raw material here turns out $1.78 in finished articles, as compared to $1.74 as an average in the United States.

Water Transportation.

One point which perhaps has not been given all the credit due it is the possibility of finding large sites with water transportation direct. The opening of the gulf waterway will make available many thousands of acres to supplement those along the shore of the lake and the banks of the river. The water traffic of the metropolitan area now is equal to nearly 3,000 freight carloads a day, or more than the Panama canal's.

As for power, that can be had in abbundance in the greatest electrical power pool in the world. Satellite industries, depending for supplies of material on existing industries, are certain to develop more largely than they have in the past. Advantages to industry can be advertised by the appropriate agencies; the disadvantages, mostly composed of uncertainty about taxes and political treatment, can be erased only by administrative policy changes.

EUROPE STEEL CARTEL HOLDS CONFERENCES

PARIS, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Members of the European steel cartel have been meeting privately in Paris the last few days, it is learned, with the object of prolonging the cartel's existence. It is undersood that since the cartel no longer represents the community of interests the efforts have proved fruitless and that the cartel probably will be dissolved definitely.

Representatives of the European zinc interests also have been meeting in Paris to discuss methods of meeting the situation arising from overproduction and lowered prices.

CHICAGO TRIBUNE SURVEY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 21.—The first Christmas present declared by an industrial organization this year was announced today by Lord & Taylor, large New York City department store. Directors voted the usual extra dividend of $5 a share on the common stock, payable Dec. 10 to owners of record Nov. 17. A similar payment was made at this time last year and the year before.

The company is controlled by the Associated Dry Goods corporation, which owns 25,968 of the outstanding 29,980 shares of common stock in addition to holding a large portion of the first preferred and second preferred shares.

Pure Oil company directors omitted the quarterly dividend of 37½ cents on the common stock due at this time. The regular quarterly disbursements of $1.25 on the 5¼ per cent preferred, $1.50 on the 6 per cent preferred, and $2 on the 8 per cent preferred were authorized.

Inspiration Consolidated Copper company has omitted the quarterly dividend due at this time.

Greene Cananea Copper company has omitted the quarterly dividend due at this time. Three months ago the company declared a quarterly dividend of 75 cents. North Central Texas Oil company has omitted the quarterly dividend of 15 cents on common due at this time.

The Bigelow Sanford Carpet company has omitted the quarterly dividend of $1.50 on the common stock due at this time.

Traction Bonds Slump on Chicago Stock Exchange

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Acute weakness in traction bonds featured the market on the Chicago exchange yesterday which was marked generally by persistent liquidation in many sections of the list.

The pressure on the transit securities was attributed to doubt which exists that the proposed time extension will be sufficient for completion of the consolidation and acceptance by the new transportation company of the franchise approved by the voters last July. The extension ordinance which gives the new transit company until Jan. 31 to accept the franchise will be voted on by the city council today.

The lack of assurance on the part of the bankers at Monday's hearing that the time granted under the ordinance would be adequate generated a feeling of uncertainty over the traction situation and induced liquidation in many of the transit issues.

Down Eleven Points.

The sharpest decline in the group occurred in Chicago Railways 5's B, which broke 11 points to a new low price for the year of 25. Chicago City and Connecting Railway 5's dropped over 6 to a new bottom quotation of 46. Chicago Railways 5's certificates sold down nearly 5 points and Metropolitan West Side Elevated 4's were off 5½ points from the last previous quotation.

The chief obstacle in the way of traction consolidation now lies in the failure of the committee representing the participating certificates of the north and west side lines to agree on the plan of merger. All of the other protective committees have approved the program.

Stock Prices Yield.

The selling was not confined to the transit securities. Prices throughout the list pointed down soon after the opening, when the market displayed a temporary steadiness. Net losses were not large, but the proximity of most stocks to their year's low quotations resulted in a fat list of new minimum prices.

Electric Household hit a new low of 22 early dealings. The final transaction was made only a point under the previous closing price. Those in touch with the company's affairs confidently asserted that there was no foundation to the rumors that the dividend would be cut.

Down on Patent Decision.

Grigsby-Grunow shares eased to a new low of 5 with the news that the Magnavox company of San Francisco had been granted the decision in its patent infringement suit against the company. B. J. Grigsby, chairman of the board of the Chicago firm, said yesterday that the injunction granted the Pacific coast firm did not affect the present Grigsby models, but was aimed at certain types of loud speakers used in earlier sets put out by the company. He stated that the decision would be carried to the federal district Court of Appeals.

The issues dropping to new lows included Continental Chicago common, which sold down over a point from its previous bottom price. Gains rolled up Monday were largely wiped out. Swift International reacted nearly two points and Insull Utility slipped back to 45¼.

Despite considerable comparative decreases in the third quarter of 1930, life insurance sales in Illinois for the first nine months of this year are still $1,104,000 greater than for the same period in 1929, according to a report from the Illinois chamber of commerce listing September, 1930, sales at $53,879,000 as compared to $60,558,000 the month previous and $62,707,000 for September of a year ago. Total volume of sales in Illinois for the first nine months of this year amount to $628,409,000.

BY FRED HARVEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 21.—Somebody must have drawn a long breath about the time the perspiring bulls got their ramshackle old stock market propped up again yesterday, for it came toppling down in a heap as soon as trading reopened today. And it kept "settling" all day long.

By quitting time most if not all of yesterday's much prated gains had been wiped out and a whole flock of brand new lows for the year registered.

And the odd thing about it, nobody seemed to be able to offer any reason for it. Of course, the earnings statement of Westinghouse Electric and two or three other corporations were nothing to get excited about, but certainly the comparatively poor showings were no surprise to any one in view of the long drab line of similar ones that the street has had to make the best of for these many months now.

Likewise the remarks on the reparation problem made by Mr. Schacht

An Automobile . . . at less per pound than Beefsteak

THE idea of a moving belt, borrowed from the Chicago packers, when applied to automobile assembly made possible a car priced to sell for less per pound than beefsteak.

By 1922, every piece of work in this automobile manufacturer's plants moved either on hooks on overhead chains, on moving platforms, or by gravity, and the time for assembly had been cut from twelve hours and twenty-eight minutes to one hour and thirty-three minutes.

These and other methods of standardization and mass production, applied not only to the packing business and automobile industry but to practically every line of manufacturing, have contributed to America's present pre-eminent position in the world of commerce. Business men in this country are continually seeking to do a better job today than yesterday. This pioneer spirit or "divine discontent" has been an inspiration to the bankers who have worked with them.

We are proud of our connection with American business, and it is our ideal as a commercial bank to be of the fullest possible service to American business men. To this end our officers are always glad to take all the time necessary to serve our customers to the limit of our ability.

Why This Bank Believes In Life Insurance

REASON NUMBER FIVE

If the income from the property which will make up your estate will not enable your family to maintain the standard of living you wish it to enjoy, life insurance can supply the extra funds from which the additional needed income may be derived. By placing your estate, including your insurance, in trust for your family, you also can assure the kind of management and protection upon which your property must be dependent if its income-producing possibilities are to be fully realized and maintained. Through years of experience in estate matters, this Bank, though not engaged in selling life insurance, has become an advocate of the proper and intelligent use of life insurance in estate planning ciation argues that common stocks of sound business concerns, whose earnings are impressive, whose management is able, and whose dividend practices have been satisfactory, are now available at authentic bargain prices.

'Are Stocks Cheap Now?' It All Depends.

For Long Pull.

"The investor who is willing to disregard near term movements of the market may buy such issues now with the assurance that over a period he will receive liberal dividends and substantial capital profits," it continues. "Recovery followed each depression in the past, the country's natural prosperity returned, and corporate earnings rose to high levels. It is reasonable to believe that the country will recover fully from the present depression. To hold otherwise is to hold that America has passed its peak of economic development and cannot continue to go forward.

"Bonds and preferred stocks belong in every investment account, and their stability and assured income entitle them to special consideration. But there is a logical place, too, for common stocks, both for income and capital appreciation, in many investment accounts."

Bargain Hunters.

And THE TRIBUNE's correspondent in New York sent the following: "Bargain hunters for common stocks have come into the market in surprisingly large numbers recently, brokers say. Spokesmen for several large wire houses said their transfer departments have been unusually busy during recent dips of the market, indicating steady absorption of shares for investment and long term holding. The greater part of this buying, it was said, has been in odd lots and on an outright basis."

And yet, after all, it may be reiterated: "There isn't any hurry." Stocks may or may not be "on the bottom," but a studied and sound investment program is more important for the investor that "bargain" prices. It requires time, effort, and patience to accumulate money, so study and care should be devoted to investing it. It's pretty much up to you.

Chicago Curb Exchange Stocks

Chicago curb stocks reflected selling pressure throughout the list yesterday, with the bulk of the liquidation centered in Edison rights, which declined a point. Other utility rights changed hands in lighter volume, with Peoples Gas holding steady and Public Service rights easing fractionally to 19⅛. Declines of around a point appeared in Burco common and preferred and Associated Gas common, while National Family Stores preferred was a firm feature in a 3 point jump.

International Nickel of Canada.

Will you kindly give me any information in your possession in regard to the International Nickel Company of Canada?—W. O'M.

International Nickel Company of Canada, Ltd., now controls more than 90 per cent of the world's supply of nickel. It is now both a holding and operating company, its former holding company, International Nickel Company of New Jersey, having been absorbed as a result of the reorganization in 1928. Mond Nickel company, Ltd., formerly its chief competitor, was acquired through exchange of stock last year.

In addition to being the leading producer of nickel the company is sole producer of monel metal, a nickel-copper alloy, and through the development of the Frood mine, which is rich in copper, the company has become an important factor in the production of the latter metal.

As a result of acquisitions and a program of construction property account increased during 1929 from $59,800,000 to $136,300,000. Further plant additions have been planned and are being financed through the sale of additional stock. Common stock holders in August were given rights to subscribe for six new shares of common at $20 per share for every hundred shares held.

Because of drastic curtailment in the steel and automotive industries the consumption of nickel fell off materially in the first half of 1930. With copper not only was there slackened demand, but the price dropped from 18 cents a pound to 11 cents. These factors are reflected in the results for the first half of 1930, when the company reported net profit of $7,883,874, against $11,238,176 in the first half of 1929. Earnings were 8.15 times preferred dividend requirements and were equal to 50 cents per share on 13,758,208 no par common shares. In the first half of 1929 earnings were 74 cents per common share.

In 1929 net income was $22,235,997, or $1.47 per common share. The figures for 1929 include Mond Nickel company operations, and therefore are not strictly comparable with figures reported for previous years.

As of June 30, 1930, current assets were $31,195,620 and current liabilities were $7,624,797, leaving a net working capital of $23,570,823, against $40,999,333 a year before. Working capital was depleted through the expenditure of nearly $12,000,000 on construction in the first half of 1930.

Common dividends are 25 cents quarterly. The preferred is high grade and the common is medium grade and somewhat speculative.

Do You Really KNOW Your Customers?

Suppose one of the biggest, one of the best-rated, failed tomorrow, owing you a large sum. Impossible, you say? Why? . . . . . In reality, just how much do you know about your customers?

Our files are full of letters from policyholders who once felt the same way you probably do—they "knew" every one of their customers. But then, one day, in each case—the unexpected happened. As for instance, a New Orleans concern writes:

"The heavy credit losses we had during the past year came entirely unexpected, as they were all on highly rated accounts which had been good customers of ours for years."

American Credit Insurance

Failures and bad debt losses may happen with startling suddenness or lack of warning—but they happen—plenty of them—year after year. You simply cannot tell when they are coming, or from what source. But you can safeguard against them—fully and scientifically—with American Credit Insurance.

Top yesterday, $9.50; average, $8.35.

Estimated receipts at Chicago today, 11,000 cattle; 18,000 hogs, and 16,000 sheep.

Another drastic cut in hog prices yesterday brought the market to the lowest level in almost 12 weeks. The top declined 35c at $9.70, lowest since Aug. 2, barring one Saturday, when quality was lacking. The general average fell 45c at $9.10, comparing with $9.75 last Friday.

Prices were unevenly 50c to $1.00 below the close of last week, packing sows showing the sharpest losses. Small packers, city butchers, and shippers bought freely on the break, while larger houses insisted on additional cuts and left 8,000 hogs in the pens at the close, the low point of the day. Receipts at Chicago the first two days of this week were largest since last March. The Chicago total so far this month is largest for October since 1924.

Hog Futures Steady.

Trading in hog futures was slow and prices about in line with the previous session. January light sold at $8.75, while mediums for the same month reached $8.85. October mediums were bid $9.25 and offered at $9.50. December light were bid $8.70 and offers were down to $8.75 at the finish, while heavy grades for December could be bought at the same price. Hogs averaging 210@260 lbs for today's delivery were bid $9.50 on the "to arrive" market yesterday.

Buyers seemed satisfied with Monday's sharp break in the cattle market and bought more readily at the decline yesterday. Fancy light yearling steers were absent and the best available averaged 1,032 lbs, and sold at $12.75, the day's top. A fair showing of 1,200@1,500 lb steers sold at $10.00@12.00, and some plainer kinds averaging 1,300 lbs sold at $9.00.

Common steers ranged down to $6.00. Butcher stock sold steady to 25c lower. Calves slumped 25c more. Bulls held firm. Stockers and feeders showed little change. The supply of 1,000 westerns brought steady prices.

Native Lambs Bring $9.50.

Although the market for fat lambs was erratic yesterday, best kinds were firm and a new high mark on the present bulge was established when sorted natives went to shippers at $9.50. Common to medium grades were weak to 25c lower in some instances. Westerns carried better quality and sold strong, the "tops" bringing $9.35 and below, against a top of $9.25 for westerns yesterday. Aged sheep and yearlings were scarce and unchanged. Feeding lambs met good demand at strong prices.

Receipts at Chicago for today are estimated at 11,000 cattle, 18,000 hogs, and 16,000 sheep, against 10,338 cattle, 15,592 hogs, and 16,944 sheep the previous Wednesday, and 11,391 cattle, 22,119 hogs, and 16,704 sheep a year ago.

SUPPORT FOR COTTON

Cotton was well supported, despite the break in stocks and grains. Hedging sales from the south were well taken. Liverpool was strong and closed 12 to 16 points higher, with spot sales of 5,000 bales. Reports from the latter market indicated an improved mill condition with six more mills starting up, making 20 that have reopened during last quarter.

Closing prices were at intermediate figures, with gains on futures in Chicago of 3 to 6 points and in other markets 2 to 11 points, New York leading in strength. Spots gained 5 points, with New York 10.50c, New Orleans 10.25c, Galveston 10.35c, and Houston 10.25c. Prices follow:

Our entire building in the heart of Chicago's financial district is devoted exclusively to serving the financial and property needs of our customers

Eleven safeguards of every estate in our charge

TRUSTEESHIP is a great responsibility, ethically, legally. To properly discharge it, more thoughtful care is sometimes required than the owner of property himself would exercise. This company's position as an executor and trustee has been built up through a long period of years, by strict adherence to principles and practices which gauge the moral and legal responsibility it feels in the protection of dependent heirs and of property left for their support.

1 This company does not permit the purchase from or sale to its Bond Department of any securities for trust estates in its charge.

2 No commission or profit from any transaction for the account of an estate is ever retained by this company for itself. The sole remuneration received is the fee for its service. The fee has been standardized for each class of service and is very moderate.

3 In the investment of trust funds no single judgment prevails. Our investment methods are such that each transaction has the benefit of the judgment of a committee of trust officers experienced in investment matters. In addition, the recommendations of these officers are reviewed and approved by a committee of our Board of Directors. This assures for each trust the judgment of the best minds in the organization.

4 Investments are periodically subjected to a careful review to determine the desirability of holding or reinvesting.

5 When authorized to hold advantageous investments made by a testator, it is the policy of this company to do so as long as the best interests of the estate do not demand reinvestment.

6 Every estate is under the personal direction of an officer or senior employe—a man of seasoned experience who has at his command all the departmental resources of the institution and the counsel of directors and fellow officers.

7 Trust funds are kept separate and distinct from the assets of the bank and from each other.

9 The investments of small trusts receive the same conscientious, painstaking attention as that given to the investment of large estates.

10 Thoughtful attention is given to the personal welfare of beneficiaries, especially women and dependent children. The officers consider it their duty and privilege to become helpful advisers whenever permitted to do so.

11 Every effort is made to speed up the closing of estates and to avoid delays.

These by no means exhaust provisions made for the protection of property in our care; they rather illustrate the diligence exercised in the discharge of our duties. We believe that a conference with one of our trust officers would profit anyone having property to bequeath.

News and Gossip of Stock Marts

May Retire Preferred.

It is reported on good authority that the United Biscuit company of America will retire its outstanding 7 per cent preferred stock at the next dividend meeting of directors, to be held in about ten days. At the same time the annual dividend rate on the company's common shares will be raised to $2 from $1.60. Since there are less than 20,000 shares of preferred outstanding, retirement funds will be taken entirely from surplus.

See Oil Price Cut.

Authorities on the oil situation in Wall street look for a reduction in the price of crude petroleum in the midcontinent field within the next few days. The cut, it is maintained, is needed to bring prices there more in line with those in other sections. This being the case, it is contended that if and when it comes it should not have any depressing effect either on the industry or on the prices of oil shares.

Extends Rally.

Associated Gas and Electric A has been able to extend its rally from the low point reached recently due to what has been reported as a constant flow of odd lot investment demand.

PHONE RATE CASE RULING EXPECTED NEXT DECEMBER

2 Sides End Arguments Before Supreme Court.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 21.—[Special.]—Chicago's seven year old telephone rate case rested in the hands of the United States Supreme court awaiting a final ruling following the completion of two days of oral arguments this afternoon.

The arguments came to an abrupt conclusion when C. M. Bracelen of New York, one of the attorneys for the Illinois Bell Telephone company, the appellee, announced that his colleague, W. D. Bangs of Chicago, had completed his argument after using 51 minutes of the 90 minutes allotted to his side. Benjamin F. Goldstein, special counsel for the city, took three minutes for rebuttal and the court proceeded to the next case.

It is probable that a decision will be rendered by the court some time in December, as six weeks or two months ordinarily elapse between the close of oral arguments and the handing down of a final ruling.

The federal district court at Chicago to which the phone company appealed from a 1923 rate reduction order of the Illinois commerce commission upheld the company and enjoined the order, which has never been in force. The commerce commission and the city carried the case to the Supreme court. Should the lower court be reversed, the company would put the reduced rates into effect and refund approximately $12,000,000 to its subscribers.

Mr. Bangs in his argument defended the finding of the District court, declaring that the company is making only a fair and reasonable profit and that the lower rates would be confiscatory. He contended that the arrangement between the Chicago and American companies on long distance service is fair to both and that the former company is not a tool of the latter, but an independent corporate entity.

One of the major contentions of the appellant lawyers was that the American company uses free of charge in its own long distance service the Chicago local exchange plant, representing in 1923 $50,000,000 book cost.

Fully half of Mr. Bangs' time was consumed in answering questions asked chiefly by Justice Louis D. Brandeis concerning the property of the company and the methods of computing and comparing profits.

DRY GOODS.

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Cotton goods sales were of moderate volume today in the gray goods division. Part wool blankets and flannels were more active. Prices on several finished lines were stiffening due to moderate stocks available for quick deliveries. New lines of spring coatings are being shown very widely in styling and colorings. Silk weavers are experimenting with 50 denier rayon yarns for georgette crepes. Spring silks are arousing buying interests among cutters catering to winter resort trade. Heavy underwear is active.

SAKS ENLARGES ITS QUARTERS ON NORTH MICHIGAN

Auto Firm Erects Building on Diversey Avenue.

Saks-Fifth Avenue, near north side women's wearing apparel and accessory establishment, closed a lease yesterday on space approximating a full floor in the building at the southwest corner of Michigan avenue and Chestnut street. The space taken is located on the fourth and fifth floors and gives the firm the entire fourth floor in addition to first, second, and third floor and basement space.

The greater part of the area leased yesterday will be devoted to an elaborate beauty salon and the remainder will be given over to offices. The main establishment of the company is in New York. Frankenstein & Co. closed the lease, which is for an undisclosed term.

Erect Auto Building.

Miller-Fessler, Inc., is erecting a one story Ford sales and service station on a site it recently acquired on the north side of Diversey avenue, 300 feet west of Cicero avenue. The lot purchased fronts 100x125 feet. Completion of the new building is to take place in sixty days. Anthony Quitsoro is the architect. The Four Cities Realty company were brokers in the purchase of the site.

Julia J. Hollen has purchased as an investment from Harry W. Foege three parcels of property. One holding consists of twenty-two flats on a lot 50x180 feet at 1431 Carmen avenue. The second is a parcel 50x125 feet at 4610 North Kedzie avenue, improved with four apartments and two stores. The third is a two flat building at 3249 Eastwood avenue, lot 30x120 feet. The consideration was not disclosed. Arthur Kruggel & Co. were brokers.

Restaurant Chain Lease.

The Marquis company, operators of a chain of restaurants on the north side, has leased from Della and Louis Timm the store and basement at 746 North Clark street for fifteen years at an undisclosed rental. Following extensive alterations the firm will occupy the premises with its twelfth eating establishment. J. C. Cormack of John F. Hahn, Inc., Evanston, represented both parties. The same broker reports having leased the store at 1740 Sherman avenue, Evanston, to Polson's Natural Foods, Inc., as the second in its contemplated chain of food shops.

The twenty-four apartment building at the southwest corner of Monroe and Leamington, lot 57x125, was sold by William F. McGrath to Herbert Atkinson for an undisclosed consideration, subject to $76,000.

Opportunities to Buy Bond Income
are here again

PERIODS of business depression confuse many investors . . . bring unreasoned pessimism . . . just as boom periods create extreme and unsound optimism. In either case, reactions follow . . . which, however, leave in good position and ready to take advantage of new conditions, those who have not blindly followed the crowd.

Today, in some respects, the situation in the bond market is similar to that existing in 1920-21 . . . when many sound bonds yielded 6 to 10 per cent and more.

Now, again, many firmly secured bonds can be purchased well below their true value . . . The very fact that, at current prices, the yield on such bonds seems too high, deters many investors from buying them, as was also true in 1920-21.

In an atmosphere of uncertainty, the natural tendency is to reach for the best-known and most marketable bonds, the supply of which is comparatively limited. Many investors do not need them . . . but favor them in times like the present, regardless of low yield.

This house underwrites and distributes a great volume of the so-called gilt-edged issues . . . In the present market the active demand for such issues has forced them to levels unattractive to many with whom income is an important factor.

On the other hand, among our investment issues there are many admirably suited to those who need safety with the highest consistent rate of income, more than they need a high degree of marketability. In this class, there are opportunities not equalled since the beginning of the last decade.

We call attention to these opportunities because we wish our customers and others to benefit fully from present market conditions. Buying bonds is buying income. Today you can obtain yields comparable to those enjoyed by investors who bought sound investment issues back in 1920-21.

Send for this list of High Yield Bonds
To investors who wish to take advantage of current conditions in the bond market, we shall be glad to send a list of bonds which, at current prices, offer yields ranging from about 6 per cent to 12 per cent . . . issues we have underwritten in recent years and which from first hand knowledge, we consider well secured. We shall be glad to help you make selections from this list to fit your individual requirements . . . and will buy the bonds for you on the open market if necessary.

STOCK RALLIES NOT CONVINCING YET; PRICES SAG

may have sounded somewhat fussy to some of the Pollyana boys, but the Herr Doktor made it plain that he was dealing with possibilities of the future—several years hence.

On the other side of the picture there was the "influence" of higher commodity prices, which have been one of the most potent of market influences here of late, but which went for naught along with everything else of a "helpful" nature today. In short, the dope all went wrong, as it does so often, and the experts had to fall back on their stock phraseology and opine once more that prices seemed to fall merely of their own weight. Probably so. At any rate, they fell.

United States Steel, American Can, Radio, and other recognized leaders set the dismal example by hitting the toboggan on their opening sales and sticking to it right up to the close of business. United States Steel wound up 3¾ points below its close of yesterday, American Can showed a drop of 4½, and Radio was down 2 points. The others were right there or thereabouts with declines to match. Thus, Columbian Carbon annulled its fine showing of Monday with a loss of nearly 5 points today. Standard Gas fared about as badly. Peoples Gas dropped 4¼; Eastman Kodak, 5¾, and Allied Chemical and Dye, 6½ points.

Electrical Stocks Hit.

Electrical equipment stocks had a particularly hard day of it. Westinghouse—on the strength of that poor earnings statement—was pressed to a new low level of 104, and in spite of a mild rally toward the last wound up showing a net loss of nearly 7 points on the day. General Electric was weak in sympathy and the remainder of the list trailed after them.

The oils came in for a drubbing as a group on the passing of Pure Oil's dividend and rumors of a cut in Midcontinent prices. Houston Oil sold off nearly 6 points, Standard of New Jersey 2½, and the others fared in kind.

Copper stocks eased away to new bottoms on lack of improvement in the general business situation and rumors of another price cut and also, probably, were affected to some extent by the wave of pessimism over probable public utility requirements for the next year.

There was some activity in the rails section, but it was not the kind that makes the wheels go round. Unfavorable September earnings statements were to blame. Atchison lost 4½ points of its fine gain of yesterday and others did little better. Transactions were recorded at 2,431,900 shares.

WHEAT HOLDS UP WELL IN FACE OF BEAR SENTIMENT

Weakens Late, Closing Off ¼ to ¾c.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

While the break in the New York stock market put a damper on bullish enthusiasm yesterday in agricultural commodities, the latter showed stubborn resistance to pressure, and held up well in the face of bearish sentiment.

Wheat was up around 1c early to the best figures since Oct. 10, only to weaken toward the last and finish ¼@⅜c lower with old December closing 78⅞@79c; March, 82⅜c; May, 84¼@84⅜c, and July, 85⅛@85¼c.

The recent expressions of the trade that liquidation in the wheat market seems apparently near its end is finding believers in official quarters. Chairman A. A. Legge of the federal farm board was out with a statement to the effect that the bottom had been reached in the price of agricultural commidities, although the price would probably hang around present levels for a while and gradually improve. He also commented on the fact that commodity markets are commencing to act independently of stocks.

Winnipeg Wheat Strong.

While it is hard for the average trader to become very bullish on the wheat market, there has been a gradual change in the character of the news, both from at home and abroad. Liverpool advanced 1¼@1⅝d during the day as the result of Russia asking sharply higher prices, and there was also short covering on the continued small amount of cash grain available for delivery purposes. The lessened pressure abroad was reflected in export sales of 1,000,000 to 2,000,000 bu Manitobas, the largest business in some time. Winnipeg closed ¼c higher to ⅛c lower. Buenos Aires gained 1@1¾c for the day, with an advance of ¼c in the exchange rate having some effect.

Foreign millers are finding that the quality of the Russian wheat is not altogether favorable, and cables during the day indicated that there would have to be imports of strong Manitobas to make up for the deficiency in the protein content of the Russian grain. Charterings for shipment after November have ceased, although there is a demand for boats to store Russian grain during the winter, presumably at Black sea ports.

At the high point yesterday May wheat in Chicago touched 86c, or 5½c over the low of last week, and the weakened technical position had something to do with the reaction of around 1¾c from the extreme top. At the same time the selling was not aggressive, although there were reports from Minneapolis of a weakening in cash premiums there. This offset an advance of ½@1c in the local market with shipping sales of 135,000 bu.

Corn Weakens Toward Close.

Corn was firm early with commission houses on the buying side. Observers said they saw evidence of an increased outside trade, but the upturn was short lived as local bears turned sellers, due to the weakness in the stock market and the favorable weather over the belt and the close was ⅝@1⅛c lower. Old December finished at 77½c; March, 79¼@79⅜c; May, 82¼@82⅜c, and July 83¼@83½c.

Cash corn was strong with the new gaining 1@2c as compared with the December and there was no evidence of increased offerings from the country. Old corn was up ¼@½c for the day with shipping sales of 87,000 bu. Husking returns from Illinois and Iowa showed disappointing returns, those from eastern Iowa suggesting an average of about 5 bu per acre below expectations.

Carson-Pirie (Wholesale) Opens Indianapolis Branch

Carson, Pirie, Scott & Co. yesterday announced the establishment of an Indianapolis branch of their wholesale division, allowing improved service with floor coverings to retail merchants of Indiana, Kentucky, western Ohio, and southern Illinois. Homer Evans will manage the Indianapolis branch. The location there was formerly occupied by Haven's & Gettles' Wholesale Dry Goods company.

CASH·GRAIN NEWS

A letup in pressure to sell Russian grain in Europe resulted in a marked improvement in the demand for Manitobas, with sales of 1,250,000 to 1,500,000 bu in all positions, of which the pool did a fair percentage.

Millers continue to draw on terminal markets for supplies of cash wheat, taking 135,000 bu from Chicago. Shipping sales of corn aggregated 87,000 bu; oats, 41,000 bu; rye, 5,000 bu, and barley, 2,000 bu. Charters were made for 200,000 bu corn to Buffalo.

PIT NOTES

A reaction in grain prices, after an advance of four days, did not discourage traders who believe that bearish conditions have been well discounted and that irregular bulges are to be expected. The market is not broad enough to absorb liberal selling and is considered in a position to respond to constructive measures. Traders say that the markets are acting more natural. Nervousness, which has been a feature for a considerable time, they say, has passed.

Cash corn interests said the improved demand was due to the strong close of all grains on Monday, which induced eastern buyers to take hold. With a weakening in futures they are inclined to believe that buying will be lighter. At the same time there are indications of a disposition on the past of country holders to sell both old and new corn moderately. Cold weather is considered favorable for husking and every day brings reports of disappointing husking.

A Chicago Board of Trade membership sold at $12,750 net to the buyer. The previous sale was $13,000.

Wheat traders take courage from reports from Liverpool that Italy has canceled its purchases of Russian wheat because of poor quality. It is said that it is too low in protein. As Russian wheat can not be delivered on sales of futures in Liverpool, American traders think they see signs of a waning of the Russian influence on the world's wheat markets, and it is said that good American wheat is necessary for mixing purposes with that from other countries to bring it up to the standard.

PLUTO WATER STANDARD LAXATIVE ON OCEAN LINERS

YOU may go where you like and when you like, but old Constipation follows you wherever you go. Fortunately, though, Pluto Water—America's physic—follows you, too!

Take the big ocean liners, for instance. They haven't any room for half-way remedies. They've got to have medicines that work—the first time, every time! Their medical supplies are limited to essentials.

They all carry Pluto Water. Even the big foreign ships . . . . ships that come from countries where you find mineral springs everywhere—Aix, Vichy, Carlsbad, Wiesbaden, Marienbad, Nauheim—carry American Pluto Water! Pluto Water is the universal choice afloat and ashore!

Good reasons for it, too!

Pluto Water is constipation's worst enemy. Pluto Water does a complete job every time. Pluto Water flushes out your insides—gets rid of the poisonous waste matter that clogs up your system—keeps other organs in tone—keeps you clean, healthy inside!

Wherever you go, you'll find Pluto Water close at hand. Ships' stores—drugstores and chemists' shops in every civilized country—good old Pluto Water, native of Indiana, U. S. A.!

Doctors in foreign countries as well as American doctors prescribe Pluto Water regularly. Let one well-known doctor tell you what he thinks of Pluto Water.

"The ideal laxative is one that effects a thorough bowel cleansing with a minimum of irritation. For a mild, thorough laxative I find Pluto Water best to use." Another doctor calls Pluto "the most perfect natural body cleanser."

These doctors are right. Pluto Water is French Lick Springs in a bottle. It comes to you direct from French Lick. It contains all the properties of the famous waters there.

Pluto Water is sure-fire relief for constipation—even when the condition has become serious. Pluto Water just can't harm delicate tissues. It acts as a tonic—stimulates the digestive organs and makes them work normally—gives you an appetite—peps you up!

No doubt your own family doctor prescribes and recommends Pluto Water. Ask him to tell you about it at first hand!

Pluto Water is no farther away than your neighborhood drugstore or fountain. Two sizes—20c and 45c. Keep a bottle always on hand—you never know when you'll need it—and when you need it, it works!

By Ednah Aiken

SYNOPSIS.

Sheila Fay met King George when she was thrown from her horse. Refusing aid she insisted on riding the animal home, disregarding broken ribs and bruises.

Sheila enters Vassar.

AN ELOPEMENT.

Sheila's scholastic triumphs would have been sweet but for the effect—as a rebuke—on King George I. This, she had learned, was his college label.

When she returned to California the following summer she did not wear, visibly, his class ring. Not only because her people would be tiresome, but she was not yet sure of King's affection. It was admiration he gave her, and a calm affection which she suspected was awarded to her because of association of memories. No, it was not love—yet; certainly not passion. Can a man like King, restless and volatile, love a girl who insists on being his conscience or dull example, and with whom he does not spend his moonlight nights? He did not find their separation tantalizing or he would have followed her to Hillsborough instead of spending the season at Newport with his horses.

"Being a dig," she decided during one of her daily rides past the cypresses and closed gates of the George estate, "has its disadvantages. Next winter I'm going to understudy the queens of Vassar and of Harvard. My scholarship will suffer, but what of that? King needs me—even if he doesn't yet know it!"

When she returned to Hillsborough a year later she was wearing, openly, King's gift, a square cut emerald, and also his class ring. Her uncle, as well as her aunt, was "tiresome," of course! She reminded them, bluntly, of her approaching birthday. Soon she would be independent; she hinted that she could and she would manage her own fortune if they persisted in forcing rumors about her King upon her. "They are malicious fabrications made of jealousy. He has too much of what the world wants."

But it wasn't easy having to tell Jim Molloy she was going to be another man's wife—like telling a lie, so long she had been giving credence to his hope. Twelve months before she had returned to him his simple ring, but she knew he was keeping it for her, refusing to believe she could be permanently interested in King George. But Jim could do without her; the odds weren't stacked against him. "He'd not been given the face of a Greek god and the form of a jockey, plus a fortune." Jim would have to labor for every dollar he earned. But was he to be praised, or his great grandfather, for being what he was? Dear, steady, kind old Jim! And should King be disparaged because he had a passion for horse history rather than for Gibbon? It wasn't her own happiness which was directing her, but a force stronger than herself. Alas, that the adoration in Jim's gray eyes failed to subdue her as did one of King's carelessly bestowed stares!

Poisonous, having to quarrel with Jim! But she would not tolerate any one who belittled her King. Jim had never been angry with her before.

"Say what you're implying, Sheila. That I'm jealous, a cad. I'll stick to what I said: he's not worthy of you."

"And you are?"

Across a gulf of anger the two faces glared. She would not call him back when furiously he left her. And refused to see him again, even after she was told of his resignation from the San Francisco Sun, and of his self-imposed exile to Alaska. She justified her disloyalty and fed her resentment by contemptuous astonishment. "He would let a woman spoil his career? Jim Molloy?"

To her uncle, who implored her to complete at least her college course before she married the millionaire jockey, she insisted she was not collegiate material. "If the truth has to be told, I went to Vassar only to be near King. Time won't change me; if that's what you're thinking, forget it. Now that he's stuck it and has his diploma, that's all that matters." She added the final word: they were to be married at once, on her twenty-first birthday, in June.

A solemn, unattended ceremony in the east was what she had dreamed of, but King changed all that by writing of his wish to be married in California, "where he'd first met her." Weeks later, when, as Sheila George, she read the letter again, she discovered he had said where, not because it was where he had first met her. The new program caused hours of discussion about relatives, conventions, wounded feelings. Sheila's passionate wish for an unvulgarized wedding succumbed to her hatred for argument; she capitulated, compromised: the family could be witnesses at the church; the world could be invited to the reception at the house. . . .

But it was even ghastlier than she had forseen. Those disapproving faces! Those empty pews! And outside, the curious crowd, the reporters, the clicking cameras! On the way to King's coupe she whispered, "Wasn't it poisonous, King? And it'll be fiercer at home—— O, King, let's elope! Let them have the rest of it without Hamlet!"

"But how——" he began. "But our baggage?"

"We could get our things before they reach the house if we speed, King. We could dress at your house—and I've been thinking—they've let out already we're going to Monterey. Let's go instead to—why not Tahoe? The season's scarcely opened—no one will think of looking us up there."

"But the heavier luggage, which has already been sent to Monterey?"

"It could be rerouted." She saw the adventure—or was it the secrecy—that appealed to him. When she suggested spending the first night or two in San Francisco he accepted the new plan. Thus, as the unsuspecting wedding party was slowly curving through the gates of Fay manor, which had been deeded by Sheila the week before to the amazed Donohues, the bridal couple was fleeing along the back road, heading towards the house on the hill, the clothes they would wear on the trip flung loose on the rear seat of the car.

Before they left the garden whose cypresses had once reminded her of Verona and Tivoli and which now insisted on framing an island of death, Sheila suggested that King take her once more through the house which she must begin to visualize as her home. Sheila George she was now, with its humble rooted dynasty of her husband's to maintain and, perhaps, happily to enhance. Standing with him in the room which had been his mother's, and looking down upon the rose garden which Mary herself, he said, had pruned and sprayed, she wondered if the place would ever yield to the personality of another. The mother still dominated it.

The next day in San Francisco they selected a couple of army cots, heavy wool blankets, and some outing clothes. Sheila's suggestion it was that they "gypsy awhile." Their second and third nights together—the happiest hours of her life—they slept under the stars. Had she not discovered King's discomfort was acute, his restlessness approaching pain, she would have urged prolonging the vagrant life. But the stars kept him awake. He wondered, almost pettishly, that she could sleep! The sounds of the woods which she found so sweet—the stealthy creeping, the tender antiphonal of birds—were cruel to his nerves. The silver blade of the moon cutting through the black branches of the pines severed him from his raptures. The early dawn infuriated him. . . . The days threatened to be ruined by anxiety over the missing luggage. "We should have followed program; gone to Monterey," he said, again and again. . . .

Regretfully, she gave the army cots to two school boys camping near them in the woods, and moved into the most luxurious inn on the lake. For her husband, she realized, would be ill if he did not make up his lost sleep. She learned to waken with the first hint of dawn, creeping from his arms to draw the curtains, pull down the shades. And then, fully awake, for hours she would lie motionless, not able to read, and discovering that Sheila could have headaches if given enough confined air. She was astonished and humiliated, for she cherished a belief in a supernormal robustness.

Bulgars' King Visits Kindred with Princess

Italian Detectives Added to Forces at Sofia.

SAN ROSSORE, Italy, Oct. 21.—(AP)—King Boris of Bulgaria and his fiancée, Princess Giovanna, accompanied by King Victor Emmanuel, Princess Eudoxia of Bulgaria, and Princess Maria of Italy, motored today to Capezanno.

They visited relatives of King Boris, whose mother belonged to the family of Bourbon Parma, who have a villa there. Boris was met by uncles, aunts, and cousins.

It now seems likely that King Boris and his bride will leave Assisi, where the wedding will be held Oct. 25, soon after the ceremony and proceed to Brindisi on the Adriatic. There they will board the yacht Ferdinand. The yacht, escorted by four fast Italian auxiliary craft, is due at Varna, Bulgaria, Nov. 1.

By last minute changes in the program of the wedding, the ceremony has been transfered from the lower church of St. Francis to the larger upper church.

King's Brother Leaves.

SOFIA, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Prince Cyril, brother of King Boris, started for Pisa, Italy, today to attend the wedding of Boris and Princess Giovanna of Italy. An official delegation will leave for Pisa tomorrow and will include President Liaptcheff of the council of ministers, President Naidenoff of the chamber of deputies, and M. Milanoff, minister of justice.

Italian police officers and detectives have arrived to arrange for coöperation with the Bulgarian authorities upon the occasion of the impending visit of the King and Queen of Italy for their daughter's coronation.

The police force and a large number of troops have been concentrated at the capital. The belief prevails that the royal couple, King Boris and his bride, will return to Bulgaria from Italy on Nov. 6 or 7. It has not been made known if the port of arrival will be Varna or Bourgas.

Boris and his bride probably will travel from the coast to Sofia during the night to avoid demonstrations on the way.

A police regulation requires that foreign journalists, sent to report the homecoming of the newly married sovereign and the coronation of his queen, must be recommended by their ministers in Sofia for entry into Bulgaria.

Royalty, Some with Thrones.

ASSISI, Italy, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Two reigning kings, Boris III. and Victor Emmanuel; one reigning queen, Elena; one queen to be, Giovanna, and one former queen, Sophie of Greece, will gather in St. Francis City for the wedding of Princess Giovanna and Boris Saturday morning. In addition there will be present 35 princes and princesses of the blood.

All of those of the house of Savoy with their consorts will be present except the Prince of Undine, who is representing the king at the Abyssinian coronation, and the Duke of Spoleto, who is still convalescent after a motor boat accident at Venice recently.

This is in marked contrast to the wedding of Crown Prince Humbert and Princess Marie Jose of the Belgians last January, where the number of former monarchs exceeded those actually reigning.

The Greek former royal family will be well represented. Prince Christopher, former husband of Mrs. William B. Leeds, will be there with his second wife, who was born Princess Francoise of France, daughter of the pretender, the duke of Guise, with the Princesses Catherina, Maria, and Irene.

There will be few commoners present, but among them there will be an English girl, Miss Brown, a personal friend of Giovanna, and two nuns, Sisters Barbara and Maria Gabrielle.

Relatives of Giovanna's mother who have been invited include the Prince and Princess Romanoff of Russia, the Princess Petrovitch, and the Princess Helen of Russia. The princess of Battenburg and a swarm of Italian nobility complete the roster of those who will be present.

Indiana Society Plans World's Fair Setting for Feast on Dec. 6

L. A. Downs, president of the Illinois Central railroad, also head of the society, said that feast would be a Century of Progress exposition for Indiana.

The ballroom of the Palmer house will be transformed into a setting copying the buildings for the 1933 World's Fair and made by that fair's architects lent by Rufus C. Dawes. They are being assisted by the Civic Opera's scenic department, whose experts will construct the stage and other setting for the banquet.

Commonwealth Edison company lighting engineers will produce the buildings' exterior, making them a replica of those to be displayed along Chicago's lake front in 1933.

Only 700 persons, including the members of the society and their guests, will be able to get invitations.

A chorus of sixty and orchestra of twenty-five, with many other artists, will assist in presenting a pageant. Col. George T. Buckingham is chairman of the programs committee, Clement Studebaker is chairman of the decorations committee, and John T. McCutcheon is chairman of the invitations committee.

Emperor, Who Awaits Crown, Greets Yankees

Ras Tafari Lets Them Use His Gold Plates.

ADDIS ABABA, Abyssinia, Oct. 21.—(AP)—After a torrid five day voyage from Port Said down the Red sea and an equally hot trip by rail through French Somaliland and Abyssinia, the American delegation to the coronation of Ras Tafari, emperor of Ethiopia, arrived today. They were cordially greeted by the crown prince.

The Americans, en route, were given banquets which included roast mountain goat and patridges and were intrusted with greetings to President Hoover and the American people. While in his capital Ras Tafari placed his solid gold dinner service at the Americans' disposal.

The special train carrying the Americans was decorated with the Stars and Stripes, flags made specially for the occasion by the Abyssinian government, which fluttered alongside the Abyssinian national colors.

Addis Ababa, perched high on the hills, is beginning to fill up with foreign notables. In addition to the Americans, the Greek, Swedish and German missions reached here this forenoon. They were greeted at the railway station by the crown prince and Abyssinian dignitaries.

As each envoy arrived bands played his national anthem. Crowds lined the flag bedecked streets and added their enthusiasm to the welcome.

The Coptic bishop, accompanied by the emperor's daughter, arrived from Switzerland, where the princess is being educated.

Will of M. A. McRae Gives Grandson His Realty in California

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 21.—(AP)—Relatives and employés will share exclusively in the estate of Milton A. McRae, publisher, who died Oct. 11 in San Diego, Cal., according to the will filed today for probate. He made no bequests to charity, explaining in the will that all his life he had been making substantial contributions to welfare organizations.

A grandson, John Paul Scripps, 18 years old, whom Mr. McRae had raised since the boy's parents died, is bequeathed all the personal possessions and real estate holdings in San Diego. In addition, he created a $50,000 trust fund for the youth's education and expressed the wish that he become a newspaper man. It is explained in the will that the youth already is heir to $1,000,000 left him by his parents.

To the grandson's tutor, Miss Alice Wares, he left a life income of $125 a month and a gift of $3,500.

To a sister, Mrs. Margaret E. Lindsay of Cincinnati, is left $50,000, a trust fund is created which will assure the late publisher's son, Lindsay S McRae, an income of $6,000 a year. Of this income, however, a granddaughter, Mary Anne McRae, is to receive $150 a month. Miss McRae, the will explains, already is heir to the estate of Charles B. Kelsey.

Except for numerous bequets to employés, the remainder of the estate is divided between two daughters, Mrs. Helen M. Henderson of Montclair, N. J., and Mrs. Marie McRae Temple, formerly of Grand Rapids, Mich., now of London, England. They are willed specifically his holdings in the Milton A. McRae corporation.

The Detroit and Security Trust company. Detroit, is named executor of the will.

First Opera Crowd of the Season Buys Tickets for Opening

Bright and early yesterday morning the first opera crowd of the 1930-'31 season filled the lobby of the new Civic Opera building at Madison street and Wacker drive.

A line stretching from the box office windows on each side reached to and beyond the doors at times as the first public sale of tickets opened for the initial week of the opera season.

Two windows were used to accommodate the purchasers during the first part of the morning, during the noon rush, and again in the evening. At the offices of the company it was stated that the sales for the first day had fallen only slightly below the high mark for the first day of last year, when the opening of the new building attracted unprecedented throngs.

The largest demand was for seats for "Lorenzaccio" for Monday, the opening night, but those for all nights of the first week had a brisk sale.

THE STAGE

"LYSISTRATA," in a production specially planned for Chicago, will begin its engagement at the Majestic theater Tuesday night. Nov. 4. The stage setting designed by Normal Bel Geddes [a representation of the Acropolis at Athens] will be installed at the Majestic a week before the opening, and the company will arrive a few days later for final rehearsals.

Here is the cast that has been chosen to duplicate the New York success of this classic Greek comedy: Charles Coburn as president of the senate; Mrs. Coburn as Lysistrata; Mary Hutchinson as Kalonika; Juliette Day as Myrrhina; Vessie Farrell as leader of the old women; Phyllis Newkirke as Lampito; Dan Malloy as leader of the old men; Robert Salter as the clerk; Charles McClelland as the Spartan herald; Buford Hampden as Kinesias; Robert Gorham as Polydorus, and John Connery as Lycon.

The Philadelphia Theater association sponsors this production. . . . An unorthodox pronunciation of the heroine's name is used in the dialogue. The play calls her LysisTRAta instead of the generally accepted LySIStrata. Gilbert Seldes, the adapter, explains that this pronunciation was adopted in order to get the hissing sound out of the title, and adds that Greek scholars are in doubt about the matter, anyway. . . . Prof. Paul Shorey should be called to the witness stand on this point.

The week of Nov. 2 will be lively with premières. "Sons o' Guns" and "Mendel Inc." will open on Sunday night; "Death Takes a Holiday" and "The Last Mile" on Monday night, and "LysisTRAta" or "LySIStrata" on Tuesday night. Which means that the good shows are crowding into Chicago. And in spite of all the talk about economic depression the box offices are busy.

When "Sons o' Guns" arrives it will have Harry Richman as star and successor to Jack Donahue instead of Jack Haley, as formerly announced. This matter was decided yesterday. Other contributors to the entertainment will be Gina Malo, William Frawley, David Hutcheson, Mary Horan, and Bartlett Simmons.

Ruth Urban will replace Doris Carson as leading woman in "Strike Up the Band" at the Selwyn tomorrow night. For the last two seasons she has been prima donna in the operetta, "My Maryland."

"Marseilles," by Marcel Pagnol, author of "Topaze" [it is his "Marius," re-titled], will have its first American performance in Hartford, Conn., Nov. 3, under the auspices of Gilbert Miller. In the cast will be Dudley Digges, Alexander Kirkland, Alison Skipworth, Hubert Druce, Douglas Wood, A. P. Kaye, Nattica D'Acosta, Flavia Arcaro, Oscar Sterling, and Frances Torchiana.

Eddie Cantor has reconsidered his intention of retiring from the stage, so boldly announced when "Whoopee" took him into the talkies. He will return to the theater within the next two months in a comedy [without songs] of his own authorship.

Six productions are on the Broadway schedule for next week. They are: "Roar, China," by the Theater Guild; "The Noble Experiment," which will strive to give prohibition its comic death blow; "On the Spot," Edgar Wallace's melodrama of Chicago gangsters; "That's Life"; "Sita," by the Hindu actor, Sisir Kumar Bhaduri; and "The Man in Possession," the English play which the Dramatic League of Chicago will offer here.

The travel talk of E. M. Newman at Orchestra Hall this evening will be on the subject "Rome and the Vatican City." It will be repeated, as usual, on Friday night and Saturday afternoon.

Preachers' Union Urged as Way to Promote Religion

New York, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Formation of a union of ministers, with possible affiliation with the American Federation of Labor was advocated today by Prof. Harry F. Ward of Union Theologigal seminary at a conference on the relation of labor and the church.

"The union I am for should not be formed to defend preachers who are demoted or whose salaries are cut," Prof. Ward said. "It would be a union to promote the highest standards of religion."

He added that the union would be somewhat similar to a teachers' union designed to maintain the standards of education.

Uses X-Rays for Learning Sex of the Unborn

Cleveland Doctor Tells of Latest Methods.

Minneapolis, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Determination of the sex of children before birth, Dr. Bernard H. Nicholas of Cleveland told the International Medical assembly today, is possible for the first time is history.

The X-ray is used, said Dr. Nichols in explaining the method known as amniography. Dr. Nichols, head of the department of Roentgenology at the Cleveland clinic, said the X-ray is advancing more rapidly than any other specialty in medicine and is being used successfully in treating cancer and tumor.

The family doctor, it seems, is coming back, so Dr. William D. Peck, Freeport, Ill., told the assembly.

"Friedrich Mueller, Munich, Germany," said Dr. Peck, "last year said the medical profession in Germany as too highly specialized, and if we expect to go on and do the public justice we must go back to the old family doctor. We must have the specialist, too, but we can't afford to lose either."

Dr. William D. Haggard of Nashville, president of the association, declared history slowly is making a large niche for Dr. Ephriam McDowell, physician of Danville, Ky., who, in 1809, performed the world's first abdominal operation for the removal of a tumor. Dr. McDowell performed operations on many famous persons, including a 17 year old boy, James K. Polk, who later became President of the United States.

Dr. Haggard reported that cancer of the stomach is found in approximately one out of every 45 men who are 45 years old. When recognized early, the operative mortality, in skilled hands, is between 5 and 10 per cent, in contrast to a day when practically every case was fatal.

Surgery has obtained repeated cures in other forms of cancer, Dr. Haggard said, asserting that where a cancer's presence can be determined in its early stages and when the infected region is accessible success attends 75 to 80 per cent of the operations.

Raps "Tin God" Doctor.

New Orleans, La., Oct. 21.—(AP)—The old time doctor was criticized before the convention of the American Hospital association today by Dr. Christopher C. Parnell, the association's president.

"In the past the public credited the medical profession with a right to wear a halo," he said. "The good old doctor was something of a tin god. As a matter of fact, doctors are no different from other men."

"The government itself furnishes perhaps the most outstanding example of encouragement of an unsound policy of overbuilding," he declared. "Legislation providing for the care of veterans for ailments in no way connected with the line of duty, we believe, is an attempt on the part of politicians to curry favor at the expense of a long suffering public."

Democracy in the medical profession was urged by Dr. Stewart R. Roberts of Atlanta, Ga.

"Democracy must function in the medical art," he said. "Medicine is of greatest value when it prevents or cures sickness in all the people within their economic ability to pay promptly."

Dr. John A. Hornsby of the University of Virginia, declared the day of the private hospital for the south is passed.

"The people down here have not yet become hospital minded," he declared. "They have never had much money since the war between the states and those who have it now are afraid they will wake up and find it all a dream."

He favored hospitals conducted by communities.

Youngster Can Be Made Too Polite and Considerate

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

If your child's questions (early sex education) are difficult to answer, helpful reading will be suggested by Mrs. Bevans on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Here is part of a letter that will repeat the misgivings and experience of many a mother:

"Dear Mrs. Bevans:

"I sometimes wonder if I have hurt my little daughter's future in any way. Here is an instance: When at a gathering once there were a couple of children playing together. They all played a while with a doll. Then my little girl took it to play with. If any one asks her for a thing she gives it up readily, but as she has been taught not to grab first one thing and then another she kept the doll.

"But one girl, two years older, came over and tried to pull the doll away. My little girl said 'Stop!' and tried to hang on, but the other child forced her hands off it. Then my daughter picked up the doll and hit the other youngster on the head with it.

"I spanked her for hitting the other child, but I have often wondered since if I did right. She was protecting her rights in the only way she knew.

"Now, my child does not defend herself at all. I have seen my sister's child slap her and push her around and my little girl just cries. My child has played with quite a few children and they have grabbed things away from her, slapped and pushed her. I don't think she is perfect, but I never saw her hit a child first or take anything away from another child."

To this the answer is:

I do think that you have probably made too much of an effort to have your little girl considerate and self-controlled with other children. A certain amount of it is all right, but not too much. She is at an age where children do not always play well together and lots of grabbing and snatching goes on. If one child is made to do all the giving in and never to defend herself, it is not good for her, nor for the children she plays with.

She may become too meek and they may become bullies and impose on her. It will not make her tough, as you fear, to hold her own. It is good for both sides to learn to give and take. Try from now on to let them settle their disagreements as much as possible by themselves, and even explain to your little girl that she must protect herself—though not to start anything.

She seems to be a lovely child—I would not suppress her too much. Don't try to make her perfect.

Rear Admiral Taylor Wins Highest Honor Given to Engineers

New York, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Rear Admiral David Watson Taylor, retired, has been awarded the John Fritz gold medal, highest honor of the engineering profession in America.

He received it "for outstanding achievement in marine architecture, for revolutionary results of persistent research in hull design, for improvements in many types of warships, and for distinguished service as chief constructor of the United States navy during the world war."

One of Admiral Taylor's most notable achievements was the utilization of the bow wave for ship propulsion, a practice which cut the United States navy's coal bill in half and has been adopted by every navy in the world. He also, while chief of the bureau of construction of the navy, promoted the design of a giant flying boat which could proceed to Europe by air. This resulted in 1919 in the first flight across the Atlantic by the NC-4. The dirigible Shenandoah also was designed under Admiral Taylor's direction.

Admiral Taylor was born in Virginia in 1864, attended Randolph-Macon college from 1877 to 1881, and in 1885 was graduated from the United States Naval academy with the highest honors ever attained by any midshipman up to that time.

Episcopal Bishop Asks World Union of Protestant Churches

Little Rock, Ark., Oct. 21.—(AP)—A plea for a union of all Protestant churches of the world was made by the Rt. Rev. James DeWolf Perry, presiding bishop of the Episcopal church in the United States, in a sermon opening the thirteenth synod of the Episcopal province of the southwest today.

"There can be but one thought which dominates all others," Bishop Perry said, in describing the idea for one church. "It is more than an expression of desire for peace and concord among those who profess one name and who are marked with a single sacred sign. It is the vision of that oneness which Christ prayed for His body on earth as it reflects the unity which He had with God."

Bishop Perry said the recent Lambeth conference in England saw "an almost miraculous fulfillment of this hope of union restored."

Bishop to Speak Here.

Episcopalians of Chicago will have their first opportunity today and tomorrow to greet the primate of their church in America, the Most Rev. James De Wolf Perry, D. D., of New York. Bishop Perry is to make his first official visit to the city since his election to that office early this year to succeed the late Bishop Charles P. Anderson and will be the main speaker at a dinner and reception in his honor at the Hotel Sherman tomorrow night. The Church Club of Chicago will be host.

Bishop Perry will be guest of honor at a dinner to be given by the Society of the Cincinnati at the Racquet club tonight. John P. H. Perry will be toastmaster. Among those present will be Charles de Fontnouvelle, French consul; Col. Edward Davis, representing the United States army; Capt. Blankenship, representing the navy; Eames MacVeagh, William A. Pope, William F. E. Gurley, Chancellor L. Jenks, R. C. Ballard Thurston, and Judson Keith Deming.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Secretary and Mrs. Charles Francis Adams are back from a short stay in Pennsylvania where they were called by the death of the latter's brother-in-law, Henry Brinton Coxe.

Dr. Don Pedro Manuel Arcaya, minister from Venezuela, gave a dinner tonight at the Mayflower in honor of George T. Summerlin, United States minister to that country. Other guests were Walter C. Thurston, acting chief of the Latin American division of the state department; William C. Cook, former minister to Venezuela; Dr. Bolivar Lloyd, assistant chief of the Pan-American sanitary bureau, and members of the Venezuela legation staff.

Abbie Mitchell and Edith Mansfield Win Praise for Concerts

BY EDWARD MOORE.

A musical performance for the benefit of this or that quite frequently registers more firmly as a benefit than music. The song recital of Abbie Mitchell last night at Orchestra hall under the auspicies of St. Thomas' Episcopal church, however, whatever its eleemosynary values, classified distinctly on its musical side as well.

A colored soprano, here is an artist capable of pointing the way to many other singers regardless of race in matters of beauty of voice, choice of material, and manner of singing. With an occasional incursion into the field of opera—"Pleurez, pleurez, mes yeux," was one—the main part of her program was made up of excellent lieder, some charming Spanish songs, a group of traditional Creole songs, and a final set of spirituals.

In as much as could be heard of the program, her performance was more than commonly commendable. Her voice is one of freely flowing loveliness, her treatment of songs is thoroughly musicianly, her enunciation in several languages reasonably clear and understandable.

Another recital of soprano songs was given at Kimball hall by Edith Mansfield. Her program was of wide selection, and would seem to have had the authentic stamp of several composers. Thus, a group of Shakespearian songs in the setting of Mario Castelnuovo-Tedesco were coached with that musician in Florence, Italy. A. Walter Kramer's "Now Like a Lantern" was likewise coached with Mr. Kramer, presumably in New York, and Cyril Scott's "Song of London" had the benefit of the composer's instruction in the city mentioned in the song. Otherwise her program was concerned with the Italian of Peri, Salvator Rosa, and Donaudy, the German of Schubert, Listz, Wolf, and Strauss, an aria from "La Boheme," and some modern writers.

The Castelnuovo-Tedesco set are in several ways interesting specimens of modern song writing. Unfortunately they miss what they were intended to be, illustrations of the Shakespearian spirit. Miss Mansfield sang them earnestly and was cordially applauded.

NEW YORK SOCIETY

New York, Oct. 21.—[Special.]—Mr. and Mrs. Finley Peter Dunne have arrived from Southampton and are at the Savoy-Plaza for the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas F. Ryan II., who sailed recently on the Paris, will return about the middle of November.

The marriage of Miss Diana Dodge, daughter of Mrs. George E. Widener, to Frederick Martin Davies has been arranged for the afternoon of Dec. 6 in St. Thomas' church.

Miss Dorothy Davis Becomes Bride of Noted Polo Player

New York, Oct. 21.—[Special.]—Miss Dorothy Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Davis of 16 East 72d street and Brookville, L. I., was married today in the Church of the Advent at Westbury, L. I., to John Bernard Balding of Melton Mowbray, England.

Mr. Balding is a younger brother of Gerard Balding of the international polo team recently defeated at Meadow Brook. He is a five goal player himself and played in some of the preliminary matches.

He became No. 1 reserve for the British and probably would have played in the international, but was hurt in an informal match on the eve of the start of that tournament. He is twenty-three years old and has been living in this country. He was playing with the Onwentsia club at Lake Forest, Ill., when he came to Long Island late in August to try for the British team.

Mr. and Mrs. Balding will sail soon for England, where they will make their future home.

Complexion Brush, Soap 'n Water for That Lovely Skin

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Every little feature has its own peculiar susceptibility to blemish, but the nose, for its size, can carry a most disconcerting number of complaints. The nose with enlarged pores without blackheads, the nose with enlarged pores and blackheads, and a nose that is chronically red, are some. Then the little red veins on the wings of the nose, which are never becoming, add another item to the possibilities for nose discomfiture.

Curious thing how some women who have no other complexion blemish and no blackhead disturbance on any other part of the face, will have them on the nose. The whole length and sides may be covered with them. The condition concurs usually with excessive oiliness, although that doesn't always hold good, either.

Anyway, what the nose knows it wants more than anything else is special washing with hot water and a complexion brush. And keep on scrubbing it until the area is cleared and the glands stimulated to healthier action. Possibly you will find a green soap helpful, but ordinary good soap will do if you put enough elbow grease into the operation, and if you do not give up dishearteningly in a week or two.

Use a soft complexion brush and keep it clean. That last item is of great importance with any brush, body, nail, or hair brush, but especial cleanliness with tools must be observed in connection with any blackhead trouble.

After the brush and soap are used rinse off with warm water, follow with cold, and then use an astringent lotion. Incidentally, this treatment for blackheads will at the same time minimize the "shine" that is characteristic of this type of nose.

For that flushed nose that is most awfully ugly, the first thing that has to be investigated is the state of the digestion. Habitual drinking of hot, strong tea and coffee will cause the trouble—and of course alcoholic stimulant affects some persons this way, too. Sluggish circulation will provoke the state the moment a cold breeze is struck. So, any measure you take to improve the circulation will minimize the high color of the nose.

"See Mencken," Says Lillian Gish, Asked About G. J. Nathan

The recurring reports that Miss Lillian Gish, actress, is to marry George Jean Nathan, New York, drama critic, are "without foundation—yet," Miss Gish said yesterday at a local theater.

Seen there yesterday she at first referred a reporter to H. L. Mencken, magazine editor. "Mr. Mencken started these rumors, did he not?" asked Miss Gish. "It should be up to him to prove them."

"But you are reported to be planning to marry Mr. Nathan here next month," said the reporter. "Are you affirming or denying this?"

"Denying," she answered.

"Yet?" asked the reporter.

"Yet," said Miss Gish with finality.

DOROTHY DULIN PARIS

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special Correspondence.]—There is more than one hint of 1880 in the new Paris fashions. Chanel features the letter S figure—the upcurved back, bustle drapery and the vertical back cascade, made familiar to us by the plushbound family album—in her sports mode as well as in her evening frocks. Of course, she flattens it down until it is only a paper-doll of its old self, but it's there, just the same.

Lelong and Jane Regny both give back movements to their evening gowns by diagonal cascades, flounces or ruffles that ascend to meet the back décolleté, somewhere in the region of the waistline. Little back bows and back peplums show this influence chez Patou and also in many less illustrious houses. Jane Lanvin makes bustles of huge, draped, geisha sashes in pale blue satin or striped silk for her white satin evening gowns.

Worth frankly features the 1880 line in many of his evening frocks, but he keeps it so simple and slender that it is utterly youthful and up to date.

You can see how he does it in the white taffeta frock sketched above. This frock is all trimmed with white taffeta flounces. One is set on the level of the knees in front and mounts in apron effect at either side. Another describes a long oval in the back. The bottom of the skirt is made of full petals of the taffeta edged with flounces. The deep drapery ends in a taffeta pouff on the left hip, where a diamond buckle recalls the diamond necklace and bracelets.

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

"Dear Miss Blake: How can I make an appointment with a girl if I never see her? VINCENT."

Uncle Sam could be pressed into service or the phone might help you out.

Don't Be Stubborn.

"Dear Miss Blake: My girl friend and I quarreled. Should I make up, as she sent me a card? PEABODY."

I should, if I were you. It is evident she wants to be friendly.

Invitational Overtures.

"Dear Miss Blake: Is it proper to invite a boy over or should I wait "WONDERING."

It is well to let him make the first suggestion along that line.

Food Talk.

"Modern women do not know how to prepare noodles as good as 'mother used to make!'" That is a remark we often hear made by those who like to harp about the good old days and the old fashioned pleasures of the table. I sometimes wonder if this is not because the taste buds of some of us are getting tired and we just don't have the ability to enjoy food as we did when we were children.

Dough for noodles is as easy to make as any. For a long time women have been making it out of just flour, salt, and egg, and mixing to a consistency that will roll out in the thinnest sheet. This mixing should not be prolonged.

The dough is allowed to air dry on the rolling board, then it is cut into broad or narrow but straight strips and is again allowed to become thoroughly dry. The noodles may be cooked immediately or may be stored in air tight containers and kept until needed.

The natural flavor of the noodle cooked in just plain salted water is bland and needs a pleasant seasoning to satisfy most palates. Many brands of commercially made noodles can now be purchased in almost any grocery store.

Noodles are cooked in the same manner as macaroni. They should always be dropped into a vigorously boiling liquid and the cooking should not continue beyond the point of tenderness.

NOODLES.

Yolks of 2 eggs.
1 cup flour.

Beat the yolks. Add the salt and enough flour to make a stiff dough. Sprinkle flour on the bread board. Roll out the dough as thin as paper. Dust it well with flour. Roll it up closely and shred with a sharp knife as you would cabbage for cole slaw. With a knife, dipped in flour, spread the shreds out on the bread board. Sprinkle with flour and leave for two hours. Scatter lightly into boiling soup and cook for ten minutes.

NOODLE LOAF WITH MUSHROOMS.

1¼ cups grated cheese.
1 tbsp. Worcestershire sauce.
1½ cups milk.
4 egg yolks, beaten.
Salt and pepper.

Boil noodles in salted boiling water or meat or chicken broth for one-half hour. Drain thoroughly and, if boiled in water, rinse in cold water and drain again. If boiled in broth do not rinse. Mix with remaining ingredients and then fold in beaten egg whites. Bake in pan surrounded by water for thirty or forty minutes in a slow oven [300 degrees F.]. When ready to serve pour creamed mushrooms over the top.

FRUIT CUP.

1 cup canned or stewed pears, diced.
1 cup pineapple, diced.
6 maraschino cherries.

Combine fruits and juice and chill thoroughly. Serve in compote or sherbet glasses and garnish with maraschino cherries cut to resemble the petals of a flower.

Tortured With Acid Indigestion for Months. Not a Sign Now

Amazing Prescription, ACIDINE, Ends Gas, Pain, After All Else Failed

"I suffered for months with acid indigestion and gas on the stomach," writes Mr. C. Bedford of Detroit, Michigan. "Couldn't eat a meal without being troubled with gas and pain, also dizzy feeling. I tried all kinds of medicines, but nothing really helped until I took ACIDINE. Got relief from the very start. Now I am entirely well, no pain at all."

In the space of one year thousands of people have bought ACIDINE at drug stores everywhere and are enthusiastic users. They are astonished how this new scientific prescription, ACIDINE, succeeds where other known remedies fail. The reason is that it is entirely different. Contains the marvelous digestant, Japtase. In laboratory experiments Japtase has been tested on certain very heavy, lumpy, starchy foods, which cause so much distress. It digested 800 times its weight of such foods in only 30 minutes! Five other ingredients in ACIDINE stop burning acid, soothe irritated stomach lining, stop gas and headache from acidity. No other known remedy contains this scientific combination to end acid stomach. Physicians are prescribing ACIDINE, and thousands of people have found it the only real relief from acid indigestion, dyspepsia, heartburn, coated tongue, bad taste, dizziness, gas and headache from acidity. Pain goes like a flash.

Don't take chances with acidity and gas that often lead to serious and more painful troubles. Get ACIDINE at any Walgreen or Economical drug store today. Watch how quick pain and gas end. Smoke, eat and drink what you want. Results guaranteed. If not delighted, maker refunds money.

PLAIN FACTS

That Every Woman Must Face—And Face Squarely

THERE are certain questions that every woman must face early in life—and face squarely. The modern American woman must face—as women in all ages have faced—the heart-breaking question: "Am I to grow old with my husband or before?"

The modern American woman replies to this question with the answer of modern science. No longer is a woman doomed to premature age soon after marriage, to a drab existence within the four walls of her home. Modern intelligence and science have triumphed over that mistaken superstition.

Modern women have learned that the preservation of their youth's vitality, charm, and attractiveness, depends largely upon one aspect of their toilette so often ignored—upon feminine hygiene.

Physicians declare that rapid aging and the many diseases deemed characteristic and inevitable to women are often traceable to the lack of proper hygiene on this fundamental point of feminine cleanliness.

Now, through the use of a new antiseptic in tablet form, Pariogen Tablets, which require no water or accessories, feminine hygiene is possible instantly, with no more effort than washing one's hands.

Pariogen Tablets are non-poisonous, contain no carbolic acid, bichloride of mercury or cresol, yet destroy most objectionable germs in a few seconds. Pariogen will not harm the most delicate tissues. Gone are the dangers attending the use of poisons or caustics! Gone are the inconveniences of preparing solutions!

Pariogen Tablets are obtainable at any drug counter—twelve in a tube the size of a fountain pen. (May be carried unobtrusively in a purse.) Complete directions are enclosed. One dollar a tube at any drug store or drug counter. American Drug & Chemical Company, Minneapolis, Minnesota.

AND THE SOPHISTICATE CHOOSES PRIMROSE BEIGE

Primrose House New York

Your skin is darkest in the fall and if you would have that natural finish, never use a very light powder unless you want to imitate the leopard. Light shades make the skin spotty. Extra dark powder ages and hardens the face. The ideal powder blends with the skin itself, bringing out all the natural light and color. It is so dreamily light in texture that it actually becomes a part of the skin. It never cakes or clogs but it clings beautifully. A luxury? Perhaps. But you can easily prove its worth by trying a dollar's worth of this $3 powder.

At all better class drug and department stores, in boxes, $1 and $3. Primrose House, 595 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

Does Man's Pay Check Balance His Girl's Homemaking Ability?

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"If a man were as poorly equipped make a living as the average girl to make a home, wife and mother, girl would take a chance on starving to death with him."

There's a challenge for you, girls. Not a bad code of reasoning, either, though it does involve one of these generalities that are too embracing for practical use.

Putting a man's earning power on par with a girl's home making capacity as a fair matrimonial exchange getting off at a good start in an argument. Why shouldn't men argue: I am earning fifty dollars a week. This amount is said by economists to be a fair wage upon which to start housekeeping, providing you get a girl who can spend intelligently. There's Sue. She's a peach of a girl. Good looking. Swell dresser and dancer. She's fun. But what does she know about keeping a house tidy? Can she cook? Can she market? Would she look for bargain places to shop, or would she use the phone?

"Would she want to go gadding every night? Would she be interested in having a family? I'd like to. In a few years I may be earning a hundred a week, seventy-five anyway, but if she is in debt on fifty, wouldn't she be in debt on seventy-five?"

We hear a good deal about how girls are introducing hard headed practicality into their marriage decisions. They are looking for reasonable financial security, for health in their mates, for character and promise. Maybe the boys are doing some calculating, too. Maybe they are beginning to figure themselves as good prospects in return for which they want a fifty-fifty break. Understanding that a fair break from the girl must comprise some knowledge of home-making, economical management and desire for a family, they are "shopping" around for the right sort of partner before they commit themselves for life.

It seems a fair enough way of figuring and if men are in earnest and really are willing to court the girl for the substantial virtues, they'll find no shortage of them presently.

FARM AND GARDEN BY PAUL POTTER

Thirty-six square mile townships of and Wisconsin, where there are farms and 100 families in each community, are doomed in their efforts to attain high community standards of because of insufficient contact with each other and because of inability to support adequate educational, social and economic facilities, according to C. J. Galpin, sociologist of the United States department of agriculture.

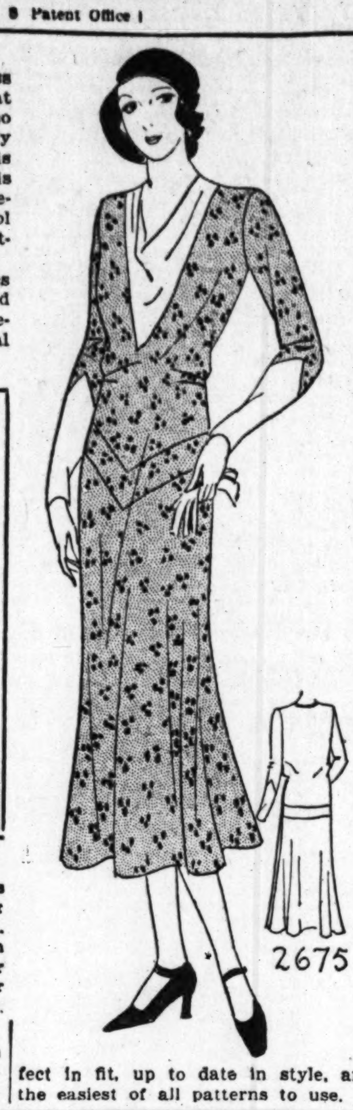
"Communities of at least 1,000 rural families are needed in order to maintain their individual systems of schools, libraries, hospitals, parks, playgrounds, churches, fire companies and other social and functional services," he says.

"To enable a community to be somewhat self-sufficient along these lines he feels that there should be no less than 1,000 persons in each, there should be a minimum area of 100 square miles, and the outer boundary of the community about five to eight miles by highway from the town around which the community naturally centers. In many sections of the United States, and especially in those newly settled, investigators have worked with state universities and for the United States department of agriculture to determine trends in rural life. The church in many sections was considered one of the major indications of change, with merging of congregations, abandoning of edifices used for scores of years, and the building of new rural churches.

Automobiles have brought one of the greatest changes, they found, because communities once segregated by a few miles of sandy or rough highway over which the family surrey traveled occasionally for town market supplies now is a roadway over which the farmers drive their cars daily or several times daily to share the city with its own residents.

PATTERNS BY CLOTILDE

(Registered U S Patent Office)



WOMAN'S AND MISS' DRESS.

It would be difficult to find a dress easier to make than this one, yet at the same time one that would be so chic. The cowl neckline is especially flattering, and the pointed hipline is always becoming. Another feature is the butcher cuffs—an entirely new detail. Canton crêpe, crêpe satin, wool crêpe and flat silk crêpe are interesting materials.

The pattern, No. 2675, comes in sizes 16, 18 and 20 years and 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust measure. Size 36 requires 3⅝ yards of 39 inch material with ½ yard of 35 inch contrasting.

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Asks Halloween Decorations.

"My girl wants to have some of her friends in to a Halloween party and as we cannot afford to spend much money on it I wonder if you could get me some things for it through your column. Some reader may have favors or decorations which she doesn't intend to use again.

"MRS. A. B."

Perhaps you celebrated Halloween last year in this fashion and still have some of the decorations and accessories which helped to make it a success. If you do not plan to use them again won't you give them to this girl?

Asks for Fruit Jars.

"I would like to can some beans, tomatoes, and fruit while they are cheap, but I have no jars. Do you think there is any one with more of them than they need? I would be grateful to get them. MRS. J. K."

Here's a thrifty housewife who is planning to fill her shelves for next winter's consumption.

Did your Child have a bad cold last week?

If your child had a bad cold last week, don't be content just because the child is no longer hacking and sneezing. A cold is bad enough, but a child that catches cold easily and often, needs attention.

Half-sick, pale, run-down children do not have the strength to resist disease and throw off infection. The after effects of a cold can be very serious. Start now to build up weight and strength.

Father John's Medicine has been proved for over 75 years by countless mothers. It is used regularly by over 184 institutions and hospitals. It is a simple food medicine that supplies the vitamins that every child needs. Children thrive on it amazingly. Their appetite improves, their very food seems to do them more good. Pale cheeks glisten with health. Little bodies become strong and vigorous.

Father John's Medicine is a combination of simple food elements, none of which could harm an infant. Because of its scientific combination of ingredients it brings all the benefits of cod liver oil in the form best suited to a growing child's needs. It is easily assimilated by even the most delicate stomach. It tastes good and contains no alcohol or drugs.

If your child had a cold last week, start now with Father John's medicine. Don't take needless chances when this simple aid will help build strength and vigor. All druggists have it.

NO INTEREST in anything! All because of trouble . . .

LIFE'S worth living again! All through eating yeast!

Look at THIS CIRCLE!

JUST think of it—90% of all our commonest ills arising in one relatively small section of the human anatomy! Yet that is the discovery medical men have recently made.

For within the circle illustrated above, the all-important process of digestion and assimilation of food takes place.

That's where most sickness begins! How fresh Yeast corrects it

Doctors have spent many years studying this situation.

And they have discovered that fresh yeast, such as the familiar Fleischmann's Yeast you know so well, is highly effective in correcting such unhealthy conditions.

Eaten as a regular part of our diet, yeast moistens and softens the matter which has accumulated in the intestinal tract. It stimulates the natural action of the intestines, and thus helps the body to throw off undigested food in a normal way. The result is that our skin clears, appetite returns, color improves.

Our whole body feels the beneficial effect of yeast's action in restoring a vital organ to its normal condition.

Why don't you try this proved way to regain new health? It's very simple.

Just eat Fleischmann's Yeast regularly . . . 3 cakes every day, following the directions on the label. Each cake is rich in three indispensable vitamins—B, G and D.

Eat FLEISCHMANN'S YEAST for Health 3 Times a Day

Always ask for Fleischmann's fresh Yeast (with the yellow label) . . . the only yeast "irradiated" to give it the Sunshine Vitamin D! Rich in Vitamins B and G, too.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

Inside Dope for the Boss.

It was the first week in my new position. A man introduced to me by another salesman as a member of the firm drew from me the information as to why I was so fond of my new position. The reason that I particularly impressed upon him was that there was no boss to watch me, so I could quit or start whenever I pleased.

The next day I was informed that I had been speaking to the president of the firm. I could not face him again, so I am working with another company, and am also trying to keep my mouth closed. J. C.

THE BETTER WAY TO PREVENT CONSTIPATION

YOU MUST look out for the health of your family. Often a faulty diet leads to constipation. Headaches, dizziness, loss of energy follow. Husband and children become irritable. Serious disease may develop.

You can prevent this by including roughage in the diet. A pleasant way to supply this roughage is with Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. New processes have improved its flavor tremendously.

Two tablespoonfuls daily, for each person, will prevent and relieve both temporary and recurring constipation. In severe cases, use with each meal. Do this instead of giving them habit-forming pills and drugs.

ALL-BRAN also furnishes iron to enrich the blood. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

The same old story with you, and every day you see people who had faith in Chicago increase their bank account, then you say they are lucky, we are not offering luck, but facts, a chance to buy a money making business raising chickens at our poultry colony, where facts are being demonstrated. It does not require a lot of money; $50 will start you on the road to health, wealth and happiness. Address O H 326 Tribune.

LOANS ON YOUR SIGNATURE ONLY

Why get one, two or more endorsers when you can borrow money at The LOCAL ON YOUR SIGNATURE ONLY?

We prefer to loan money to the man or woman steadily employed ON THEIR OWN SIGNATURE. Our records show that the greater part of our loans are SIGNATURE ONLY LOANS.

This service is such a departure from the old method of making loans that most people are amazed when it is explained to them.

Loans made from $10 to $300. Pay back any time and pay only for the time you keep the money. Our service is made for the borrower.

For the few who do not qualify for a SIGNATURE ONLY LOAN, we make FURNITURE LOANS or LOANS WITH ONE ENDORSER.

Give us a call. You will appreciate our service and we will appreciate your business.
